MANY REASONS ARE GIVEN FOR SUCH A BELIEF

SAN FRANCISCO AUTHORITIES APPEALED TO

From the very first announcement that he had died by his own hand, friends in this city were loath to believe it. The story did not sound plausible to them because of the absolute lack of motive. They knew Winnie Mercer too well to believe that any trivial reason would cause him to take such a step and knew, too, that there were many attachments that made life too dear to him and that he loved his aged mother so dearly that he would have endured almost any earthly burden rather than have caused the grief that is now hers.

The suspicion that it was foul play was reluctantly thrown aside by many of his friends when the news dispatches, without exception, indicated that it was a case of self-destruction. There are a number of the dead man's more intimate friends, however, who all along have refused to believe the published statements of the affair. Every detail given in the press was scanned by them in the hope of finding some discrepancy that would prove a tangible ground for their suspicions.

Until last evening the ranks of those who still believed that he had met with foul play were almost depleted but today there are hundreds who are again firm in the belief. Friends who are familiar with every characteristic of the dead man have found so much that apparently sustains the foul play theory that before tonight has passed it is expected a message will be sent to the chief of the San Francisco police, asking him to make the closest possible investigation.

A News Review reporter talked today with several of the very closest friends of the dead man and from them he learned upon just what grounds they are basing their belief. The theory they advance covers almost every detail of the sad affair.

One of the first things to arouse suspicion was the statement that appeared in a press dispatch from San Francisco that the rubber pipe used by Mercer to conduct the gas pipe to his mouth was clenched tightly between his teeth. It is well known that the muscles of a person who has been overcome by gas are entirely relaxed and this being the case the rubber tube could not have been clenched between his teeth. Several local physicians, who were interviewed, support this statement.

Another detail that aroused suspicion was the purported letter written by him and addressed to his mother. Either the letter is a gross fraud or it has been badly garbled in transmission across the continent. Those who are in a position to know state that Mercer was never known to sign his name Winnie, and further that neither the expressions contained in the letter nor the style in which it was written were his. In this letter as printed was the statement: "Give my love to my brothers and sisters." The dead man they claim, never penned this statement, as there is no sister. The dispatches also spoke of his well known handwriting. Those who are acquainted with it state that it has no peculiarities.

A very intimate friend of the dead man states that Mercer very often stopped at the Occidental hotel. From this they reason that it is not at all likely that he would have gone there willingly and registered under an assumed name. They also reason that had he desired to end his life he would have chosen some obscure and quiet hotel, rather than the Occidental, which is one of the largest in San Francisco.

It is reasoned that a man about to take his life in the manner Mercer is reputed to have used would not have removed all his clothing. The use of the rubber tubing connecting with the gas pipe insured death in a very short time, is the explanation for this. If he did remove his clothing, it is argued that the coat would have been the first garment removed. This would have been placed on a chair and the other garments would have been placed on top. It is not at all likely, it is claimed, that after being all ready to accomplish his purpose he would arise from the bed and secure his coat from the bottom of the pile when one of the bed covers or a sheet, which were nearer at hand, would have sufficed as well. The press dispatches stated that his coat was drawn around his head.

The note which was found at his side containing these words: "Tell Mr Van Horn that Winnie Mercer has taken his life," were never written by Mercer, his friends say. The reasons they give are that it is written in the third person, instead of the first, like the letter addressed to Mrs. Mercer and that Mercer never used his nick name.

The incident of the attempt to rob Mercer and his companions by forged letters to the clerk of the hotel at which the two teams were stopping

STEPS TO AVERT WATER FAMINE

WORK WILL COST $16,000

Manufacturers Propose to Advance the Money for the Proposed 12-Inch Main, the City to Pay Half of the Interest.

If the city council is willing to pay the one-half of a 6 per cent rate of interest for a limited period, the five mammoth manufacturing concerns together with the citizens generally who inhabit the East End will have a water supply acequate in every way to insure them against the fire demon and all other inconveniences which result from an insufficient service at the hands of the water works department.

The meeting which was held at the office of the water department yesterday afternoon was well attended and had for its object the consideration of a better water supply for the East End. There were present, Messrs Jacob Shenkel, H. A. Keffer and W. L. Smith, of the water works board; Joseph G. Lee, of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles and Potters' Mining and Milling company; Louis I. Aaron, W. E. Wells, F. D. Kitchel, Home Laughlin China company; Messrs Marshall, Peach and McConnell, of the council, and Clerk Gipner and Superintendent Morley, of the water works department.

The fact was brought out in the beginning that neither the manufacturing establishments nor the property owners themselves are sufficiently protected in the matter of a water supply to secure an insurance rate that they would be able to stand. Indeed the owners of factories there are unable to obtain any. It was shown that in the down town districts the concerns had two sources from which to draw and were thereby enabled to get good rates at all times. W. E. Wells did most of the talking for the interested parties from the suffering community and his arguments were reasonable and logical and from the outcome they had their effect.

Superintendent Phil Morley was asked to make an estimate of the probable cost of constructing a 12 inch main, and informed the party he had already done so. As near as he could come to it the work could be done at a cost of $16,500. If it was thought that a 10 inch line would be sufficient it could be constructed for about $1,500 less.

Everyone present was convinced it would be foolhardy for the department or the city to put in anything less than a 12 inch main. This belief was prompted by the knowledge that at the rate which the East End is growing at present, it will not be many years until the larger sort of feeder would be necessary. Therefore it may as well be put in first as last.

That question disposed of, the one next in importance was the manner in which the money necessary for the improvement was to be raised. The representatives of the manufacturers they were prepared to advance the money provided it was returned in water rents and the trustees or the council would pay the interest. It was estimated that 6 per cent. would be a sufficient rate, and the committee from council was asked if it would be possible to have the city pay the interest.

At first the committee refused to have anything to do with the matter holding that it would be purely a question for the water works trustees to adjust. Dr. Marshall and Mr Peach insisted that nothing could be done, giving as the reason that the condition of the city's finances would not permit it.

After a short conference the trustees proposed that the manufacturers pay the full rate of interest for a period of 5 years, calculating that it would take 10 years for the arrangements to adjust themselves, and that at the end of that time or before, the debt would either be worked out or the trustees would assume the payment of interest. This was not satisfactory and the entire question was finally settled by the East End parties agreeing to pay a half, or 3 per cent., and the committee of council promising to recommend to that body that the other half estimated at about $480, be paid by it.

A LEAK IN A GAS PIPE NEARLY KILLED FAMILY

WYMAN FAMILY'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

Gas escaping at the home of Edward Wyman, in McKinnon's addition on the north side of the city, came dangerously near resulting in the death of every member of the household on Monday night. Even though they were almost miraculously saved, all are now suffering ill effects and it is thought that sometime will elapse before they have fully recovered.

The family consists of Mr. Wyman, his wife and an infant child. To the latter, strange to say, is credited the escape of the trio. All had retired early and were soon asleep. Throughout the winter Mr. Wyman has allowed the gas in the stove to burn freely during the night, as a protection to the child. No accidents having occurred, not the least alarm or uneasiness was felt upon this occasion. At about 1 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Wyman was aroused from a deep sleep by an extraordinary noise made by her baby.

The little one was crying pitifully and at the same time vomiting and in terrible agony. Several minutes were required to fully restore Mrs. Wyman, the gas having also taken effect upon her. When she finally realized the situation she started to the bed of her husband. She had much difficulty in arousing him. He had also fallen a victim. He was, however, finally made to know the true situation and he commenced, though feeling very bad himself, to assist his wife and baby. In less than half an hour all three became violently ill, each vomiting and gagging terribly.

Mr. Wyman was the worst effected of all and it was feared for a time that he would not recover. He staggered around the house and finally fell to the floor. By daylight all had partially recovered and are now anticipating no serious results.

Investigation proved that a leak in the gas pipe was the cause of the awful experience.

SLEEPERS SURROUNDED BY FLAME

Narrow Escape of a Sebring Family From Being Cremated in Their Beds.

Sebring, January 16.—(Special.)—Fire at about 1 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the residence of Joseph Hartley and during its progress of raging several members of the family had most exciting experiences and very narrow escapes from death.

The members of the household all sleep upstairs and Mr. Hartley was awakened by the inhalation of smoke which had filled his sleeping apartment. Arising quickly he ran downstairs to ascertain the cause and was horrified upon opening the kitchen door at seeing that room one mass of flames.

The opening of the door provided a draft and in a moment the flames had set the adjoining room on fire. Instead of arousing the family, Mr. Hartley attempted to extinguish the fire and by so doing he nearly caused the loss of life to his wife and three children. They slept immediately above one of the rooms that was burning and did not awake until their sleeping apartment was a blaze.

One of the four was aroused in time and gave the alarm. All were frightened so badly that they hardly knew which direction to flee, and this put them in an exceedingly precarious position. They, however, collected their thoughts and before making any rash move found their way to the outside and safety.

Nothing but smoking embers remain to give evidence of the occurrence. Hartley estimates his loss, it being total, at $300. The house was the property of Frank Sebring, and was fully insured.

THE CARROLLTON POTTERY PROJECT

Progress Being Made and an Agreement Will Soon Be Drawn and Signed.

One of the propositions submitted by the town of Carrollton to the promoters of the new pottery plant for that city will likely be accepted within the next 10 days, and it will mean that the little capital of Carroll county is to have an enterprise that will give employment to several hundred people. The town has done her part and it is now up to the promoters.

Elmer L. Henderson, assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery, is largely interested in the project and when seen by a News Review reporter this morning admitted that the propositions submitted by the city were now under consideration by himself and associates. Interested with him are C. and A. E. Albright, of Sebring, and several other gentlemen whose names have not been given to the public.

The proposition which has found the most favor with the promoters is the one offering them free the site for the plant, the necessary switches, a water supply and a loan of $60,000 for the period of two years without interest, with the privilege of an extension of the loan for a number of years at 6 per cent interest. About the only stipulations made by the city are that no salaries shall be paid to persons not actually in the employ of the plant and that the salaries of the officers and managers shall not exceed those usually paid for the same work.

About the only advantage to be had at Carrollton is cheap coal. It is mined in the immediate neighborhood and can be had at a low figure. The town is located on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad and has as good shipping facilities by rail as East Liverpool. The plant will be five kilns and will be equipped with the latest modern machinery. It will make semi-porcelain ware.

So far the proposition has been favorably received by the promoters and it will no doubt be accepted in the near future, when the necessary legal agreement will be entered into. Work is to be commenced on the plant within 30 days after the signing of the contract.

Mr. Henderson will not be active in the management of the new plant, if it is built. He will continue his duties as assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery.

HEARING GIVEN IN ROBISON CASE

PETITION FOR PARDON TAKEN UNDER CONSIDERATION.

Senator Connell Appears Before Pardon Board in His Client's Behalf.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—The application of Zach S. Robison serving a life sentence for second degree murder, was formally presented to the state board of pardons yesterday by Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, Robison's attorney. Mr. Connell talked for 30 minutes in his client's behalf. The members asked many questions and took the case under advisement. Their decision will probably be announced at the next monthly meeting, the rule being to keep cases under advisement for 30 days before reporting a decision.

Robison's application is signed by most of the officials of Columbiana county, a number of jurors before whom he was tried and many leading citizens of East Liverpool, where the crime he was convicted of was committed. There are signers from Beallville, near Pittsburg, the former home of Robison. A statement of the record of the case, prepared by Prosecutor Jason H. Brookes, was filed with the board, but Mr. Brookes' name does not appear on the application. Attorney Connell read a letter to the board written by Robison, in which he stated he desired a pardon and not a parole. He would be satisfied with a conditional pardon, but wants no parole because under it he could not leave the state.

Alluding to an evident disinclination on the part of Judge P. M. Smith of Wellsville, who was the trial judge in the case, to endorse his application for a pardon, Robison said he would not stultify his manhood by begging or cringing for this clemency and instructed his attorney to cease importuning the judge in his behalf. "I never knowingly committed a crime, am no criminal, never have been one and never expect to be one," said he.

SUIT AGAINST A STEPFATHER

Columbiana Man Wants $550 For Caring For His Mother, Now Deceased.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—George W. Mentzer, of Columbiana, through his attorney, F. A. Witt, has sued Alvin A. Talbott, administrator of the estate of Mary A. Talbott, deceased, asking judgment for $550 with interest from July 24, 1901. The plaintiff, who is a son of the deceased, alleges that the defendant, his stepfather, is indebted to him for the board, washing and nursing of Mrs. Talbott from April 5, 1901, to July 24, 1901, the latter being the date of her death, in the sum named.

The attentions are alleged to have been given the deceased at her request. The administrator refused to pay the claim when a written statement of it was presented to him on Dec. 6, 1902.

A SERIOUS COASTING MISHAP

LITTLE GIRL KNOCKED DOWN AND BADLY HURT.

A bad coasting accident occurred on the hill near the Pleasant Heights school yesterday afternoon.

A number of the scholars were sliding down the hill which at that point is very steep. They had been cautioned to be careful on account of the high rate of speed that was attained along the course. As is usual in such cases there were a number ascending the hill as others went down.

Paul Gibson was mounted upon the fastest sled on the hill and when midway between the top of the hill and the road below his sled struck little Evelyn Smith, knocking her down and severely injuring her. She struck the ice with such force that she was rendered unconscious for a time.

Other scholars hastened to her side and with the aid of a large sled conveyed her to the home of her parents nearby. The side of her head was badly bruised, she receiving injuries to her left side which will keep her indoors for some time to come, while one of her ankles is severely sprained. She suffered a great deal last night.

Going to California.

Barnard Rand will start for Los Angeles, California, next Monday via St. Louis. Mr. Rand will be accompanied by Hugh Newell, of Newell, W. Va.; Mrs. Dr. Barnes, Mr. Newell's daughter and his granddaughter. Mr. Rand expects to be absent several months, and in California will be the guest of his friend, Mr. Hunter and family, formerly of Wellsville.

ANGRY FATHER INVOKED CURSES ON JUDGE'S SON

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special.)—Moses Hoyle, the Salem lad, was before Judge Boone again yesterday afternoon and was ordered sent to the reform school. The parents of the boy remonstrated against the action of the court and both were present at the first hearing Wednesday. On this account the matter was taken under advisement and Mrs. George Holmes, the Salem member of the county board of visitors, was instructed to investigate the lad's home surroundings. From the report submitted and other members of the visiting board decided that it would be best to send the boy to Lancaster.

The father appeared in court again yesterday afternoon and denounced the authorities in unmeasured terms for their action. He with his arms raised toward heaven, prayed in a loud voice that a son of Judge Boone some day be sent to the reform school. There were quite a number of spectators in Judge Boone's office at the time and much excitement was created.

VACLE PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

IMPORTANT DEAL IN SIXTH STREET REAL ESTATE.

It Means the Erection And Equipment of a New Office Building.

One of the most important real estate deals closed in this city during the past month occurred this afternoon when the Nagle property, located on Sixth street, adjoining the property of the Ohio Valley Gas company, passed into the hands of the Union Building, Loan & Trust company and Geo. L. Owen & Co.

The deal was closed at a late hour this afternoon by a committee appointed from both concerns. While it is not definitely known the consideration is said to have been in the neighborhood of $11,000. The purchase of this site was made for the purpose of in the near future erecting one of the handsomest and most substantial office buildings in the city. The dimensions of the purchase are 80x130 feet, but the building will not be so large.

It is the intention of the purchasers to build and equip the first story of the building for their own accommodation. It will be divided into two apartments, each company to use one of them as offices. The second story and the third, if a third is built, will be so constructed as to be valuable for office quarters. The plans and specifications for the new structure have not yet been completed, but will be placed in the hands of an architect before long.

A NOTORIOUS WOMAN DIED IN PITTSBURG

Becky Saunders, Who Had a Local Police Record, Is No More.

Word was received at the city hall this morning of the death in Pittsburg last Sunday of "Becky" Saunders, the notorious colored woman, well known in police circles here. The cause of death was typhoid fever, from which she had suffered for several weeks.

"Becky" figured in a number of escapades in and about this city in her time. It was she, who last October, picked Pete Corson's pocket, securing $50. Pete was a Wellsville man and was known to be very intimate with the Saunders woman. He never got his money, nor was "Becky" ever punished for the crime.

Was Winnie Mercer murdered? This is the question that is now agitating scores of his friends in this city.

A News Review reporter talked to day with several of the very closest friends of the dead man and from them he learned upon just what grounds they are basing their belief. The theory they advance covers almost every detail of the sad affair.

One of the first things to arouse suspicion was the statement that appeared in a press dispatch from San Francisco that the rubber pipe used by Mercer to conduct the gas pipe to his mouth was clenched tightly between his teeth. It is well known that the muscles of a person who has been overcome by gas are entirely relaxed and this being the case the rubber tube could not have been clenched between his teeth. Several local physicians, who were interviewed, support this statement.

Another detail that aroused suspicion was the purported letter written by him and addressed to his mother. Those who are in a position to know state that Mercer was never known to sign his name Winnie, and further that neither the expressions contained in the letter nor the style in which it was written were his. In this letter as printed was the statement: "Give my love to my brothers and sisters." The dead man they claim, never penned this statement, as there is no sister. The dispatches also spoke of his well known handwriting. Those who are acquainted with it state that it has no peculiarities.

A very intimate friend of the dead man states that Mercer very often stopped at the Occidental hotel. From this they reason that it is not at all likely that he would have gone there willingly and registered under an assumed name. It is reasoned that a man about to take his life in the manner Mercer is reputed to have used would not have removed all his clothing. The use of the rubber tubing connecting with the gas pipe insured death in a very short time, is the explanation for this. If he did remove his clothing, it is argued that the coat would have been the first garment removed. This would have been placed on a chair and the other garments would have been placed on top. It is not at all likely, it is claimed, that after being all ready to accomplish his purpose he would arise from the bed and secure his coat from the bottom of the pile when one of the bed covers or a sheet, which were nearer at hand, would have sufficed as well. STEPS TO AVERT WATER FAMINE

WORK WILL COST $16,000

Manufacturers Propose to Advance the Money for the Proposed 12-Inch Main, the City to Pay Half of the Interest.

If the city council is willing to pay the one-half of a 6 per cent rate of interest for a limited period, the five mammoth manufacturing concerns together with the citizens generally who inhabit the East End will have a water supply acequate in every way to insure them against the fire demon and all other inconveniences which result from an insufficient service at the hands of the water works department.

The meeting which was held at the office of the water department yesterday afternoon was well attended and had for its object the consideration of a better water supply for the East End. There were present, Messrs Jacob Shenkel, H. A. Keffer and W. L. Smith, of the water works board; Joseph G. Lee, of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles and Potters' Mining and Milling company; Louis I. Aaron, W. E. Wells, F. D. Kitchel, Home Laughlin China company; Messrs Marshall, Peach and McConnell, of the council, and Clerk Gipner and Superintendent Morley, of the water works department.

The fact was brought out in the beginning that neither the manufacturing establishments nor the property owners themselves are sufficiently protected in the matter of a water supply to secure an insurance rate that they would be able to stand. Indeed the owners of factories there are unable to obtain any. It was shown that if the down town districts the concerns had two sources from which to draw and were thereby enabled to get good rates at all times. W. E. Wells did most of the talking for the interested parties from the suffering community and his arguments were reasonable and logical and from the outcome they had their effect.

Superintendent Phil Morley was asked to make an estimate of the probable cost of constructing a 12 inch main, and informed the party he had already done so. As near as he could come to it the work could be done at a cost of $16,500. If it was though that a 10 inch line would be sufficient it could be constructed for about $1,500 less.

Everyone present was convinced it would be foolhardy for the department or the city to put in anything less than a 12 inch main. This belief was prompted by the knowledge that at the rate which the East End is growing at present, it will not be many years until the larger sort of feeder would be necessary. Therefore it may as well be put in first as last.

That question disposed of, the one next in importance was the manner in which the money necessary for the improvement was to be raised. The representatives of the manufacturers they were prepared to advance the money provided it was returned in water rents and the trustees or the council would pay the interest. It was estimated that 6 per cent. would be a sufficient rate, and the committee from council was asked if it would be possible to have the city pay the interest.

At first the committee refused to have anything to do with the matter holding that it would be purely a question for the water works trustees to adjust. Dr. Marshall and Mr Peach insisted that nothing could be done, giving as the reason that the condition of the city's finances would not permit it.

After a short conference the trustees proposed that the manufacturers pay the full rate of interest for a period of 5 years, calculating that it would take 10 years for the arrangements to adjust themselves, and that at the end of that time or before, the debt would either be worked out or the trustees would assume the payment of interest. This was not satisfactory and the entire question was finally settled by the East End parties agreeing to pay a half, or 3 per cent., and the committee of council promising to recommend to that body that the other half estimated at about $480, be paid by it.

A LEAK IN A GAS PIPE NEARLY KILLED FAMILY

Gas escaping at the home of Edward Wyman, in McKinnon's addition on the north side of the city, came dangerously near resulting in the death of every member of the household on Monday night. SLEEPERS SURROUNDED BY FLAME

Sebring, January 16.—(Special.)—Fire at about 1 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the residence of Joseph Hartley and during its progress of raging several members of the family had most exciting experiences and very narrow escapes from death.

The members of the household all sleep upstairs and Mr. Hartley was awakened by the inhalation of smoke which had filled his sleeping apartment. Arising quickly he ran downstairs to ascertain the cause and was horrified upon opening the kitchen door at seeing that room one mass of flames.

THE CARROLLTON POTTERY PROJECT

Progress Being Made and an Agreement Will Soon Be Drawn and Signed.

One of the propositions submitted by the town of Carrollton to the promoters of the new pottery plant for that city will likely be accepted within the next 10 days, and it will mean that the little capital of Carroll county is to have an enterprise that will give employment to several hundred people. About the only stipulations made by the city are that no salaries shall be paid to persons not actually in the employ of the plant and that the salaries of the officers and managers shall not exceed those usually paid for the same work.

About the only advantage to be had at Carrollton is cheap coal. It is mined in the immediate neighborhood and can be had at a low figure. The town is located on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad and has as good shipping facilities by rail as East Liverpool. The plant will be five kilns and will be equipped with the latest modern machinery. It will make semi-porcelain ware.

So far the proposition has been favorably received by the promoters and it will no doubt be accepted in the near future, when the necessary legal agreement will be entered into. Work is to be commenced on the plant within 30 days after the signing of the contract.

Mr. Henderson will not be active in the management of the new plant, if it is built. He will continue his duties as assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery.

HEARING GIVEN IN ROBISON CASE

PETITION FOR PARDON TAKEN UNDER CONSIDERATION.

Senator Connell Appears Before Pardon Board in His Client's Behalf.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—The application of Zach S. Robison serving a life sentence for second degree murder, was formally presented to the state board of pardons yesterday by Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, Robison's attorney. Mr. Connell talked for 30 minutes in his client's behalf. The members asked many questions and took the case under advisement. Their decision will probably be announced at the next monthly meeting, the rule being to keep cases under advisement for 30 days before reporting a decision.

Robison's application is signed by most of the officials of Columbiana county, a number of jurors before whom he was tried and many leading citizens of East Liverpool, where the crime he was convicted of was committed. There are signers from Beallville, near Pittsburg, the former home of Robison. A statement of the record of the case, prepared by Prosecutor Jason H. Brookes, was filed with the board, but Mr. Brookes' name does not appear on the application. Attorney Connell read a letter to the board written by Robison, in which he stated he desired a pardon and not a parole. He would be satisfied with a conditional pardon, but wants no parole because under it he could not leave the state.

Alluding to an evident disinclination on the part of Judge P. M. Smith of Wellsville, who was the trial judge in the case, to endorse his application for a pardon, Robison said he would not stultify his manhood by begging or cringing for this clemency and instructed his attorney to cease importuning the judge in his behalf. "I never knowingly committed a crime, am no criminal, never have been one and never expect to be one," said he.

SUIT AGAINST A STEPFATHER

Columbiana Man Wants $550 For Caring For His Mother, Now Deceased.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—George W. Mentzer, of Columbiana, through his attorney, F. A. Witt, has sued Alvin A. Talbott, administrator of the estate of Mary A. Talbott, deceased, asking judgment for $550 with interest from July 24, 1901. The plaintiff, who is a son of the deceased, alleges that the defendant, his stepfather, is indebted to him for the board, washing and nursing of Mrs. Talbott from April 5, 1901, to July 24, 1901, the latter being the date of her death, in the sum named.

The attentions are alleged to have been given the deceased at her request. The administrator refused to pay the claim when a written statement of it was presented to him on Dec. 6, 1902.

A SERIOUS COASTING MISHAP

LITTLE GIRL KNOCKED DOWN AND BADLY HURT.

A bad coasting accident occurred on the hill near the Pleasant Heights school yesterday afternoon.

A number of the scholars were sliding down the hill which at that point is very steep. They had been cautioned to be careful on account of the high rate of speed that was attained along the course. As is usual in such cases there were a number ascending the hill as others went down.

Paul Gibson was mounted upon the fastest sled on the hill and when midway between the top of the hill and the road below his sled struck little Evelyn Smith, knocking her down and severely injuring her. She struck the ice with such force that she was rendered unconscious for a time.

Other scholars hastened to her side and with the aid of a large sled conveyed her to the home of her parents nearby. The side of her head was badly bruised, she receiving injuries to her left side which will keep her indoors for some time to come, while one of her ankles is severely sprained. She suffered a great deal last night.

ANGRY FATHER INVOKED CURSES ON JUDGE'S SON

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special.)—Moses Hoyle, the Salem lad, was before Judge Boone again yesterday afternoon and was ordered sent to the reform school. The parents of the boy remonstrated against the action of the court and both were present at the first hearing Wednesday. On this account the matter was taken under advisement and Mrs. George Holmes, the Salem member of the county board of visitors, was instructed to investigate the lad's home surroundings. From the report submitted and other members of the visiting board decided that it would be best to send the boy to Lancaster.

The father appeared in court again yesterday afternoon and denounced the authorities in unmeasured terms for their action. He with his arms raised toward heaven, prayed in a loud voice that a son of Judge Boone some day be sent to the reform school. There were quite a number of spectators in Judge Boone's office at the time and much excitement was created.

It Means the Erection And Equipment of a New Office Building.

One of the most important real estate deals closed in this city during the past month occurred this afternoon when the Nagle property, located on Sixth street, adjoining the property of the Ohio Valley Gas company, passed into the hands of the Union Building, Loan & Trust company and Geo. L. Owen & Co.

The deal was closed at a late hour this afternoon by a committee appointed from both concerns. While it is not definitely known the consideration is said to have been in the neighborhood of $11,000. The purchase of this site was made for the purpose of in the near future erecting one of the handsomest and most substantial office buildings in the city. The dimensions of the purchase are 80x130 feet, but the building will not be so large.

It is the intention of the purchasers to build and equip the first story of the building for their own accommodation. It will be divided into two apartments, each company to use one of them as offices. The second story and the third, if a third is built, will be so constructed as to be valuable for office quarters. The plans and specifications for the new structure have not yet been completed, but will be placed in the hands of an architect before long.

A NOTORIOUS WOMAN DIED IN PITTSBURG

Becky Saunders, Who Had a Local Police Record, Is No More.

Word was received at the city hall this morning of the death in Pittsburg last Sunday of "Becky" Saunders, the notorious colored woman, well known in police circles here. The cause of death was typhoid fever, from which she had suffered for several weeks.

"Becky" figured in a number of escapades in and about this city in her time. It was she, who last October, picked Pete Corson's pocket, securing $50. Pete was a Wellsville man and was known to be very intimate with the Saunders woman. He never got his money, nor was "Becky" ever punished for the crime.

From the very first announcement that he had died by his own hand, friends in this city were loath to believe it. The story did not sound plausible to them because of the absolute lack of motive. They knew Winnie Mercer too well to believe that any trivial reason would cause him to take such a step and knew, too, that there were many attachments that made life too dear to him and that he loved his aged mother so dearly that he would have endured almost any earthly burden rather than have caused the grief that is now hers.

The suspicion that it was foul play was reluctantly thrown aside by many of his friends when the news dispatches, without exception, indicated that it was a case of self-destruction. There are a number of the dead man's more intimate friends, however, who all along have refused to believe the published statements of the affair. Every detail given in the press was scanned by them in the hope of finding some discrepancy that would prove a tangible ground for their suspicions.

Until last evening the ranks of those who still believed that he had met with foul play were almost depleted but today there are hundreds who are again firm in the belief. Friends who are familiar with every characteristic of the dead man have found so much that apparently sustains the foul play theory that before tonight has passed it is expected a message will be sent to the chief of the San Francisco police, asking him to make the closest possible investigation.

A News Review reporter talked to day with several of the very closest friends of the dead man and from them he learned upon just what grounds they are basing their belief. The theory they advance covers almost every detail of the sad affair.

One of the first things to arouse suspicion was the statement that appeared in a press dispatch from San Francisco that the rubber pipe used by Mercer to conduct the gas pipe to his mouth was clenched tightly between his teeth. It is well known that the muscles of a person who has been overcome by gas are entirely relaxed and this being the case the rubber tube could not have been clenched between his teeth. Several local physicians, who were interviewed, support this statement.

Another detail that aroused suspicion was the purported letter written by him and addressed to his mother. Either the letter is a gross fraud or it has been badly garbled in transmission across the continent. Those who are in a position to know state that Mercer was never known to sign his name Winnie, and further that neither the expressions contained in the letter nor the style in which it was written were his. In this letter as printed was the statement: "Give my love to my brothers and sisters." The dead man they claim, never penned this statement, as there is no sister. The dispatches also spoke of his well known handwriting. Those who are acquainted with it state that it has no peculiarities.

A very intimate friend of the dead man states that Mercer very often stopped at the Occidental hotel. From this they reason that it is not at all likely that he would have gone there willingly and registered under an assumed name. They also reason that had he desired to end his life he would have chosen some obscure and quiet hotel, rather than the Occidental, which is one of the largest in San Francisco.

It is reasoned that a man about to take his life in the manner Mercer is reputed to have used would not have removed all his clothing. The use of the rubber tubing connecting with the gas pipe insured death in a very short time, is the explanation for this. If he did remove his clothing, it is argued that the coat would have been the first garment removed. This would have been placed on a chair and the other garments would have been placed on top. It is not at all likely, it is claimed, that after being all ready to accomplish his purpose he would arise from the bed and secure his coat from the bottom of the pile when one of the bed covers or a sheet, which were nearer at hand, would have sufficed as well. The press dispatches stated that his coat was drawn around his head.

The note which was found at his side containing these words: "Tell Mr Van Horn that Winnie Mercer has taken his life," were never written by Mercer, his friends say. The reasons they give are that it is written in the third person, instead of the first, like the letter addressed to Mrs. Mercer and that Mercer never used his nick name.

The incident of the attempt to rob Mercer and his companions by forged letters to the clerk of the hotel at which the two teams were stopping

WORK WILL COST $16,000

Manufacturers Propose to Advance the Money for the Proposed 12-Inch Main, the City to Pay Half of the Interest.

If the city council is willing to pay the one-half of a 6 per cent rate of interest for a limited period, the five mammoth manufacturing concerns together with the citizens generally who inhabit the East End will have a water supply acequate in every way to insure them against the fire demon and all other inconveniences which result from an insufficient service at the hands of the water works department.

The meeting which was held at the office of the water department yesterday afternoon was well attended and had for its object the consideration of a better water supply for the East End. There were present, Messrs Jacob Shenkel, H. A. Keffer and W. L. Smith, of the water works board; Joseph G. Lee, of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles and Potters' Mining and Milling company; Louis I. Aaron, W. E. Wells, F. D. Kitchel, Home Laughlin China company; Messrs Marshall, Peach and McConnell, of the council, and Clerk Gipner and Superintendent Morley, of the water works department.

The fact was brought out in the beginning that neither the manufacturing establishments nor the property owners themselves are sufficiently protected in the matter of a water supply to secure an insurance rate that they would be able to stand. Indeed the owners of factories there are unable to obtain any. It was shown that if the down town districts the concerns had two sources from which to draw and were thereby enabled to get good rates at all times. W. E. Wells did most of the talking for the interested parties from the suffering community and his arguments were reasonable and logical and from the outcome they had their effect.

Superintendent Phil Morley was asked to make an estimate of the probable cost of constructing a 12 inch main, and informed the party he had already done so. As near as he could come to it the work could be done at a cost of $16,500. If it was thought that a 10 inch line would be sufficient it could be constructed for about $1,500 less.

Everyone present was convinced it would be foolhardy for the department or the city to put in anything less than a 12 inch main. This belief was prompted by the knowledge that at the rate which the East End is growing at present, it will not be many years until the larger sort of feeder would be necessary. Therefore it may as well be put in first as last.

That question disposed of, the one next in importance was the manner in which the money necessary for the improvement was to be raised. The representatives of the manufacturers they were prepared to advance the money provided it was returned in water rents and the trustees or the council would pay the interest. It was estimated that 6 per cent. would be a sufficient rate, and the committee from council was asked if it would be possible to have the city pay the interest.

At first the committee refused to have anything to do with the matter holding that it would be purely a question for the water works trustees to adjust. Dr. Marshall and Mr Peach insisted that nothing could be done, giving as the reason that the condition of the city's finances would not permit it.

After a short conference the trustees proposed that the manufacturers pay the full rate of interest for a period of 5 years, calculating that it would take 10 years for the arrangements to adjust themselves, and that at the end of that time or before, the debt would either be worked out or the trustees would assume the payment of interest. This was not satisfactory and the entire question was finally settled by the East End parties agreeing to pay a half, or 3 per cent., and the committee of council promising to recommend to that body that the other half estimated at about $480, be paid by it.

A LEAK IN A GAS PIPE NEARLY KILLED FAMILY

Gas escaping at the home of Edward Wyman, in McKinnon's addition on the north side of the city, came dangerously near resulting in the death of every member of the household on Monday night. Even though they were almost miraculously saved, all are now suffering ill effects and it is thought that sometime will elapse before they have fully recovered.

The family consists of Mr. Wyman, his wife and an infant child. To the latter, strange to say, is credited the escape of the trio. All had retired early and were soon asleep. Through out the winter Mr. Wyman has allowed the gas in the stove to burn freely during the night, as a protection to the child. No accidents having occurred, not the least alarm or uneasiness was felt upon this occasion. At about 1 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Wyman was aroused from a deep sleep by an extraordinary noise made by her baby.

The little one was crying pitifully and at the same time vomiting and in terrible agony. Several minutes were required to fully restore Mrs. Wyman, the gas having also taken effect upon her. When she finally realized the situation she started to the bed of her husband. She had much difficulty in arousing him. He had also fallen a victim. He was, however, finally made to know the true situation and he commenced, though feeling very bad himself, to assist his wife and baby. In less than half an hour all three became violently ill, each vomiting and gagging terribly.

Mr. Wyman was the worst effected of all and it was feared for a time that he would not recover. He staggered around the house and finally fell to the floor. By daylight all had partially recovered and are now anticipating no serious results.

Investigation proved that a leak in the gas pipe was the cause of the awful experience.

SLEEPERS SURROUNDED BY FLAME

Narrow Escape of a Sebring Family From Being Cremated in Their Beds.

Sebring, January 16.—(Special.)—Fire at about 1 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the residence of Joseph Hartley and during its progress of raging several members of the family had most exciting experiences and very narrow escapes from death.

The members of the household all sleep upstairs and Mr. Hartley was awakened by the inhalation of smoke which had filled his sleeping apartment. Arising quickly he ran downstairs to ascertain the cause and was horrified upon opening the kitchen door at seeing that room one mass of flames.

The opening of the door provided a draft and in a moment the flames had set the adjoining room on fire. Instead of arousing the family, Mr. Hartley attempted to extinguish the fire and by so doing he nearly caused the loss of life to his wife and three children. They slept immediately above one of the rooms that was burning and did not awake until their sleeping apartment was a blaze.

One of the four was aroused in time and gave the alarm. All were frightened so badly that they hardly knew which direction to flee, and this put them in an exceedingly precarious position. They, however, collected their thoughts and before making any rash move found their way to the outside and safety.

Nothing but smoking embers remain to give evidence of the occurrence. Hartley estimates his loss, it being total, at $300. The house was the property of Frank Sebring, and was fully insured.

THE CARROLLTON POTTERY PROJECT

Progress Being Made and an Agreement Will Soon Be Drawn and Signed.

One of the propositions submitted by the town of Carrollton to the promoters of the new pottery plant for that city will likely be accepted within the next 10 days, and it will mean that the little capital of Carroll county is to have an enterprise that will give employment to several hundred people. The town has done her part and it is now up to the promoters.

Elmer L. Henderson, assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery, is largely interested in the project and when seen by a News Review reporter this morning admitted that the propositions submitted by the city were now under consideration by himself and associates. Interested with him are C. and A. E. Albright, of Sebring, and several other gentlemen whose names have not been given to the public.

The proposition which has found the most favor with the promoters is the one offering them free the site for the plant, the necessary switches, a water supply and a loan of $60,000 for the period of two years without interest, with the privilege of an extension of the loan for a number of years at 6 per cent interest. About the only stipulations made by the city are that no salaries shall be paid to persons not actually in the employ of the plant and that the salaries of the officers and managers shall not exceed those usually paid for the same work.

About the only advantage to be had at Carrollton is cheap coal. It is mined in the immediate neighborhood and can be had at a low figure. The town is located on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad and has as good shipping facilities by rail as East Liverpool. The plant will be five kilns and will be equipped with the latest modern machinery. It will make semi-porcelain ware.

So far the proposition has been favorably received by the promoters and it will no doubt be accepted in the near future, when the necessary legal agreement will be entered into. Work is to be commenced on the plant within 30 days after the signing of the contract.

Mr. Henderson will not be active in the management of the new plant, if it is built. He will continue his duties as assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery.

HEARING GIVEN IN ROBISON CASE

PETITION FOR PARDON TAKEN UNDER CONSIDERATION.

Senator Connell Appears Before Pardon Board in His Client's Behalf.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—The application of Zach S. Robison serving a life sentence for second degree murder, was formally presented to the state board of pardons yesterday by Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, Robison's attorney. Mr. Connell talked for 30 minutes in his client's behalf. The members asked many questions and took the case under advisement. Their decision will probably be announced at the next monthly meeting, the rule being to keep cases under advisement for 30 days before reporting a decision.

Robison's application is signed by most of the officials of Columbiana county, a number of jurors before whom he was tried and many leading citizens of East Liverpool, where the crime he was convicted of was committed. There are signers from Brailville, near Pittsburg, the former home of Robison. A statement of the record of the case, prepared by Prosecutor Jason H. Brookes, was filed with the board, but Mr. Brookes' name does not appear on the application. Attorney Connell read a letter to the board written by Robison, in which he stated he desired a pardon and not a parole. He would be satisfied with a conditional pardon, but wants no parole because under it he could not leave the state.

Alluding to an evident disinclination on the part of Judge P. M. Smith of Wellsville, who was the trial judge in the case, to endorse his application for a pardon, Robison said he would not stultify his manhood by begging or cringing for this clemency and instructed his attorney to cease importuning the judge in his behalf. "I never knowingly committed a crime, am no criminal, never have been one and never expect to be one," said he.

SUIT AGAINST A STEPFATHER

Columbiana Man Wants $550 For Caring For His Mother, Now Deceased.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—George W. Mentzer, of Columbiana, through his attorney, F. A. Witt, has sued Alvin A. Talbott, administrator of the estate of Mary A. Talbott, deceased, asking judgment for $550 with interest from July 24, 1901. The plaintiff, who is a son of the deceased, alleges that the defendant, his stepfather, is indebted to him for the board, washing and nursing of Mrs. Talbott from April 5, 1901, to July 24, 1901, the latter being the date of her death, in the sum named.

The attentions are alleged to have been given the deceased at her request. The administrator refused to pay the claim when a written statement of it was presented to him on Dec. 6, 1902.

One of the most important real estate deals closed in this city during the past month occurred this afternoon when the Nagle property, located on Sixth street, adjoining the property of the Ohio Valley Gas company, passed into the hands of the Union Building, Loan & Trust company and Geo. WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

MERCER'S POTTERY DAYS.

When Winnie Mercer came to this city in the neighborhood of sixteen years ago one of the first things he did was to seek employment in one of the local potteries. He found it in the packing room at the K. T. & K., and it was perhaps the only place he worked up until he won fame as a ball player. N. T. Ashbaugh, or "Dory," as he is familiarly called, was then the boss packer at the K. T. & K., a position he has filled, by the way, for nearly half a century. He remembers distinctly the bashful, gentlemanly little fellow who worked for him as a straw boy. If Winnie were alive today and seeking a position he could not ask for a better recommendation than the one given him by his task master of fifteen years ago. "Winnie was a gentlemanly little fellow even in those days," said Mr. Ashbaugh to a News Review reporter, "and he is about the only boy who ever worked for me that was not impudent at one time or another. Winnie never answered me back when I told him to do a thing but he always obeyed with alacrity. He had his heart in his work and he never shirked."

Winnie was popular with the other apprentices and it was probably in the packing shed that he was given the name by which he is known to almost the whole nation. During the noon hour and in the evenings he and the other boys played baseball in the alleyway and along the street. Then a team from the packing shed was organized with Mercer as the pitcher and many games were played with other pottery teams. Since Winnie's death these days were recalled in a conversation between Col. Taylor, Joseph G. Lee and Mr. Ashbaugh and the two last named gentlemen also remember his being employed in the packing shed. Mr. Lee remembers that on one occasion while he was passing the boys at play Winnie accidentally hit him with the ball.

Mr. Ashbaugh has a picture of the entire packing force at the time that Winnie was a member of it. Many of the other boys who were strawing ware or serving apprenticeships are now well known and highly respected citizens. Wash Williams is now a packer at the East Liverpool, Charles Kent is the boss packer at the Goodwin, Fred Howard is in the packing department at the Homer Laughlin, J. Herbert Smith and Henry Smith, now in charge of the warehouse at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, David Ninsinger is still in his old employment, Charles Knoblock is a packer at D. E. McNicol's, Leslie Ashbaugh is a packer at the West End, Henry Dailey was last heard of in St. Paul, Butler Peterson is a packer for the Ohio China company at East Palestine, Will Curfman studied for and was admitted to the ministry and William Moore is dead.

"Winnie never paid a visit to this city that he did not come around to the packing shed to see the boys," said Mr. Ashbaugh, "and often would jokingly ask me for a job."

KILNMEN TONIGHT.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 will meet in regular session this evening and the attendance will likely be large, as the members are beginning to manifest great interest in the affairs of the local. One reason for this is the approaching election for delegates to the convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will be held in Wheeling next May. No. 9 will have in the neighborhood of 11 delegates, and they are to be selected at the last meeting in February. As yet no names have been publicly mentioned as candidates.

BREAK AT THE SEVRES.

There was a break this morning in the machinery in the slip house at the Sevres and all the clay hands had to lay off by noon. It is thought it will take until Tuesday to make the necessary repairs and the clay hands will be compelled to loaf until that time.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Misses Mary and Blanche Palmer left today for Industry, where they will make a brief visit with relatives.

Adam Hawley, who until recently was employed in the warehouse at Cartwright's, left this morning for New Brighton.

Grub Street, London.

Up to the seventeenth century Grub street was on the outskirts of London. It was a street tenanted by bowyers, fletchers, makers of bowstrings and everything else that appertained to archery. Later on John Fox lived in Grub street, though he did not write his famous "Book of Martyrs" there. Fox's residence in Grub street occurred about 1572. John Speed, the tailor archæologist, was a resident of Grub street, where he was famous as the most responsible parent, having a family of twelve sons and six daughters. Grub street of old and Milton street today is noted for its great number of alleys and courts.

From Grub street issued such famous old literary skits as "Jack the Giant Killer," "Tom Hickathrift," "The Wise Men of Gotham" and scores of others now a part of every boy's library. Probably literary men first began to populate Grub street in any numbers during Cromwell's time. Then a great number of seditious and libelous pamphlets were circulated, and as the authors for safety had to seek obscure living places they found a fitting retreat in the maze of alleys which webbed the Grub street section. At any rate, by the commencement of the eighteenth century Grub street had become quite notorious as the poor authors' quarter of London.

Man and His Chin.

In man the front of the lower jawbone possesses a well marked projection, known as the chin or mental prominence, covered by a fleshy pod of corresponding shape. In all other backboned animals the jawbone slopes back without any such protuberance. It is a singular fact that the presence of a well marked chin is associated with firm character and well marked intellectual qualities. This is one of the best founded rules in character delineation by physiognomy. The late Professor Huxley used to illustrate the matter by drawing a profile with good chin on the blackboard and then wiping out the chin and replacing it by a receding curve. Any one who repeats the experiment will be surprised at the result. The reason is not clear, but we may perhaps say that a well developed jaw is associated with good digestive powers, which have more to do with character than one might at first sight suppose.

Antiquity of Grains.

Nearly all the grains now in use are of unknown antiquity. Wheat was cultivated in all latitudes as far back in the past as we have authentic knowledge. Barley is thought to have originated in the Caucasus, but it was known and used everywhere in the most ancient times. Oats, like rye, were unknown in ancient India and Egypt and among the Hebrews. The Greeks and Romans received it from the north of Europe. Had there been an early civilization on this continent the wild oats found here and there would probably have developed into the useful cereal now considered absolutely essential to the proper nourishment of horses. This continent is credited with having given Indian corn to the old world, but this useful cereal was doubtless known in India and China many hundred years before the discovery of America.

On Principle.

Bert (nervously)—I heard pa tell ma he was goin' to flog me on principle after prayers tonight. Where's principle, Billy?

Billy—I think it's somewhere at the back, Bert. The last time he flogged me on principle I had to sit sideways for more'n a fortnight.—London Tit-Bits.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

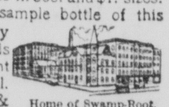

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Brought Down From Heaven.

According to Mohammedan belief, the first copy of the Koran, or Alkeran, their sacred book, was brought down from the highest to the lowest heaven by Gabriel on the mysterious night of Al Khade in the month of Ramadan. This wonderful book, written in heaven and bound in satin, jewels and gold, was communicated to Mohammed at different times during a period of twenty-three years. This was done, according to Mohammedan belief, either by Gabriel in human shape or by God himself. When Gabriel acted as translator and communicator, he did so "with a great sound of music and bells." God appeared either "veiled or unveiled during Mohammed's waking hours or during dreams at night."

Virginia's Only Slave.

The state of Virginia once owned a slave, the only one probably the commonwealth ever did own. He was known as Ben the Bell Ringer of the University of Virginia. The university only had $200 left over when it was endowed, and it was proposed to buy a negro with this amount and keep him as a bell ringer. They bought Ben, and in his time he became a great character at the university. He knew everybody and was very useful to everybody. Ben used to get very drunk on the liberal and constant fees he received from students. He died in the Albemarle poorhouse at an advanced age.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

When Winnie Mercer came to this city in the neighborhood of sixteen years ago one of the first things he did was to seek employment in one of the local potteries. He found it in the packing room at the K. T. & K., and it was perhaps the only place he worked up until he won fame as a ball player. N. T. Ashbaugh, or "Dory," as he is familiarly called, was then the boss packer at the K. T. & K., a position he has filled, by the way, for nearly half a century. He remembers distinctly the bashful, gentlemanly little fellow who worked for him as a straw boy. If Winnie were alive today and seeking a position he could not ask for a better recommendation than the one given him by his task master of fifteen years ago. "Winnie was a gentlemanly little fellow even in those days," said Mr. Ashbaugh to a News Review reporter, "and he is about the only boy who ever worked for me that was not impudent at one time or another. Winnie never answered me back when I told him to do a thing but he always obeyed with alacrity. He had his heart in his work and he never shirked."

Winnie was popular with the other apprentices and it was probably in the packing shed that he was given the name by which he is known to almost the whole nation. During the noon hour and in the evenings he and the other boys played baseball in the alleyway and along the street. Then a team from the packing shed was organized with Mercer as the pitcher and many games were played with other pottery teams. Since Winnie's death these days were recalled in a conversation between Col. Taylor, Joseph G. Lee and Mr. Ashbaugh and the two last named gentlemen also remember his being employed in the packing shed. Mr. Lee remembers that on one occasion while he was passing the boys at play Winnie accidentally hit him with the ball.

Mr. Ashbaugh has a picture of the entire packing force at the time that Winnie was a member of it. Many of the other boys who were strawing ware or serving apprenticeships are now well known and highly respected citizens. Wash Williams is now a packer at the East Liverpool, Charles Kent is the boss packer at the Goodwin, Fred Howard is in the packing department at the Homer Laughlin, J. Herbert Smith and Henry Smith, now in charge of the warehouse at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, David Ninsinger is still in his old employment, Charles Knoblock is a packer at D. E. McNicol's, Leslie Ashbaugh is a packer at the West End, Henry Dailey was last heard of in St. Paul, Butler Peterson is a packer for the Ohio China company at East Palestine, Will Curfman studied for and was admitted to the ministry and William Moore is dead.

"Winnie never paid a visit to this city that he did not come around to the packing shed to see the boys," said Mr. Ashbaugh, "and often would jokingly ask me for a job."

KILNMEN TONIGHT.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 will meet in regular session this evening and the attendance will likely be large, as the members are beginning to manifest great interest in the affairs of the local. One reason for this is the approaching election for delegates to the convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will be held in Wheeling next May. No. 9 will have in the neighborhood of 11 delegates, and they are to be selected at the last meeting in February. As yet no names have been publicly mentioned as candidates.

BREAK AT THE SEVRES.

There was a break this morning in the machinery in the slip house at the Sevres and all the clay hands had to lay off by noon. It is thought it will take until Tuesday to make the necessary repairs and the clay hands will be compelled to loaf until that time.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Misses Mary and Blanche Palmer left today for Industry, where they will make a brief visit with relatives.

Adam Hawley, who until recently was employed in the warehouse at Cartwright's, left this morning for New Brighton.

Grub Street, London.

Up to the seventeenth century Grub street was on the outskirts of London. It was a street tenanted by bowyers, fletchers, makers of bowstrings and everything else that appertained to archery. Later on John Fox lived in Grub street, though he did not write his famous "Book of Martyrs" there. Fox's residence in Grub street occurred about 1572. John Speed, the tailor archæologist, was a resident of Grub street, where he was famous as the most responsible parent, having a family of twelve sons and six daughters. Grub street of old and Milton street today is noted for its great number of alleys and courts.

From Grub street issued such famous old literary skits as "Jack the Giant Killer," "Tom Hickathrift," "The Wise Men of Gotham" and scores of others now a part of every boy's library. Probably literary men first began to populate Grub street in any numbers during Cromwell's time. Then a great number of seditious and libelous pamphlets were circulated, and as the authors for safety had to seek obscure living places they found a fitting retreat in the maze of alleys which webbed the Grub street section. At any rate, by the commencement of the eighteenth century Grub street had become quite notorious as the poor authors' quarter of London.

Virginia's Only Slave.

The state of Virginia once owned a slave, the only one probably the commonwealth ever did own. He was known as Ben the Bell Ringer of the University of Virginia. The university only had $200 left over when it was endowed, and it was proposed to buy a negro with this amount and keep him as a bell ringer. They bought Ben, and in his time he became a great character at the university. He knew everybody and was very useful to everybody. Ben used to get very drunk on the liberal and constant fees he received from students. He died in the Albemarle poorhouse at an advanced age.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

When Winnie Mercer came to this city in the neighborhood of sixteen years ago one of the first things he did was to seek employment in one of the local potteries. He found it in the packing room at the K. T. & K., and it was perhaps the only place he worked up until he won fame as a ball player. N. T. Ashbaugh, or "Dory," as he is familiarly called, was then the boss packer at the K. T. & K., a position he has filled, by the way, for nearly half a century. He remembers distinctly the bashful, gentlemanly little fellow who worked for him as a straw boy. If Winnie were alive today and seeking a position he could not ask for a better recommendation than the one given him by his task master of fifteen years ago. "Winnie was a gentlemanly little fellow even in those days," said Mr. Ashbaugh to a News Review reporter, "and he is about the only boy who ever worked for me that was not impudent at one time or another. Winnie never answered me back when I told him to do a thing but he always obeyed with alacrity. He had his heart in his work and he never shirked."

Winnie was popular with the other apprentices and it was probably in the packing shed that he was given the name by which he is known to almost the whole nation. During the noon hour and in the evenings he and the other boys played baseball in the alleyway and along the street. Then a team from the packing shed was organized with Mercer as the pitcher and many games were played with other pottery teams. Since Winnie's death these days were recalled in a conversation between Col. Taylor, Joseph G. Lee and Mr. Ashbaugh and the two last named gentlemen also remember his being employed in the packing shed. Mr. Lee remembers that on one occasion while he was passing the boys at play Winnie accidentally hit him with the ball.

Mr. Ashbaugh has a picture of the entire packing force at the time that Winnie was a member of it. Many of the other boys who were strawing ware or serving apprenticeships are now well known and highly respected citizens. Wash Williams is now a packer at the East Liverpool, Charles Kent is the boss packer at the Goodwin, Fred Howard is in the packing department at the Homer Laughlin, J. Herbert Smith and Henry Smith, now in charge of the warehouse at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, David Ninsinger is still in his old employment, Charles Knoblock is a packer at D. E. McNicol's, Leslie Ashbaugh is a packer at the West End, Henry Dailey was last heard of in St. Paul, Butler Peterson is a packer for the Ohio China company at East Palestine, Will Curfman studied for and was admitted to the ministry and William Moore is dead.

"Winnie never paid a visit to this city that he did not come around to the packing shed to see the boys," said Mr. Ashbaugh, "and often would jokingly ask me for a job."

KILNMEN TONIGHT.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 will meet in regular session this evening and the attendance will likely be large, as the members are beginning to manifest great interest in the affairs of the local. One reason for this is the approaching election for delegates to the convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will be held in Wheeling next May. No. 9 will have in the neighborhood of 11 delegates, and they are to be selected at the last meeting in February. As yet no names have been publicly mentioned as candidates.

BREAK AT THE SEVRES.

There was a break this morning in the machinery in the slip house at the Sevres and all the clay hands had to lay off by noon. It is thought it will take until Tuesday to make the necessary repairs and the clay hands will be compelled to loaf until that time.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Misses Mary and Blanche Palmer left today for Industry, where they will make a brief visit with relatives.

Adam Hawley, who until recently was employed in the warehouse at Cartwright's, left this morning for New Brighton.

Grub Street, London.

Up to the seventeenth century Grub street was on the outskirts of London. It was a street tenanted by bowyers, fletchers, makers of bowstrings and everything else that appertained to archery. Later on John Fox lived in Grub street, though he did not write his famous "Book of Martyrs" there. Fox's residence in Grub street occurred about 1572. John Speed, the tailor archæologist, was a resident of Grub street, where he was famous as the most responsible parent, having a family of twelve sons and six daughters. Grub street of old and Milton street today is noted for its great number of alleys and courts.

From Grub street issued such famous old literary skits as "Jack the Giant Killer," "Tom Hickathrift," "The Wise Men of Gotham" and scores of others now a part of every boy's library. Probably literary men first began to populate Grub street in any numbers during Cromwell's time. Then a great number of seditious and libelous pamphlets were circulated, and as the authors for safety had to seek obscure living places they found a fitting retreat in the maze of alleys which webbed the Grub street section. At any rate, by the commencement of the eighteenth century Grub street had become quite notorious as the poor authors' quarter of London.

Man and His Chin.

In man the front of the lower jawbone possesses a well marked projection, known as the chin or mental prominence, covered by a fleshy pod of corresponding shape. In all other backboned animals the jawbone slopes back without any such protuberance. It is a singular fact that the presence of a well marked chin is associated with firm character and well marked intellectual qualities. This is one of the best founded rules in character delineation by physiognomy. The late Professor Huxley used to illustrate the matter by drawing a profile with good chin on the blackboard and then wiping out the chin and replacing it by a receding curve. Any one who repeats the experiment will be surprised at the result. The reason is not clear, but we may perhaps say that a well developed jaw is associated with good digestive powers, which have more to do with character than one might at first sight suppose.

Antiquity of Grains.

Nearly all the grains now in use are of unknown antiquity. Wheat was cultivated in all latitudes as far back in the past as we have authentic knowledge. Barley is thought to have originated in the Caucasus, but it was known and used everywhere in the most ancient times. Oats, like rye, were unknown in ancient India and Egypt and among the Hebrews. The Greeks and Romans received it from the north of Europe. Had there been an early civilization on this continent the wild oats found here and there would probably have developed into the useful cereal now considered absolutely essential to the proper nourishment of horses. This continent is credited with having given Indian corn to the old world, but this useful cereal was doubtless known in India and China many hundred years before the discovery of America.

On Principle.

Bert (nervously)—I heard pa tell ma he was goin' to flog me on principle after prayers tonight. Where's principle, Billy?

Billy—I think it's somewhere at the back, Bert. The last time he flogged me on principle I had to sit sideways for more'n a fortnight.—London Tit-Bits.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

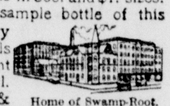

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys: if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghampton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Judge James H. Clancy of Hornellsville, N. Y., and one of the most prominent members of the bar in that historic town, decided recently that as against Blood and Liver trouble, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was worthy of the highest praise. He says:

"I have used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and strongly recommend it for its good effect in my case for liver trouble and blood disorder. It built me right up and I improved greatly in health."

Geo. H. Tifft of 878 River street, Troy, N. Y., suffered from liver trouble and his blood was all out of order and after using "Favorite Remedy," has this to say:

"For any one suffering from that run down or tired out feeling, caused by blood or liver trouble, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best medicine you can buy. I have used it and I know."

The one sure cure for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

It matters not how sick you are, how long you have suffered, or how many physicians have failed to help you, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will cure you if a cure is possible.

FIVE BOYS KILLED.

Coasters Struck By a Train on Philadelphia and Reading Railroad.

SIXTH VICTIM FATALLY INJURED

Blood and Bones on the Pilot of the Engine Gave the Engineer the First Intimation of the Horrible Occurrence—Three Fatally Injured.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 16.—Five boys, whose ages range from 13 to 15 years, while coasting last night, were struck by a train on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad and instantly killed, and another was fatally injured.

The Dead.

Dennis McGinley, John Coyle, Owen Cahill, Patrick Cahill and an unknown boy who was mangled beyond recognition.

John Heuber, the sixth victim, is said to be at the point of death.

The boys were coasting on a bobsled. The railway crosses the street at the bottom of the hill and the sled and express train reached the crossing simultaneously. The engineer was not aware of the tragedy until he reached the station, a mile distant from the scene of the accident, when the blood and bones on the pilot of the engine gave him the first intimation of the occurrence.

Three Fatally Injured.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 16.—A party of eight young persons were coasting on Mulberry street last night, when their sled ran into a telegraph pole. Miss Esther Costerline, Miss Jennie Segmans and William Van Bergen sustained injuries which, it is believed, will result in their deaths. Christopher Peiffer, who was steering the sled, escaped with slight injuries.

Brought Down From Heaven.

According to Mohammedan belief, the first copy of the Koran, or Alkoran, their sacred book, was brought down from the highest to the lowest heaven by Gabriel on the mysterious night of Al Khade in the month of Ramadan. This wonderful book, written in heaven and bound in satin, jewels and gold, was communicated to Mohammed at different times during a period of twenty-three years. This was done, according to Mohammedan belief, either by Gabriel in human shape or by God himself. When Gabriel acted as translator and communicator, he did so "with a great sound of music and bells." God appeared either "veiled or unveiled during Mohammed's waking hours or during dreams at night."

SMALL FIRE IN EAST END

George Judy's Residence in Oakland Slightly Damaged, a Lounge Taking Fire.

The fire department was called out in the East End yesterday afternoon to the residence of George Judy, in Oakland, on Holiday street. The department was called by telephone by some carpenters who saw smoke coming out of the windows of Mr. Judy's residence. It was found that a lounge had caught fire from a gas stove and a large hole was burned in the floor.

Aside from that but little other damage was done. The department had but little trouble in extinguishing the blaze. The loss will not exceed $25.

Good Meetings.

The service last night at the Second U. P. church proved to be very interesting. Rev. William Duncan preached a good sermon on "Jesus Passing." Tonight's service will be of more than ordinary interest and a large congregation is expected. The subject will be "That Young Man" and "What We Owe Him." A good musical program is promised and the theme for the evening being one of great interest to church people generally, it is expected that the church will be crowded.

Growing in Interest.

The meetings at the Presbyterian church at Smith's Ferry are growing in interest. The quartet of the Second Presbyterian church of the East End attended last night and gave some special music. Rev. Mr. Crowe preached an able sermon and expects to continue the meetings at least another week. The meetings at the Second Presbyterian church will be commenced the last of this month or about the first of February.

Milk Wagon Overturned.

The driver of the milk wagon belonging to Kenneth Davidson had an exciting experience yesterday between the East End and Smith's Ferry. While coming down the hill at Neville institute, the wagon overturned, throwing the horses to the ground and breaking the neck of one of them. The driver was thrown out and all the contents of the wagon. Luckily the driver was not injured.

Sprained His Hand.

James Noah, of Virginia avenue, has been unable to work for several days on account of a sprained hand. The hand has been troubling Mr. Noah for several days and despite applications of liniment it has been growing worse. It is not thought that he is suffering from anything more serious than a sprain, however, and he hopes to be able to begin work by Monday.

Made a Fraternal Visit.

Several members of the P. H. C. from the East End attended the meeting of Stratton circle in the city last night. They report one of the best meetings they have ever attended. There was a good literary program and music, after which a luncheon was served. The supper was one of the best ever given by any lodge in the city.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

A small child of John Crawford, of the Klondike, is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. J. F. Caldwell, of Railroad street, left this morning for a short visit with relatives at Youngstown.

James W. Jamison has written his family in the East End, from Culpeper, Va., that his father is in a very critical condition and is not expected to live.

A very enjoyable party was given last night at the home of Archie Putnam, on Maple street. Eight couples from Ohioville were present and a large number of young people from the East End. An oyster supper was served and the evening was spent very pleasantly with music and games.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

EVENING COIFFURE.

The Low Coil Finds Comparatively Few Wearers.

There is immense variety in the coiffure, but despite the lowering of the collar the low type of hairdressing has comparatively few followers. It is seen mostly in the evening. The tucked in pompadour arrangement with a cue at the back has been too extensively patronized to be much in favor with the smart woman, and it is certainly a fashion which lacks distinction when not completed by a handsome picture hat.

There is very little novelty in decorations for the hair, and the little wreaths of small flowers or foliage are still popular. The geisha arrangement of flowers is rather heavy. A cluster of rosebuds or violets with two or three wires headed by well cut stones which quiver with every movement has many admirers, and the wisp of tulle still has its adherents.

The coronet combs worn in front of the coil suggest the modified tiara, and the newest side and the back combs are thickly incrusted with gems.

Smart Carriage Wraps—Fur Lined Coats.

The fur day and evening wraps are anything if not classic, and the effect of Greek and Roman draperies is aimed at in the manipulations of velvets and furs.

Some very lovely carriage wraps are made in cloth, but cloth is no longer represented by hard and serviceable fabrics. It has a beautiful and supple finish, which renders it most becoming as well as warm and cozy. In these wraps the pale pastel shades are much in evidence.

One wrap recently seen was of pale cream cloth lined with emerald green satin. It had a big collar of green panne, decorated with black and white bobs, and showed inner frills of lace and accordion plaited green chiffon. It was cut in the form of a coat of three-quarter length, stitched and strapped.

Some of the cloths, which have long hairy surfaces somewhat like zibeline, are smart for wraps.

Many warm and at the same time elegant coats are lined with squirrel, but the collar need not be necessarily of the same fur.

The garment in the cut follows this idea. It is of gray cloth lined with squirrel, but having a sable collar.

SMALL FIRE IN EAST END

George Judy's Residence in Oakland Slightly Damaged, a Lounge Taking Fire.

The fire department was called out in the East End yesterday afternoon to the residence of George Judy, in Oakland, on Holiday street. The department was called by telephone by some carpenters who saw smoke coming out of the windows of Mr. Judy's residence. It was found that a lounge had caught fire from a gas stove and a large hole was burned in the floor.

Aside from that but little other damage was done. The department had but little trouble in extinguishing the blaze. The loss will not exceed $25.

Good Meetings.

The service last night at the Second U. P. church proved to be very interesting. Rev. William Duncan preached a good sermon on "Jesus Passing." Tonight's service will be of more than ordinary interest and a large congregation is expected. The subject will be "That Young Man" and "What We Owe Him." A good musical program is promised and the theme for the evening being one of great interest to church people generally, it is expected that the church will be crowded.

Growing in Interest.

The meetings at the Presbyterian church at Smith's Ferry are growing in interest. The quartet of the Second Presbyterian church of the East End attended last night and gave some special music. Rev. Mr. Crowe preached an able sermon and expects to continue the meetings at least another week. The meetings at the Second Presbyterian church will be commenced the last of this month or about the first of February.

Milk Wagon Overturned.

The driver of the milk wagon belonging to Kenneth Davidson had an exciting experience yesterday between the East End and Smith's Ferry. While coming down the hill at Neville institute, the wagon overturned, throwing the horses to the ground and breaking the neck of one of them. The driver was thrown out and all the contents of the wagon. Luckily the driver was not injured.

Sprained His Hand.

James Noah, of Virginia avenue, has been unable to work for several days on account of a sprained hand. The hand has been troubling Mr. Noah for several days and despite applications of liniment it has been growing worse. It is not thought that he is suffering from anything more serious than a sprain, however, and he hopes to be able to begin work by Monday.

Made a Fraternal Visit.

Several members of the P. H. C. from the East End attended the meeting of Stratton circle in the city last night. They report one of the best meetings they have ever attended. There was a good literary program and music, after which a luncheon was served. The supper was one of the best ever given by any lodge in the city.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William Ralph left this morning for a short business visit in Steubenville.

A small child of John Crawford, of the Klondike, is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. J. F. Caldwell, of Railroad street, left this morning for a short visit with realtives at Youngstown.

James W. Jamison has written his family in the East End, from Culpeper, Va., that his father is in a very critical condition and is not expected to live.

A very enjoyable party was given last night at the home of Archie Putnam, on Maple street. Eight couples from Ohioville were present and a large number of young people from the East End. An oyster supper was served and the evening was spent very pleasantly with music and games.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

CHALLENGE FROM
B. C. ANSLEY

Offer to Refund Money if Dr. Howard's Specific Will Not Cure Any Case of Constipation or Dyspepsia.

B. C. Ansley is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in East Liverpool or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new Specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident is he that this remarkable medicine will effect a cure, quickly and lasting, that he offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction B. C. Ansley will sell a regular 50c package of this medicine at half price, 25c.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia, and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well, and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling.

Take advantage of B. C. Ansley's challenge and secure a bottle of Dr. Howard's specific at half price, with his personal guarantee to refund your money if it does not help you.

There is no need of suffering with constipation, or dyspepsia or liver diseases when you get sixty doses of a scientific medicine for their cure like Dr. Howard's specific for the small sum of 25 cents.

There is immense variety in the coiffure, but despite the lowering of the collar the low type of hairdressing has comparatively few followers. It is seen mostly in the evening. John Martin, of Canton, was found near Leetonia almost frozen to death. His feet, hands and ears were frozen solid. He is at the Stark county infirmary and may lose both feet.

The residents of Knox township, near Empire, are up in arms over the building of a nitro-glycerine factory, but the township trustees have decided that the work cannot be interfered with.

Miss Henrietta Ludt, aged 18, one of the handsomest girls in Youngstown, left home a week ago, ostensibly to visit friends at Salem. Relatives learned that she had eloped with Michael Sullivan, a saloonkeeper, and that they were married at Wheeling.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL EAST LIVERPOOL O.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1903.

TWELVE PAGES.

There is to be another convention of the National Good Roads association next spring. It will convene in St. Louis on April 27. Fifty thousand invitations have been sent out and the result will doubtless be a large gathering of friends of road reform from every part of the country. The road movement is making progress. The work of the agricultural department in promoting it; the effect of the notice of the postoffice department that rural free delivery will be maintained nowhere except where roads are passably good; the agitation of the question by organizations formed for that purpose; discussions at farmers' meetings, by the press and in state legislatures, are all awakening the people and will bear much good fruit in time. Millions of dollars are now being expended annually, where only hundreds of thousands were expended before in the building of roads. The investment is found to pay, wherever scientific and common sense methods are substituted for the wasteful and careless systems hitherto employed. The Youngstown Telegram, in commenting upon the condition of the roads in Mahoning county—which certainly cannot be worse than in Columbiana county—proposes that, instead of scraping dirt into the roads for the next rain to wash out, there be a concentration of effort, and that each township construct at least one mile of macadamized road each year. The suggestion is worthy of heed, and the money thus expended would be paid back many times over in a few years in enhanced value of farm lands and in the saving of time, labor, horseflesh and wear and tear of vehicles, to say nothing of the advantages of abolishing the farmer's isolation and adding to his comfort and conveniences.

With an experience of eighteen years in congress, the most of the time a member of the ways and means committee, and long legal training, Hopkins, the new senator from Illinois, enters the senate with an equipment that should insure great usefulness. Illinois is to be congratulated on having dropped "Billy" Mason.

A movement is reported in Ohio and Kentucky to make Judge Harmon the Democratic candidate for President in 1904. This is the third of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet officers to be mentioned for the honor. Lightning seems to play freely in the immediate vicinity of the disowned but indispensable Grover.

The use of grog to keep people from falling down is such a success in East Liverpool that the wonder is it has not been tried sooner. For the benefit of strangers, however, it should be explained that the grog used comes from the potteries and not from the saloons.

The lieutenant governor of South Carolina is in jail. He ought to have been put there long ago, instead of being put in office. A state where such men as the Tillmans can gain office or honor shows a disgraceful disregard of its own reputation.

A proposition will go before council at its next meeting, which, if accepted, will result in immediate steps being taken to provide an adequate water supply for the East End. There are few problems of greater moment at present confronting the city, and action should be prompt.

The free coal bill has been passed by congress and signed by the president. Perhaps the coal trust will now be ready to give notice that it has coal to sell rather than to keep.

A Chicago club is about to add fuel to the flame caused by the gambling mania by offering a ton of coal as a prize in a progressive euchre contest.

The coal trust is likely to learn that it is no light matter to arouse the wrath of 80,000,000 of people.

LEETONIA GRANTS RIGHTS OF WAY

Leetonia, January 16.—The town council has granted a franchise to Max P. Goodman and his associates of the Youngstown & Ohio River Electric railroad for a line through Leetonia. According to the franchise the main line is to come to Leetonia from Canfield through Calla, Greenford and Washingtonville.

Thomas a Becket.

In 1538, when Henry VIII. rooted up Thomas a Becket's grave and erased his name from the scroll of saints, he also ordered that all pictures, stained glass windows and frescoes bearing upon the life of this saint should be destroyed. In some churches where St. Thomas was held in special honor the law was evaded by superimposing another picture over the forbidden one. On the north wall of the church at South Newington, near Banbury, England, there is a crudely executed fresco of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. From the effects of age and damp this fresco is gradually disappearing, and now through the colossal donkey on which our Lord is represented riding can be seen the figure of the murdered archbishop prone on the chancel steps. Gradually, possibly, the whole underlying fresco of the murder of St. Thomas at Canterbury will come into view, and it is evidently of far higher artistic merit than the hastily executed covering one.

Not of Our Killing.

When Senator Gallinger was practicing medicine in his New Hampshire home, he had a coachman who was a "character" worthy of the attention of any writer of fiction. On one occasion Dr. Gallinger was called professionally at a house next to a residence on which was displayed black crape as a sign of death. A passerby, noticing the crape and not knowing who had died there, supposed Dr. Gallinger was in the house and that his coachman could give the desired information. The coachman seemed to take the inquiry as a personal affront and bristled up in martial style.

"I don't know," he retorted promptly. "It's not of our killin'—it's not of our killin'."

Then he pulled his horse up so as to avoid any further suspicion that he was waiting for the doctor to come out of the house with the badge of mourning.—Washington Star.

Trollope Disagreed.

Although Anthony Trollope never smoked, he liked being with those who did. It soothed his nerves, he said, and sent him to sleep. On one occasion, when he had just returned to London from South Africa, he was talking at the Cosmopolitan club to Lord Carnavon, Lord Derby, Froude, the historian, Lord Wolseley and one or two others equally famous on the future of that country. In the midst of the discussion Trollope fell asleep, and after a quarter of an hour's doze he awoke, shaking himself together like the faithful, growling Newfoundland dog he so much resembled. Dissentient even in his unconsciousness, he spluttered forth: "I utterly disagree with every one of you. What is it you said?"

Rain and Plants.

Many persons must have noticed that the most diligent sprinkling of lawns and flower beds fails to impart to the grass and plants a vital stimulus equal to that which comes from a good shower of rain. A correspondent reminds us of the reason for the difference. It is because rain, falling from a great height through the air, brings with it a considerable quantity of carbonic acid, of nitrogenous particles and of other elements nutritious to plants which it has washed out of the atmosphere. So a sprinkler used from the top of a tall building might be slightly more effective than when employed at the surface of the ground.

WELLSVILLE

THE COAL FAMINE BECOMING SERIOUS

ONE WELLSVILLE FAMILY CHOPS UP FURNITURE FOR FUEL.

Dealers Cannot Get One Fourth Enough Fuel to Supply the Demand.

The coal famine in Wellsville is fast reaching an alarming state and unless coal is to be had soon, great suffering among many Wellsville families will result, particularly among those whose homes are not connected up for gas.

Many families are entirely out of a supply and either depend upon the gas, or use what kindling wood they are able to get together about their yards.

One poor family in the West End, entirely out of coal, have been chopping up old furniture and using it for fuel. Another family in the same part of the city are tearing down a new board fence piece by piece for fuel. Neither family have gas.

All of the local dealers seem unable to obtain a supply although their orders have been placed early. They have been promised an early shipment, but have been unable to get enough to supply one fourth of the demands.

Although the weather at the present time is not very cold, still were the gas supply to give out, much more suffering would follow and desperate means would be resorted to. Many a citizen who is out of coal has stated that were the gas supply to give out he would even go so far as to jump on the freight trains passing through the city and throw off a supply of coal which he would then carry to his home.

Many families have already resorted to gathering coal from the railroad as it has fallen from passing freight trains.

TRADES COUNCIL

Will Hold a Special Meeting January 29 When Mr. E. W. Hill Will Speak.

At the regular meeting the Trades and Labor Council held last evening a communication was received from City Clerk McQueen acknowledging receipt of the resolution on sidewalks passed by Trades and Labor Council at their last meeting.

It was decided to hold an open meeting of the council on the evening of January 29, at which time E. W. Hill of East Liverpool, has consented to address the council on the subject, "Value Received."

J. C. Reading and A. S. Campbell, two delegates from the Retail Clerks' union, were received last evening by Trades Council. A committee was appointed to confer with Postmaster T. R. Snowden to ascertain whether the city can secure free delivery or not. The committee is composed of Joseph Ault, S. E. Smith and C. C. Evans.

SPEEDWAY MUCH IN USE

Fast Horses And Their Owners Were Out In Force On Fifth Street.

Fifth street was the scene again last evening of the usual sport and merriment attendant to sleigh riding. A dozen or more owners of fast horses and elegant new cutters sped alond the thoroughfare and their fun was enjoyed very much by a large number of spectators.

The street was not so thickly covered with snow on previous occasions but a thickness of ice made quite compact by much driving rendered the speedway in perfect condition.

Thomas a Becket.

In 1538, when Henry VIII. rooted up Thomas a Becket's grave and erased his name from the scroll of saints, he also ordered that all pictures, stained glass windows and frescoes bearing upon the life of this saint should be destroyed. In some churches where St. Thomas was held in special honor the law was evaded by superimposing another picture over the forbidden one. On the north wall of the church at South Newington, near Banbury, England, there is a crudely executed fresco of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. From the effects of age and damp this fresco is gradually disappearing, and now through the colossal donkey on which our Lord is represented riding can be seen the figure of the murdered archbishop prone on the chancel steps. Gradually, possibly, the whole underlying fresco of the murder of St. Thomas at Canterbury will come into view, and it is evidently of far higher artistic merit than the hastily executed covering one.

Not of Our Killing.

When Senator Gallinger was practicing medicine in his New Hampshire home, he had a coachman who was a "character" worthy of the attention of any writer of fiction. On one occasion Dr. Gallinger was called professionally at a house next to a residence on which was displayed black crape as a sign of death. A passerby, noticing the crape and not knowing who had died there, supposed Dr. Gallinger was in the house and that his coachman could give the desired information. The coachman seemed to take the inquiry as a personal affront and bristled up in martial style.

"I don't know," he retorted promptly. "It's not of our killin'—it's not of our killin'."

Then he pulled his horse up so as to avoid any further suspicion that he was waiting for the doctor to come out of the house with the badge of mourning.—Washington Star.

Trollope Disagreed.

Although Anthony Trollope never smoked, he liked being with those who did. It soothed his nerves, he said, and sent him to sleep. On one occasion, when he had just returned to London from South Africa, he was talking at the Cosmopolitan club to Lord Carnavon, Lord Derby, Froude, the historian, Lord Wolseley and one or two others equally famous on the future of that country. In the midst of the discussion Trollope fell asleep, and after a quarter of an hour's doze he awoke, shaking himself together like the faithful, growling Newfoundland dog he so much resembled. Dissentient even in his unconsciousness, he spluttered forth: "I utterly disagree with every one of you. What is it you said?"

Rain and Plants.

Many persons must have noticed that the most diligent sprinkling of lawns and flower beds fails to impart to the grass and plants a vital stimulus equal to that which comes from a good shower of rain. A correspondent reminds us of the reason for the difference. It is because rain, falling from a great height through the air, brings with it a considerable quantity of carbonic acid, of nitrogenous particles and of other elements nutritious to plants which it has washed out of the atmosphere. So a sprinkler used from the top of a tall building might be slightly more effective than when employed at the surface of the ground.

WELLSVILLE

THE COAL FAMINE BECOMING SERIOUS

ONE WELLSVILLE FAMILY CHOPS UP FURNITURE FOR FUEL.

Dealers Cannot Get One Fourth Enough Fuel to Supply the Demand.

The coal famine in Wellsville is fast reaching an alarming state and unless coal is to be had soon, great suffering among many Wellsville families will result, particularly among those whose homes are not connected up for gas.

Many families are entirely out of a supply and either depend upon the gas, or use what kindling wood they are able to get together about their yards.

One poor family in the West End, entirely out of coal, have been chopping up old furniture and using it for fuel. Another family in the same part of the city are tearing down a new board fence piece by piece for fuel. Neither family have gas.

All of the local dealers seem unable to obtain a supply although their orders have been placed early. They have been promised an early shipment, but have been unable to get enough to supply one fourth of the demands.

Although the weather at the present time is not very cold, still were the gas supply to give out, much more suffering would follow and desperate means would be resorted to. Many a citizen who is out of coal has stated that were the gas supply to give out he would even go so far as to jump on the freight trains passing through the city and throw off a supply of coal which he would then carry to his home.

Many families have already resorted to gathering coal from the railroad as it has fallen from passing freight trains.

TRADES COUNCIL

Will Hold a Special Meeting January 20 When Mr. Hill

Will Speak.

At the regular meeting the Trades and Labor Council held last evening a communication was received from City Clerk McQueen acknowledging receipt of the resolution on sidewalks passed by Trades and Labor Council at their last meeting.

It was decided to hold an open meeting of the council on the evening of January 29, at which time E. W. Hill of East Liverpool, has consented to address the council on the subject, "Value Received."

J. C. Reading and A. S. Campbell, two delegates from the Retail Clerks' union, were received last evening by Trades Council. A committee was appointed to confer with Postmaster T. R. Snowden to ascertain whether the city can secure free delivery or not. The committee is composed of Joseph Ault, S. E. Smith and C. C. Evans.

SPEEDWAY MUCH IN USE

Fast Horses And Their Owners Were Out In Force On Fifth Street.

Fifth street was the scene again last evening of the usual sport and merriment attendant to sleigh riding. A dozen or more owners of fast horses and elegant new cutters sped alond the thoroughfare and their fun was enjoyed very much by a large number of spectators.

The street was not so thickly covered with snow on previous occasions but a thickness of ice made quite compact by much driving rendered the speedway in perfect condition.

Death of An Ex-Slave.

Alliance, January 16.—Cuthbert Fairfield, aged 70 years, an ex-slave owned at the outbreak of the civil war by the governor of Virginia, is dead here. Fairfield escaped to Ohio, handcuffed to another slave, and was assisted to Alliance by the "underground railway." He later served with the Nineteenth Ohio infantry and located here after the war.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1903.

TWELVE PAGES.

There is to be another convention of the National Good Roads association next spring. It will convene in St. Louis on April 27. Fifty thousand invitations have been sent out and the result will doubtless be a large gathering of friends of road reform from every part of the country. The road movement is making progress. The work of the agricultural department in promoting it; the effect of the notice of the postoffice department that rural free delivery will be maintained nowhere except where roads are passably good; the agitation of the question by organizations formed for that purpose; discussions at farmers' meetings, by the press and in state legislatures, are all awakening the people and will bear much good fruit in time. Millions of dollars are now being expended annually, where only hundreds of thousands were expended before in the building of roads. The investment is found to pay, wherever scientific and common sense methods are substituted for the wasteful and careless systems hitherto employed. The Youngstown Telegram, in commenting upon the condition of the roads in Mahoning county—which certainly cannot be worse than in Columbiana county—proposes that, instead of scraping dirt into the roads for the next rain to wash out, there be a concentration of effort, and that each township construct at least one mile of macadamized road each year. The suggestion is worthy of heed, and the money thus expended would be paid back many times over in a few years in enhanced value of farm lands and in the saving of time, labor, horseflesh and wear and tear of vehicles, to say nothing of the advantages of abolishing the farmer's isolation and adding to his comfort and conveniences.

With an experience of eighteen years in congress, the most of the time a member of the ways and means committee, and long legal training, Hopkins, the new senator from Illinois, enters the senate with an equipment that should insure great usefulness. Illinois is to be congratulated on having dropped "Billy" Mason.

A movement is reported in Ohio and Kentucky to make Judge Harmon the Democratic candidate for President in 1904. This is the third of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet officers to be mentioned for the honor. Lightning seems to play freely in the immediate vicinity of the disowned but indispensable Grover.

The use of grog to keep people from falling down is such a success in East Liverpool that the wonder is it has not been tried sooner. For the benefit of strangers, however, it should be explained that the grog used comes from the potteries and not from the saloons.

The lieutenant governor of South Carolina is in jail. He ought to have been put there long ago, instead of being put in office. A state where such men as the Tillmans can gain office or honor shows a disgraceful disregard of its own reputation.

A proposition will go before council at its next meeting, which, if accepted, will result in immediate steps being taken to provide an adequate water supply for the East End. There are few problems of greater moment at present confronting the city, and action should be prompt.

The free coal bill has been passed by congress and signed by the president. Perhaps the coal trust will now be ready to give notice that it has coal to sell rather than to keep.

A Chicago club is about to add fuel to the flame caused by the gambling mania by offering a ton of coal as a prize in a progressive euchre contest.

The coal trust is likely to learn that it is no light matter to arouse the wrath of 80,000,000 of people.

Dissentient even in his unconsciousness, he spluttered forth: "I utterly disagree with every one of you. What is it you said?"

Rain and Plants.

Many persons must have noticed that the most diligent sprinkling of lawns and flower beds fails to impart to the grass and plants a vital stimulus equal to that which comes from a good shower of rain. A correspondent reminds us of the reason for the difference. It is because rain, falling from a great height through the air, brings with it a considerable quantity of carbonic acid, of nitrogenous particles and of other elements nutritious to plants which it has washed out of the atmosphere. So a sprinkler used from the top of a tall building might be slightly more effective than when employed at the surface of the ground.

WELLSVILLE

THE COAL FAMINE BECOMING SERIOUS

ONE WELLSVILLE FAMILY CHOPS UP FURNITURE FOR FUEL.

Dealers Cannot Get One Fourth Enough Fuel to Supply the Demand.

The coal famine in Wellsville is fast reaching an alarming state and unless coal is to be had soon, great suffering among many Wellsville families will result, particularly among those whose homes are not connected up for gas.

Many families are entirely out of a supply and either depend upon the gas, or use what kindling wood they are able to get together about their yards.

One poor family in the West End, entirely out of coal, have been chopping up old furniture and using it for fuel. Another family in the same part of the city are tearing down a new board fence piece by piece for fuel. Neither family have gas.

All of the local dealers seem unable to obtain a supply although their orders have been placed early. They have been promised an early shipment, but have been unable to get enough to supply one fourth of the demands.

Although the weather at the present time is not very cold, still were the gas supply to give out, much more suffering would follow and desperate means would be resorted to. Many a citizen who is out of coal has stated that were the gas supply to give out he would even go so far as to jump on the freight trains passing through the city and throw off a supply of coal which he would then carry to his home.

Many families have already resorted to gathering coal from the railroad as it has fallen from passing freight trains.

Will Hold a Special Meeting January 29 When E. W. Hill

Will Speak.

At the regular meeting the Trades and Labor Council held last evening a communication was received from City Clerk McQueen acknowledging receipt of the resolution on sidewalks passed by Trades and Labor Council at their last meeting.

It was decided to hold an open meeting of the council on the evening of January 29, at which time E. W. Hill of East Liverpool, has consented to address the council on the subject, "Value Received."

J. C. Reading and A. S. Campbell, two delegates from the Retail Clerks' union, were received last evening by Trades Council. A committee was appointed to confer with Postmaster T. R. Snowden to ascertain whether the city can secure free delivery or not. The committee is composed of Joseph Ault, S. E. Smith and C. C. Evans.

SPEEDWAY MUCH IN USE

Fast Horses And Their Owners Were Out In Force On Fifth Street.

Fifth street was the scene again last evening of the usual sport and merriment attendant to sleigh riding. A dozen or more owners of fast horses and elegant new cutters sped alond the thoroughfare and their fun was enjoyed very much by a large number of spectators.

The street was not so thickly covered with snow on previous occasions but a thickness of ice made quite compact by much driving rendered the speedway in perfect condition.

NEW OFFICERS WERE SWORN IN

Street Commissioner's Bills Ordered Paid—Matter of Bond Issue Discussed.

The regular meeting of the Chester council did not last much longer than a half hour last night. All the newly elected officials were present and all took the oath of office except Mayor-elect Mercer, who had already been sworn in by Solicitor Marshall. The new members are as follows: Councilmen, First ward, J. C. Cunningham; Second ward, E. S. Johnston; Third ward, J. M. R. Hobbs; Fourth ward R. H. Dunn; Fifth ward, Thomas B. Anderson; recorder, J. Howard Maxwell. The councilmen took the oath of office first and later in the evening Mr Maxwell was sworn in, he having reached the council chamber late.

Member Wells and Solicitor Marshall were absent at the meeting. Mr Johnston reported that the street committee had met with Arch Severs, the street commissioner, and the bills which were deferred at the last meeting had been explained to them in a satisfactory manner. They recommended that council pay the bills. One for $79 was ordered paid and also another for grading done on First and Second streets for $143 was also paid. Mayor Shrader said that he would settle with Mr. Severs and the amount of the bills could be taken from his assessments. A few other bills were ordered paid. Among these were a few bills which it was said should be paid from money arising from the proposed bond sale.

At this juncture Mr. Wetzell said that these bills should not be permitted to run over, as they had already been outstanding a long time and should be settled. Besides that, he continued, there would have to be a new bond issue. To issue new bonds a new ordinance will have to be passed in council authorizing an election. The citizens will then have to vote on the question again, and no matter how it goes the town will be compelled to pay for the street work which has been partly finished. This is a question which will have to be decided by the new council.

Mayor Shrader then appointed an auditing committee to examine the books and records of the town sargeant and recorder. The committee, which consists of Messrs. Hough Johnston and Riley, will meet at the town hall Wednesday evening at 6:30. These reports must be handed in to council and acted upon by that body not later than January 29, the last Thursday in the month. The new officials will assume the duties of their offices on February 1. Their terms are for one year each. Council having but little business to transact adjourned shortly after 8 o'clock.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING KILLED

Man in a Sleigh While Passing Along the Road Nearly Shot By Hunters.

A narrow escape from being shot is reported from one of the hunting parties out of Chester a couple of days ago. Several parties, including John McBee and E. S. Good, were hunting out on the Fairview road Wednesday when the accident happened. While they were hunting Roy Pittinger drove by in a sleigh. It appears that the hunters were shooting in the direction of the road, and the back of the sleigh was badly shattered with shot.

The report was first circulated that Pittinger had a lady with him and that a picture was tacked on the back of the sleigh. It was reported that McBee asked permission to show them how badly he could spoil the picture. Without waiting for a reply he pulled his shot gun to his shoulder and fired. The load was said to have taken effect in the lady's shoulder. This story was traced down and it was found to be an exaggerated report. Pittinger was alone in the sleigh and while driving past the woods where the party was hunting was surprised to hear shot falling around and also to have the back of the sleigh filled with shot.

Had the aim of the hunter been a trifle higher Mr. Pittinger would have received the full effects of the shot in his back. The accident happened on the Fairview road about a mile from Chester. McBee is a brother of the missing Bud McBee, who is wanted for shooting Arch Bruce, and this probably accounts for the story being so greatly exaggerated.

COUNCIL MEETING

Will Be a Special Session—Sargeant And Solicitor to Be Chosen.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the new Chester council to be held at city hall Monday evening, February 2. The notices were being distributed this morning by Recorder-elect Maxwell. The object of the meeting is to select a town sergeant, a street commissioner and a solicitor. There are a number of avowed candidates for the position of sergeant, among them being the present incumbent. No one has been spoken of for street commissioner aside from Mr. Severs, and it is expected that he will have no difficulty in being given the position for another year.

O. S. Marshall, the present solicitor, has not yet said whether he is a candidate for re-election or not. No one has been spoken of for this place. The call for the meeting requests that all applications for positions to be filled at the meeting of council be handed to the new recorder, Mr. Maxwell, not later than Saturday, January 31.

Dogs to Be Muzzled.

The residents of Fairview are considerably agitated over a mad dog scare. A dog belonging to Samuel Mills began acting strangely yesterday afternoon. It would lie in the road and when a horse or team passed would snap viciously. So far as known no horses or dogs were bitten by the mad animal, but it is still at large. An effort was made to capture the animal last night, but it could not be found. Persons living in that vicinity are greatly alarmed over the failure to capture the dog, and will keep their dogs muzzled for some time in order to prevent any one from being bit.

Enjoyable Affair.

The reception tendered yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Allison, near Chester, to their son, and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Allison, was a very pleasant affair. Only the relatives and family were present and all sat down to a family dinner about 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Mr. Allison has a large circle of relatives at Chester and both he and his bride were given the best wishes of all. The couple will reside in the East End. Mr. Allison is a conductor on the East Liverpool Street Railway company.

Idle for 24 Hours.

The Chester tin mill started up again yesterday after being idle for about 24 hours. The shut down in every department was caused by lack of coal. Every effort was made by the officials to secure a supply of coal large enough for them to keep running. However, they were unable to secure the coal and on Wednesday at noon the mill closed. A good supply of coal was received yesterday morning and work was resumed.

New Church Organization.

The permanent organization of the new Presbyterian church will be effected Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the U. P. church in Chester. The choir of the First Presbyterian church of East Liverpool will be present and furnish the music. Either Rev. N. M. Crowe, of the East End, Rev. Mr. McKee, of Wellsville, will preach the sermon. All persons interested in the movement are requested to be present.

Golden Eagles.

The regular meeting of the Golden Eagles was held last night at their hall. Logan Wells was initiated and several applications were received. The lodge has been very successful in the past few months and has received a large number of new members.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is a business visitor in Wheeling today.

J. D. Allison is seriously ill at his home near Chester with rheumatism.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will give an oyster supper to night at the parsonage, near Third and Carolina avenue, for the benefit of the church.

E. S. Johnston yesterday sold a lot on Indiana avenue to his brother, W. C. Johnston.

Wilby Govey, near Chester, is still confined to the house on account of serious illness.

G. A. Arner this morning bought a lot between Columbiana and California streets, from E. S. Johnston for $1,000.

A sledload of young people from Chester will attend a dance tonight at Hookstown. They are anticipating an enjoyable evening.

Street Commissioner's Bills Ordered Paid—Matter of Bond Issue Discussed.

The regular meeting of the Chester council did not last much longer than a half hour last night. All the newly elected officials were present and all took the oath of office except Mayor-elect Mercer, who had already been sworn in by Solicitor Marshall. The new members are as follows: Councilmen, First ward, J. C. Cunningham; Second ward, E. S. Johnston; Third ward, J. M. R. Hobbs; Fourth ward R. H. Dunn; Fifth ward, Thomas B. Anderson; recorder, J. Howard Maxwell. The councilmen took the oath of office first and later in the evening Mr Maxwell was sworn in, he having reached the council chamber late.

Member Wells and Solicitor Marshall were absent at the meeting. Mr. Johnston reported that the street committee had met with Arch Severs, the street commissioner, and the bills which were deferred at the last meeting had been explained to them in a satisfactory manner. They recommended that council pay the bills. One for $79 was ordered paid and also another for grading done on First and Second streets for $143 was also paid. Mayor Shrader said that he would settle with Mr. Severs and the amount of the bills could be taken from his assessments. A few other bills were ordered paid. Among these were a few bills which it was said should be paid from money arising from the proposed bond sale.

At this juncture Mr. Wetzell said that these bills should not be permitted to run over, as they had already been outstanding a long time and should be settled. Besides that, he continued, there would have to be a new bond issue. To issue new bonds a new ordinance will have to be passed in council authorizing an election The citizens will then have to vote on the question again, and no matter how it goes the town will be compelled to pay for the street work which has been partly finished. This is a question which will have to be decided by the new council.

Mayor Shrader then appointed an auditing committee to examine the books and records of the town sargeant and recorder. The committee, which consists of Messrs. Hough Johnston and Riley, will meet at the town hall Wednesday evening at 6:30 These reports must be handed in to council and acted upon by that body not later than January 29, the last Thursday in the month. The new officials will assume the duties of their offices on February 1. Their terms are for one year each. Council having but little business to transact adjourned shortly after 8 o'clock.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING KILLED

Man in a Sleigh While Passing Along the Road Nearly Shot By Hunters.

A narrow escape from being shot is reported from one of the hunting parties out of Chester a couple of days ago. Several parties, including John McBee and E. S. Good, were hunting out on the Fairview road Wednesday when the accident happened. While they were hunting Roy Pittinger drove by in a sleigh. It appears that the hunters were shooting in the direction of the road, and the back of the sleigh was badly shattered with shot.

The report was first circulated that Pittinger had a lady with him and that a picture was tacked on the back of the sleigh. It was reported that McBee asked permission to show them how badly he could spoil the picture. Without waiting for a reply he pulled his shot gun to his shoulder and fired. The load was said to have taken effect in the lady's shoulder. This story was traced down and it was found to be an exaggerated report. Pittinger was alone in the sleigh and while driving past the woods where the party was hunting was surprised to hear shot falling around and also to have the back of the sleigh filled with shot.

Had the aim of the hunter been a trifle higher Mr. Pittinger would have received the full effects of the shot in his back. The accident happened on the Fairview road about a mile from Chester. McBee is a brother of the missing Bu. McBee, who is wanted for shooting Arch Bruce, and this probably accounts for the story being so greatly exaggerated.

COUNCIL MEETING

Will Be a Special Session—Sargeant And Solicitor to Be Chosen.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the new Chester council to be held at city hall Monday evening, February 2. The notices were being distributed this morning by Recorder elect Maxwell. The object of the meeting is to select a town sergeant, a street commissioner and a solicitor. There are a number of avowed candidates for the position of sergeant, among them being the present incumbent. No one has been spoken of for street commissioner aside from Mr. Severs, and it is expected that he will have no difficulty in being given the position for another year.

O. S. Marshall, the present solicitor, has not yet said whether he is a candidate for re-election or not. No one has been spoken of for this place. The call for the meeting requests that all applications for positions to be filled at the meeting of council be handed to the new recorder, Mr. Maxwell, not later than Saturday, January 31.

Dogs to Be Muzzled.

The residents of Fairview are considerably agitated over a mad dog scarce. A dog belonging to Samuel Mills began acting strangely yesterday afternoon. It would lie in the road and when a horse or team passed would snap viciously. So far as known no horses or dogs were bitten by the mad animal, but it is still at large. An effort was made to capture the animal last night, but it could not be found. Persons living in that vicinity are greatly alarmed over the failure to capture the dog, and will keep their dogs muzzled for some time in order to prevent any one from being bit.

Enjoyable Affair.

The reception tendered yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Allison, near Chester, to their son, and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Allison, was a very pleasant affair. Only the relatives and family were present and all sat down to a family dinner about 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Mr Allison has a large circle of relatives at Chester and both he and his bride were given the best wishes of all. The couple will reside in the East End. Mr. Allison is a conductor on the East Liverpool Street Railway company.

Idle for 24 Hours.

The Chester tin mill started up again yesterday after being idle for about 24 hours. The shut down in every department was caused by lack of coal. Every effort was made by the officials to secure a supply of coal large enough for them to keep running. However, they were unable to secure the coal and on Wednesday at noon the mill closed. A good supply of coal was received yesterday morning and work was resumed.

New Church Organization.

The permanent organization of the new Presbyterian church will be effected Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the U. P. church in Chester. The choir of the First Presbyterian church of East Liverpool will be present and furnish the music. Elther Rev. N. M Crowe, of the East End, Rev. Mr. McKee, of Wellsville, will preach the sermon. All persons interested in the movement are requested to be present.

Golden Eagles.

The regular meeting of the Golden Eagles was held last night at their hall. Logan Wells was initiated and several applications were received. The lodge has been very successful in the past few months and has received a large number of new members.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is a business visitor in Wheeling today.

J. D. Allison is seriously ill at his home near Chester with rheumatism.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E church will give an oyster supper tonight at the parsonage, near Third and Carolina avenue, for the benefit of the church.

Wilby Govey, near Chester, is still confined to the house on account of serious illness.

G. A. Arner this morning bought a lot between Columbiana and California streets, from E. S. Johnston for $1,000.

A sledload of young people from Chester will attend a dance tonight at Hookstown. They are anticipating an enjoyable evening.

POPULAR INTEREST IN PHYSICAL CULTURE

Almost a Craze in the Schools And Colleges of the Country.

The growing interest in physical exercise or physical culture, as it is called in polite circles, has led to a demand for physical directors or instructors that cannot be met by the 20 recognized schools in this country devoted exclusively to the training of men and women for the new profession of physical culture directorship.

The demand is so great simply because of the rapidly growing interest in "gym" work. Fully 90,000 men exercise regularly in the 500 gymnasiums of the Y. M. C. A. Nearly 40,000 men and women exercise in 255 German Turner societies, and there are 300 college and "prep" schools all busy developing healthy young men and women.

Harvard university has 2,000 men who work in her gymnasium. The New York Athletic club has 4,000 lockers used by athletes who work in the gymfence, box or swim, or take some kind of athletic exercise regularly.

The various cities of the first class are beginning to add physical culture to the public school courses. Physical culture has so grown in importance and popularity as to amount almost to a craze.

ALL FIXED NOW EXCEPT THE DATE

Lutz And Miller Will Box 15 Rounds the Latter Part of This Month.

Lawrence Lutz has returned from Beaver Falls, where he met the manager of Charley Miller, the Pennsylvania lad who has been so anxious to get another go with him. The arrangements were all agreed to with the exception of the date, which is to be decided later. It will be some time in the latter part of this month and before the Nonpareil Athletic club at Beaver Falls. The bout will be for 15 rounds instead of 10, as is usually the case in a contest for a decision.

Lutz can hardly get in the best of condition, as he has scarcely more than a week in which to train. His work for his fight with Harry Lemons left him in fairly good condition, however, and he will not require the usual amount of training. Miller's friends think he is a whole lot better than he was when Lutz won the decision over him and they will probably have some money to back their opinion.

A ROYAL FLUSH

Pittsburg Poker Players Have a Controversy As to What It Is.

Pittsburg poker players have been interested in a dispute over the make-up of a royal flush. An argument started in a game out Fifth avenue the other night and a good-sized wager was put up on the contention. One man asserted that the royal flush started from the king and ranged downward, being ,therefore, king, queen, jack, ten and nine of a suit. He based this reasoning on the fact that centuries ago, when playing cards came to the front the royal families issued a decree that the ace should not outrank the king, who was the boss of all. The ace, therefore, was only to count from the bottom, or in other words, ace was ever low.

The man who took the other end of the wager insisted that poker was an American game and that custom had made the ace high, as well as low, therefore, a royal flush started with the ace.

The dispute was submitted to a New York paper, which ruled, according to report, that the king was the highest. However, this ruling was challenged and the affair was put before Captain William A. Pierce, of Boston, for final decision.

Captain Pierce rules in favor of the ace first.

OLD BALL PLAYER DEAD

Peter J. Conway, formerly of Pittsburg, And Detroit Has Passed Away.

Peter J. Conway, one of the best-known baseball players of this country, is dead at Chester, Pa., age 35 years. He helped Detroit win the pennant in 1888.

The death of Conway will recall to old patrons of the game the period when the man figured as a member of the Pittsburghs. The local club bough his release from Detroit for a large sum. Conway had displayed wonderful speed when with the Detroits and had ended the season with a long string of victories. To the amazement of the baseball world when Conway reported for duty in Pittsburg in the spring he was unable to get up any speed whatever, but other reasons were intimated. He was given rest by the management, but the member did not improve and the club was compelled to admit that it had been "gold bricked."

Conway might well be called the first genuine gold brick unloaded on the Pittsburg club. Jimmy Donnelly, who was secured in the famous deal with Brodie, was the only "star bunco goods" ever bought by the Pittsburg club.

A GREAT GAME OF BASKET BALL

To Be Played at Alliance Tomorrow Evening By Locals and Mt. Union College.

The first basket ball team of the Y. M. C. A., chaperoned by Physical Director Stephens, will leave tomorrow evening for Alliance, where they will contest with the Mt. Union college team. The locals have practiced hard for the game and are confident of a victory, notwithstanding that the college team is one of the strongest in the state.

The Y. M. C. A. lineup will be as follows: Allison and Bloor, forwards; Rigby and Powell, centers; Chadwick and Watkin, guards.

Each aggregation is confident of victory tonight and Joe Herbert's bunch have been trying to secure bets of enormous proportions on the event. The outcome is being looked forward to with much interest.

A SPEEDY HORSE

Bought Recently By Harrison Rinehart, Has Arrived in the City from Pennsylvania.

Harrison Rinehart is jubilant over the arrival of his fast horse, Joan which he recently purchased at Johnstown, Pa. The animal is a prize and her owner feels justly proud of her. She is a half sister to Dan Patch, and has to her credit a record of 2:14 ¾.

Many admirers of horse flesh have paid the new arrival a visit, and all pronounce her a fine appearing racer.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

James J. Corbett has sent $2,500 to Al Smith, New York city, as a forfeit for a match with Jeffries.

Tim Kearns, of Boston, and Art Simms, of Akron, will box six rounds at Milwaukee on January 30.

Tommy Feltz and Kid Goodman who are old rivals, have been matched again. They are to meet at the Lenox Athletic club, Boston, January 23.

Frank Erne, the ex-lightweight champion, and Matty Matthews have agreed to meet at Pittsburg February 23, and if the pair can agree upon the weight question the match is as good as clinched.

P. J. Donovan, once manager of the Pittsburg base ball team, now leader of the St. Louis club, writes a friend confirming the report that he intends to play base ball again this coming season. He goes with Cleveland.

James Mason learned that Jack Munroe and his manager, Clark Ball, have planned to visit Pittsburg in a few days, and at once wired Munroe an offer to referee the McClelland-Boyle contest in Allegheny next Saturday night.

"Papa," said little Gladys, coming into his study, "there is a poor, hungry looking man at the door, and he wants to see you."

"Tell him to come in, my dear."

A moment later the caller was ushered into the room. He was a lean, cadaverous man, shabbily dressed and had no overcoat. He looked around the richly furnished apartment, then at the pictures on the walls and finally at the occupant of the luxurious easy chair.

At last he spoke.

POPULAR INTEREST IN PHYSICAL CULTURE

Almost a Craze in the Schools And Colleges of the Country.

The growing interest in physical exercise or physical culture, as it is called in polite circles, has led to a demand for physical directors or instructors that cannot be met by the 20 recognized schools in this country devoted exclusively to the training of men and women for the new profession of physical culture directorship.

The demand is so great simply because of the rapidly growing interest in "gym" work. Fully 50,000 men exercise regularly in the 500 gymnasiums of the Y. M. C. A. Nearly 40,000 men and women exercise in 255 German Turner societies, and there are 300 college and "prep" schools all busy developing healthy young men and women.

Harvard university has 2,000 men who work in her gymnasium. The New York Athletic club has 4,000 lockers used by athletes who work in the gymfence, box or swim, or take some kind of athletic exercise regularly.

The various cities of the first class are beginning to add physical culture to the public school courses. Physical culture has so grown in importance and popularity as to amount almost to a craze.

ALL FIXED NOW EXCEPT THE DATE

Lutz And Miller Will Box 15 Rounds the Latter Part of This Month.

Lawrence Lutz has returned from Beaver Falls, where he met the manager of Charley Miller, the Pennsylvania lad who has been so anxious to get another go with him. The arrangements were all agreed to with the exception of the date, which is to be decided later. It will be some time in the latter part of this month and before the Nonpareil Athletic club at Beaver Falls. The bout will be for 15 rounds instead of 10, as is usually the case in a contest for a decision.

Lutz can hardly get in the best of condition, as he has scarcely more than a week in which to train. His work for his fight with Harry Lemons left him in fairly good condition, however, and he will not require the usual amount of training. Miller's friends think he is a whole lot better than he was when Lutz won the decision over him and they will probably have some money to back their opinion.

A ROYAL FLUSH

Pittsburg Poker Players Have a Controversy As to What It Is.

Pittsburg poker players have been interested in a dispute over the make-up of a royal flush. An argument started in a game out Fifth avenue the other night and a good-sized wager was put up on the contention. One man asserted that the royal flush started from the king and ranged downward, being therefore, king, queen, jack, ten and nine of a suit. He based this reasoning on the fact that centuries ago, when playing cards came to the front the royal families issued a decree that the ace should not outrank the king, who was the boss of all. The ace, therefore, was only to count from the bottom, or in other words, ace was ever low.

The man who took the other end of the wager insisted that poker was an American game and that custom had made the ace high, as well as low, therefore, a royal flush started with the ace.

The dispute was submitted to a New York paper, which ruled, according to report, that the king was the highest. However, this ruling was challenged and the affair was put before Captain William A. Pierce, of Boston, for final decision.

Captain Pierce rules in favor of the ace first.

OLD BALL PLAYER DEAD

Peter J. Conway, formerly of Pittsburg, And Detroit Has Passed Away.

Peter J. Conway, one of the best-known baseball players of this country, is dead at Chester, Pa., age 35 years. He helped Detroit win the pennant in 1888.

The death of Conway will recall to old patrons of the game the period when the man figured as a member of the Pittsburghs. The local club bough his release from Detroit for a large sum. Conway had displayed wonderful speed when with the Detroits and had ended the season with a long string of victories. To the amazement of the baseball world when Conway reported for duty in Pittsburg in the spring he was unable to get up any speed whatever, but other reasons were intimated. He was given rest by the management, but the member did not improve and the club was compelled to admit that it had been "gold bricked."

Conway might well be called the first genuine gold brick unloaded on the Pittsburg club. Jimmy Donnelly, who was secured in the famous deal with Brodie, was the only "star bunco goods" ever bought by the Pittsburg club.

A GREAT GAME OF BASKET BALL

To Be Played at Alliance Tomorrow Evening By Locals and Mt. Union College.

The first basket ball team of the Y. M. C. A., chaperoned by Physical Director Stephens, will leave tomorrow evening for Alliance, where they will contest with the Mt. Union college team. The locals have practiced hard for the game and are confident of a victory, notwithstanding that the college team is one of the strongest in the state.

The Y. M. C. A. lineup will be as follows: Allison and Bloor, forwards; Rigby and Powell, centers; Chadwick and Watkin, guards.

Will Bowl on the Imperial Alleys This Evening Before Interested Spectators.

On the Imperial alleys tonight the four teams of the East Liverpool Bowling league will do battle. These teams have bowled regularly every week for several months and at the present time excitement is at a fever heat.

Each aggregation is confident of victory tonight and Joe Herbert's bunch have been trying to secure bets of enormous proportions on the event. The outcome is being looked forward to with much interest.

A SPEEDY HORSE

Bought Recently By Harrison Rinehart, Has Arrived in the City from Pennsylvania.

Harrison Rinehart is jubilant over the arrival of his fast horse, Joan which he recently purchased at Johnstown, Pa. The animal is a prize and her owner feels justly proud of her. She is a half sister to Dan Patch, and has to her credit a record of 2:14 ¼.

Many admirers of horse flesh have paid the new arrival a visit, and all pronounce her a fine appearing racer.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

James J. Corbett has sent $2,500 to Al Smith, New York city, as a forfeit for a match with Jeffries.

Tim Kearns, of Boston, and Art Simms, of Akron, will box six rounds at Milwaukee on January 30.

Tommy Feltz and Kid Goodman who are old rivals, have been matched again. They are to meet at the Lenox Athletic club, Boston, January 23.

Frank Erne, the ex-lightweight champion, and Matty Matthews have agreed to meet at Pittsburg February 23, and if the pair can agree upon the weight question the match is as good as clinched.

P. J. Donovan, once manager of the Pittsburg base ball team, now leader of the St. Louis club, writes a friend confirming the report that he intends to play base ball again this coming season. He goes with Cleveland.

James Mason learned that Jack Munroe and his manager, Clark Ball have planned to visit Pittsburg in a few days, and at once wired Munroe an offer to referee the McClelland Boyle contest in Allegheny next Saturday night.

Odds and ends in men's shirts and sweaters, former price from 25c to $1, during this sale, 17c, 27c and 37c.

We think we have given you a sufficient list of the great things we intend to close out, so you had better take the opportunity by coming to our store during this sale and partake of the good things we have in store for you. No doubt you are aware that good things dont last long, and do not think for a moment that these are all the good things we have, as quoted above. Nay! Nay! Pauline. Our store contains many more good things, and this is the time of the year that a merchant considers $1.00 in money of more value to him than $2.00 in merchandise.

He will emphasize these objections in his lecture and try to create an ambition for better things.

These lectures have become immensely popular with the young men and they are well attended. A cordial invitation is extended to all. At this meeting the questions received during the week will be answered by the lecturer.

A Dog Story.

An elderly clergyman living some few miles from a market town and somewhat absentminded withal was in the habit of driving there weekly, where he put up his horse at a particular inn, his dog always in attendance. One day when returning with a friend he was much annoyed to discover that the dog was missing and insisted on driving back to find him. The inn was reached, and there, sure enough, was the dog, and not only the dog, but the parson's horse as well. The hostler had put another horse into the vehicle, but the dog, recognizing the mistake, elected to stay with his animal friend rather than return with his master.—"Letter of a Dog Lover."

FRIENDS OF THE LATE WINNIE MERCER

and the fact that Mercer usually carried a large sum of money on his person are advanced as the motive for the murder. It will be remembered that about a month ago the clerk of the Langham hotel was handed an order for an envelope that has been deposited in the hotel safe by Mercer. The bearer of the note was an imposter. The clerk, suspecting nothing wrong, handed the bearer an envelope. It proved to be the wrong one, containing instead of the money, nothing but the railroad tickets of the players.

Nothing daunted, the swindlers prepared another note but this time the clerk grew suspicious and refused to hand over the valuable envelope. It was stated at the time that both the letters were clever imitations of Mercer's handwriting. This incident has led his friends to suspect that all three of the letters found among his effects are forgeries and that they were written to divert suspicion.

There are many other incidents of a like nature that cannot be reconciled to the well known traits of the dead man. From the meagre dispatches from San Francisco it is hard to determine just what is in the theory. His friends are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the body, which is accompanied by men who are in a position to know all the details and then the whole sad story can be learned.

and the fact that Mercer usually carried a large sum of money on his person are advanced as the motive for the murder. It will be remembered that about a month ago the clerk of the Langham hotel was handed an order for an envelope that has been deposited in the hotel safe by Mercer. The bearer of the note was an imposter. The clerk, suspecting nothing wrong, handed the bearer an envelope. It proved to be the wrong one, containing instead of the money, nothing but the railroad tickets of the players.

Nothing daunted, the swindlers prepared another note but this time the clerk grew suspicious and refused to hand over the valuable envelope. It was stated at the time that both the letters were clever imitations of Mercer's handwriting. This incident has led his friends to suspect that all three of the letters found among his effects are forgeries and that they were written to divert suspicion.

There are many other incidents of a like nature that cannot be reconciled to the well known traits of the dead man. From the meagre dispatches from San Francisco it is hard to determine just what is in the theory. His friends are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the body, which is accompanied by men who are in a position to know all the details and then the whole sad story can be learned.

SUNDAY LECTURE

By Rev. Dr. Pratt Will Contain Wholesome And Valuable Advice to Young Men.

"The Size of a Man" is the subject Rev. Dr. Pratt has chosen for his lecture at the opera house next Sunday afternoon, it being the third of the series under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Pratt objects to a man leading a third-rate life. He objects to him seeking five-cent literature, cheap cigars and bad whisky when he wants a little pleasure. He will emphasize these objections in his lecture and try to create an ambition for better things.

These lectures have become immensely popular with the young men and they are well attended. A cordial invitation is extended to all. At this meeting the questions received during the week will be answered by the lecturer.

A Dog Story.

An elderly clergyman living some few miles from a market town and somewhat absentminded withal was in the habit of driving there weekly, where he put up his horse at a particular inn, his dog always in attendance. One day when returning with a friend he was much annoyed to discover that the dog was missing and insisted on driving back to find him. The inn was reached, and there, sure enough, was the dog, and not only the dog, but the parson's horse as well. The hostler had put another horse into the vehicle, but the dog, recognizing the mistake, elected to stay with his animal friend rather than return with his master.—"Letter of a Dog Lover."

20TH YEAR. NO. 13. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1903. TWO CENTS.

Was Winnie Mercer murdered? This is the question that is now agitating scores of his friends in this city.

From the very first announcement that he had died by his own hand, friends in this city were loath to believe it. The story did not sound plausible to them because of the absolute lack of motive. They knew Winnie Mercer too well to believe that any trivial reason would cause him to take such a step and knew, too, that there were many attachments that made life too dear to him and that he loved his aged mother so dearly that he would have endured almost any earthly burden rather than have caused the grief that is now hers.

The suspicion that it was foul play was reluctantly thrown aside by many of his friends when the news dispatches, without exception, indicated that it was a case of self-destruction. There are a number of the dead man's more intimate friends, however, who all along have refused to believe the published statements of the affair. Every detail given in the press was scanned by them in the hope of finding some discrepancy that would prove a tangible ground for their suspicions.

Until last evening the ranks of those who still believed that he had met with foul play were almost depleted but today there are hundreds who are again firm in the belief. Friends who are familiar with every characteristic of the dead man have found so much that apparently sustains the foul play theory that before tonight has passed it is expected a message will be sent to the chief of the San Francisco police, asking him to make the closest possible investigation.

A News Review reporter talked to day with several of the very closest friends of the dead man and from them he learned upon just what grounds they are basing their belief. The theory they advance covers almost every detail of the sad affair.

One of the first things to arouse suspicion was the statement that appeared in a press dispatch from San Francisco that the rubber pipe used by Mercer to conduct the gas pipe to his mouth was clenched tightly between his teeth. It is well known that the muscles of a person who has been overcome by gas are entirely relaxed and this being the case the rubber tube, could not have been clenched between his teeth. Several local physicians, who were interviewed, support this statement.

Another detail that aroused suspicion was the purported letter written by him and addressed to his mother. Either the letter is a gross fraud or it has been badly garbled in transmission across the continent. Those who are in a position to know state that Mercer was never known to sign his name Winnie, and further that neither the expressions contained in the letter nor the style in which it was written were his. In this letter as printed was the statement: "Give my love to my brothers and sisters." The dead man they claim, never penned this statement, as there is no sister. The dispatches also spoke of his well known handwriting. Those who are acquainted with it state that it has no peculiarities.

A very intimate friend of the dead man states that Mercer very often stopped at the Occidental hotel. From this they reason that it is not at all likely that he would have gone there willingly and registered under an assumed name. They also reason that had he desired to end his life he would have chosen some obscure and quiet hotel, rather than the Occidental, which is one of the largest in San Francisco.

It is reasoned that a man about to take his life in the manner Mercer is reputed to have used would not have removed all his clothing. The use of the rubber tubing connecting with the gas pipe insured death in a very short time, is the explanation for this. If he did remove his clothing, it is argued that the coat would have been the first garment removed. This would have been placed on a chair and the other garments would have been placed on top. It is not at all likely, it is claimed, that after being all ready to accomplish his purpose he would arise from the bed and secure his coat from the bottom of the pile when one of the bed covers or a sheet, which were nearer at hand, would have sufficed as well. The press dispatches stated that his coat was drawn around his head.

The note which was found at his side containing these words: "Tell Mr Van Horn that Winnie Mercer has taken his life," were never written by Mercer, his friends say. The reasons they give are that it is written in the third person, instead of the first, like the letter addressed to Mrs. Mercer and that Mercer never used his nick name.

The incident of the attempt to rob Mercer and his companions by forged letters to the clerk of the hotel at which the two teams were stopping

HEARING GIVEN IN ROBISON CASE

PETITION FOR PARDON TAKEN UNDER CONSIDERATION.

Senator Connell Appears Before Pardon Board in His Client's Behalf.

Columbus, January 16.—(Special)—The application of Zach S. Robison serving a life sentence for second degree murder, was formally presented to the state board of pardons yesterday by Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, Robison's attorney. Mr. Connell talked for 30 minutes in his client's behalf. The members asked many questions and took the case under advisement. Their decision will probably be announced at the next monthly meeting, the rule being to keep cases under advisement for 30 days before reporting a decision.

Robison's application is signed by most of the officials of Columbiana county, a number of jurors before whom he was tried and many leading citizens of East Liverpool, where the crime he was convicted of was committed. There are signers from Brailville, near Pittsburg the former home of Robison. A statement of the record of the case, prepared by Prosecutor Jason H. Brookes, was filed with the board, but Mr. Brookes' name does not appear on the application. Attorney Connell read a letter to the board written by Robison, in which he stated he desired a pardon and not a parole. He would be satisfied with a conditional pardon, but wants no parole because under it he could not leave the state.

Alluding to an evident disinclination on the part of Judge P. M. Smith of Wellsville, who was the trial judge in the case, to endorse his application for a pardon, Robison said he would not stultify his manhood by begging or cringing for this clemency and instructed his attorney to cease importuning the judge in his behalf. "I never knowingly committed a crime. am no criminal, never have been one and never expect to be one," said he.

SUIT AGAINST A STEPFATHER

Columbiana Man Wants $550 For Caring For His Mother, Now Deceased.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—George W. Mentzer, of Columbiana, through his attorney, F. A. Witt, has sued Alvin A. Talbott, administrator of the estate of Mary A. Talbott, deceased, asking judgment for $550 with interest from July 24, 1901. The plaintiff, who is a son of the deceased, alleges that the defendant, his stepfather, is indebted to him for the board, washing and nursing of Mrs. Talbott from April 5, 1901, to July 24, 1901, the latter being the date of her death, in the sum named.

The attentions are alleged to have been given the deceased at her request. The administrator refused to pay the claim when a written statement of it was presented to him on Dec. 6, 1902.

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special)—Jesse Burgham and Lizzie Hopkin both of East Palestine, has been licensed to wed.

SLEEPERS SURROUNDED BY FLAME

Narrow Escape of a Sebring Family From Being Cremated in Their Beds.

Sebring, January 16.—(Special.)—Fire at about 1 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the residence of Joseph Hartley and during its progress of raging several members of the family had most exciting experiences and very narrow escapes from death.

The members of the household all sleep upstairs and Mr. Hartley was awakened by the inhalation of smoke which had filled his sleeping apartment. Arising quickly he ran downstairs to ascertain the cause and was horrified upon opening the kitchen door at seeing that room one mass of flames.

The opening of the door provided a draft and in a moment the flames had set the adjoining room on fire. Instead of arousing the family, Mr. Hartley attempted to extinguish the fire and by so doing he nearly caused the loss of life to his wife and three children. They slept immediately above one of the rooms that was burning and did not awake until their sleeping apartment was a blaze.

One of the four was aroused in time and gave the alarm. All were frightened so badly that they hardly knew which direction to flee, and this put them in an exceedingly precarious position. They, however, collected their thoughts and before making any rash move found their way to the outside and safety.

Nothing but smoking embers remain to give evidence of the occurrence Hartley estimates his loss, it being total, at $300. The house was the property of Frank Sebring, and was fully insured.

A SERIOUS COASTING MISHAP

LITTLE GIRL KNOCKED DOWN AND BADLY HURT.

A bad coasting accident occurred on the hill near the Pleasant Heights school yesterday afternoon.

A number of the scholars were sliding down the hill which at that point is very steep. They had been cautioned to be careful on account of the high rate of speed that was attained along the course. As is usual in such cases there were a number ascending the hill as others went down.

Paul Gibson was mounted upon the fastest sled on the hill and when midway between the top of the hill and the road below his sled struck little Evelyn Smith, knocking her down and severely injuring her. She struck the ice with such force that she was rendered unconscious for a time.

Other scholars hastened to her side and with the aid of a large sled conveyed her to the home of her parents nearby. The side of her head was badly bruised, she receiving injuries to her left side which will keep her indoors for some time to come, while one of her ankles is severely sprained She suffered a great deal last night.

Going to California.

Barnard Rand will start for Los Angeles, California, next Monday via St. Louis. Mr. Rand will be accompanied by Hugh Newell, of Newell, W. Va.; Mrs. Dr. Barnes, Mr. Newell's daughter and his granddaughter. Mr. Rand expects to be absent several months, and in California will be the guest of his friend, Mr. Hunter and family, formerly of Wellsville.

ANGRY FATHER INVOKED CURSES ON JUDGE'S SON

Lisbon, January 16.—(Special.)—Moses Hoyle, the Salem lad, was before Judge Boone again yesterday afternoon and was ordered sent to the reform school. The parents of the boy remonstrated against the action of the court and both were present at the first hearing Wednesday. On this account the matter was taken under advisement and Mrs. George Holmes, the Salem member of the county board of visitors, was instructed to investigate the lad's home surroundings. From the report submitted and other members of the visiting board decided that it would be best to send the boy to Lancaster.

The father appeared in court again yesterday afternoon and denounced the authorities in unmeasured terms for their action. He with his arms raised toward heaven, prayed in a loud voice that a son of Judge Boone some day be sent to the reform school. There were quite a number of spectators in Judge Boone's office at the time and much excitement was created.

STEPS TO AVERT WATER FAMINE

WORK WILL COST $16,000

Manufacturers Propose to Advance the Money for the Proposed 12-Inch Main, the City to Pay Half of the Interest.

If the city council is willing to pay the one-half of a 6 per cent rate of interest for a limited period, the five mammoth manufacturing concerns together with the citizens generally who inhabit the East End will have a water supply acequate in every way to insure them against the fire demon and all other inconveniences which result from an insufficient service at the hands of the water works department.

The meeting which was held at the office of the water department yesterday afternoon was well attended and had for its object the consideration of a better water supply for the East End. There were present, Messrs Jacob Shenkel, H. A. Keffer and W. L. Smith, of the water works board; Joseph G. Lee, of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles and Potters' Mining and Milling company; Louis I. Aaron W. E. Wells, F. D. Kitchel, Home Laughlin China company; Messrs Marshall, Peach and McConnell, of the council, and Clerk Gipner and Superintendent Morley, of the water works department.

The fact was brought out in the beginning that neither the manufacturing establishments nor the property owners themselves are sufficiently protected in the matter of a water supply to secure an insurance rate that they would be able to stand. Indeed the owners of factories there are unable to obtain any. It was shown that in the down town districts the concerns had two sources from which to draw and were thereby enabled to get good rates at all times. W. E. Wells did most of the talking for the interested parties from the suffering community and his arguments were reasonable and logical and from the outcome they had their effect.

Superintendent Phil Morley was asked to make an estimate of the probable cost of constructing a 12 inch main, and informed the party he has already done so. As near as he could come to it the work could be done at a cost of $16,500. If it was thought that a 10 inch line would be sufficient it could be constructed for about $1,500 less.

Everyone present was convinced it would be foolhardy for the department or the city to put in anything less than a 12 inch main. This belief was prompted by the knowledge that at the rate which the East End is growing at present, it will not be many years until the larger sort of feeder would be necessary. Therefore it may as well be put in first as last.

That question disposed of, the one next in importance was the manner in which the money necessary for the improvement was to be raised. The representatives of the manufacturers they were prepared to advance the money provided it was returned in water rents and the trustees or the council would pay the interest. It was estimated that 6 per cent. would be a sufficient rate, and the committee from council was asked if it would be possible to have the city pay the interest.

At first the committee refused to have anything to do with the matter holding that it would be purely a question for the water works trustees to adjust. Dr. Marshall and Mr Peach insisted that nothing could be done, giving as the reason that the condition of the city's finances would not permit it.

After a short conference the trustees proposed that the manufacturers pay the full rate of interest for a period of 5 years, calculating that it would take 10 years for the arrangements to adjust themselves, and that at the end of that time or before, the debt would either be worked out or the trustees would assume the payment of interest. This was not satisfactory and the entire question was finally settled by the East End parties agreeing to pay a half, or 3 per cent., and the committee of council promising to recommend to that body that the other half estimated at about $480, be paid by it.

A LEAK IN A GAS PIPE NEARLY KILLED FAMILY

Gas escaping at the home of Edward Wyman, in McKinnon's addition on the north side of the city, came dangerously near resulting in the death of every member of the household on Monday night. Even though they were almost miraculously saved, all are now suffering ill effects and it is thought that sometime will elapse before they have fully recovered.

The family consists of Mr. Wyman, his wife and an infant child. To the latter, strange to say, is credited the escape of the trio. All had retired early and were soon asleep. Through out the winter Mr. Wyman has allowed the gas in the stove to burn freely during the night, as a protection to the child. No accidents having occurred, not the least alarm or uneasiness was felt upon this occasion. At about 1 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Wyman was aroused from a deep sleep by an extraordinary noise made by her baby.

The little one was crying pitifully and at the same time vomiting and in terrible agony. Several minutes were required to fully restore Mrs. Wyman, the gas having also taken effect upon her. When she finally realized the situation she started to the bed of her husband. She had much difficulty in arousing him. He had also fallen a victim. He was, however, finally made to know the true situation and he commenced, though feeling very bad himself, to assist his wife and baby. In less than half an hour all three became violently ill, each vomiting and gagging terribly.

Mr. Wyman was the worst effected of all and it was feared for a time that he would not recover. He staggered around the house and finally fell to the floor. By daylight all had partially recovered and are now anticipating no serious results.

Investigation proved that a leak in the gas pipe was the cause of the awful experience.

THE CARROLLTON POTTERY PROJECT

Progress Being Made and an Agreement Will Soon Be Drawn and Signed.

One of the propositions submitted by the town of Carrollton to the promoters of the new pottery plant for that city will likely be accepted within the next 10 days, and it will mean that the little capital of Carroll county is to have an enterprise that will give employment to several hundred people. The town has done her part and it is now up to the promoters.

Elmer L. Henderson, assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery, is largely interested in the project and when seen by a News Review reporter this morning admitted that the propositions submitted by the city were now under consideration by himself and associates. Interested with him are C. and A. E. Albright, of Sebring, and several other gentlemen whose names have not been given to the public.

The proposition which has found the most favor with the promoters is the one offering them free the site for the plant, the necessary switches, a water supply and a loan of $60,000 for the period of two years without interest, with the privilege of an extension of the loan for a number of years at 6 per cent interest. About the only stipulations made by the city are that no salaries shall be paid to persons not actually in the employ of the plant and that the salaries of the officers and managers shall not exceed those usually paid for the same work.

About the only advantage to be had at Carrollton is cheap coal. It is mined in the immediate neighborhood and can be had at a low figure. The town is located on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad and has as good shipping facilities by rail as East Liverpool. The plant will be five kilns and will be equipped with the latest modern machinery. It will make semi-porcelain ware.

So far the proposition has been favorably received by the promoters and it will no doubt be accepted in the near future, when the necessary legal agreement will be entered into. Work is to be commenced on the plant within 30 days after the signing of the contract.

Mr. Henderson will not be active in the management of the new plant, if it is built. He will continue his duties as assistant manager of the William Brunt pottery.

VACLE PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

It Means the Erection And Equipment of a New Office Building.

One of the most important real estate deals closed in this city during the past month occurred this afternoon when the Nagle property, located on Sixth street, adjoining the property of the Ohio Valley Gas company, passed into the hands of the Union Building, Loan & Trust company and Geo. H. Owen & Co.

The deal was closed at a late hour this afternoon by a committee appointed from both concerns. While it is not definitely known the consideration is said to have been in the neighborhood of $11,000. The purchase of this site was made for the purpose of in the near future erecting one of the handsomest and most substantial office buildings in the city. The dimensions of the purchase are 80x130 feet, but the building will not be so large.

It is the intention of the purchasers to build and equip the first story of the building for their own accommodation. It will be divided into two apartments, each company to use one of them as offices. The second story and the third, if a third is built, will be so constructed as to be valuable for office quarters. The plans and specifications for the new structure have not yet been completed, but will be placed in the hands of an architect before long.

A NOTORIOUS WOMAN DIED IN PITTSBURG

Becky Saunders, Who Had a Local Police Record, Is No More.

Word was received at the city hall this morning of the death in Pittsburg last Sunday of "Becky" Saunders, the notorious colored woman, well known in police circles here. The cause of death was typhoid fever, from which she had suffered for several weeks.

"Becky" figured in a number of escapades in and about this city in her time. It was she, who last October, picked Pete Corson's pocket, securing $50. Pete was a Wellsville man and was known to be very intimate with the Saunders woman. He never got his money, nor was "Becky" ever punished for the crime.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

MERCER'S POTTERY DAYS.

When Winnie Mercer came to this city in the neighborhood of sixteen years ago one of the first things he did was to seek employment in one of the local potteries. He found it in the packing room at the K. T. & K., and it was perhaps the only place he worked up until he won fame as a ball player. N. T. Ashbaugh, or "Dory," as he is familiarly called, was then the boss packer at the K. T. & K., a position he has filled, by the way, for nearly half a century. He remembers distinctly the bashful, gentlemanly little fellow who worked for him as a straw boy. If Winnie were alive today and seeking a position he could not ask for a better recommendation than the one given him by his task master of fifteen years ago. "Winnie was a gentlemanly little fellow even in those days," said Mr. Ashbaugh to a News Review reporter, "and he is about the only boy who ever worked for me that was not impudent at one time or another. Winnie never answered me back when I told him to do a thing but he always obeyed with alacrity. He had his heart in his work and he never shirked."

Winnie was popular with the other apprentices and it was probably in the packing shed that he was given the name by which he is known to almost the whole nation. During the noon hour and in the evenings he and the other boys played baseball in the alleyway and along the street. Then a team from the packing shed was organized with Mercer as the pitcher and many games were played with other pottery teams. Since Winnie's death these days were recalled in a conversation between Col. Taylor, Joseph G. Lee and Mr. Ashbaugh and the two last named gentlemen also remember his being employed in the packing shed. Mr. Lee remembers that on one occasion while he was passing the boys at play Winnie accidentally hit him with the ball.

Mr. Ashbaugh has a picture of the entire packing force at the time that Winnie was a member of it. Many of the other boys who were strawing ware or serving apprenticeships are now well known and highly respected citizens. Wash Williams is now a packer at the East Liverpool, Charles Kent is the boss packer at the Goodwin, Fred Howard is in the packing department at the Homer Laughlin, J. Herbert Smith and Henry Smith, now in charge of the warehouse at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, David Ninsinger is still in his old employment, Charles Knoblock is a packer at D. E. McNicol's, Leslie Ashbaugh is a packer at the West End, Henry Dailey was last heard of in St. Paul, Butler Peterson is a packer for the Ohio China company at East Palestine, Will Curfman studied for and was admitted to the ministry and William Moore is dead.

"Winnie never paid a visit to this city that he did not come around to the packing shed to see the boys," said Mr. Ashbaugh, "and often would jokingly ask me for a job."

KILNMEN TONIGHT.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 will meet in regular session this evening and the attendance will likely be large, as the members are beginning to manifest great interest in the affairs of the local. One reason for this is the approaching election for delegates to the convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will be held in Wheeling next May. No. 9 will have in the neighborhood of 11 delegates, and they are to be selected at the last meeting in February. As yet no names have been publicly mentioned as candidates.

BREAK AT THE SEVRES.

There was a break this morning in the machinery in the slip house at the Sevres and all the clay hands had to lay off by noon. It is thought it will take until Tuesday to make the necessary repairs and the clay hands will be compelled to loaf until that time.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Misses Mary and Blanche Palmer left today for Industry, where they will make a brief visit with relatives.

Adam Hawley, who until recently was employed in the warehouse at Cartwright's, left this morning for New Brigaton.

Grub Street, London.

Up to the seventeenth century Grub street was on the outskirts of London. It was a street tenanted by bowyers, fletchers, makers of bowstrings and everything else that appertained to archery. Later on John Fox lived in Grub street, though he did not write his famous "Book of Martyrs" there. Fox's residence in Grub street occurred about 1572. John Speed, the tailor archaeologist, was a resident of Grub street, where he was famous as the most responsible parent, having a family of twelve sons and six daughters. Grub street of old and Milton street today is noted for its great number of alleys and courts.

From Grub street issued such famous old literary skits as "Jack the Giant Killer," "Tom Hickathrift," "The Wise Men of Gotham" and scores of others now a part of every boy's library. Probably literary men first began to populate Grub street in any numbers during Cromwell's time. Then a great number of seditious and libelous pamphlets were circulated, and as the authors for safety had to seek obscure living places they found a fitting retreat in the maze of alleys which webbed the Grub street section. At any rate, by the commencement of the eighteenth century Grub street had become quite notorious as the poor authors' quarter of London.

Man and His Chin.

In man the front of the lower jawbone possesses a well marked projection, known as the chin or mental prominence, covered by a fleshy pod of corresponding shape. In all other backboned animals the jawbone slopes back without any such protuberance. It is a singular fact that the presence of a well marked chin is associated with firm character and well marked intellectual qualities. This is one of the best founded rules in character delineation by physiognomy. The late Professor Huxley used to illustrate the matter by drawing a profile with good chin on the blackboard and then wiping out the chin and replacing it by a receding curve. Any one who repeats the experiment will be surprised at the result. The reason is not clear, but we may perhaps say that a well developed jaw is associated with good digestive powers, which have more to do with character than one might at first sight suppose.

Antiquity of Grains.

Nearly all the grains now in use are of unknown antiquity. Wheat was cultivated in all latitudes as far back in the past as we have authentic knowledge. Barley is thought to have originated in the Caucasus, but it was known and used everywhere in the most ancient times. Oats, like rye, were unknown in ancient India and Egypt and among the Hebrews. The Greeks and Romans received it from the north of Europe. Had there been an early civilization on this continent the wild oats found here and there would probably have developed into the useful cereal now considered absolutely essential to the proper nourishment of horses. This continent is credited with having given Indian corn to the old world, but this useful cereal was doubtless known in India and China many hundred years before the discovery of America.

On Principle.

Bert (nervously)—I heard pa tell ma he was goin' to flog me on principle after prayers tonight. Where's principle, Billy?

Billy—I think it's somewhere at the back, Bert. The last time he flogged me on principle I had to sit sideways for more'n a fortnight.—London Tit-Bits.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

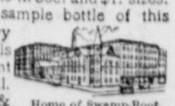

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

FIVE BOYS KILLED.

Coasters Struck By a Train on Philadelphia and Reading Railroad.

SIXTH VICTIM FATALLY INJURED

Blood and Bones on the Pilot of the Engine Gave the Engineer the First Intimation of the Horrible Occurrence—Three Fatally Injured.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 16.—Five boys, whose ages range from 13 to 15 years, while coasting last night, were struck by a train on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad and instantly killed, and another was fatally injured.

The Dead.

Dennis McGinley, John Coyle, Owen Cahill, Patrick Cahill and an unknown boy who was mangled beyond recognition.

John Heuber, the sixth victim, is said to be at the point of death.

The boys were coasting on a bobsled. The railway crosses the street at the bottom of the hill and the sled and express train reached the crossing simultaneously. The engineer was not aware of the tragedy until he reached the station, a mile distant from the scene of the accident, when the blood and bones on the pilot of the engine gave him the first intimation of the occurrence.

Three Fatally Injured.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 16.—A party of eight young persons were coasting on Mulberry street last night, when their sled ran into a telegraph pole. Miss Esther Costerline, Miss Jennie Segmans and William Van Bergen sustained injuries which, it is believed, will result in their deaths. Christopher Peiffer, who was steering the sled, escaped with slight injuries.

Brought Down From Heaven.

According to Mohammedan belief, the first copy of the Koran, or Alkoran, their sacred book, was brought down from the highest to the lowest heaven by Gabriel on the mysterious night of Al Khade in the month of Ramadan. This wonderful book, written in heaven and bound in satin, jewels and gold, was communicated to Mohammed at different times during a period of twenty-three years. This was done, according to Mohammedan belief, either by Gabriel in human shape or by God himself. When Gabriel acted as translator and communicator, he did so "with a great sound of music and bells." God appeared either "veiled or unveiled during Mohammed's waking hours or during dreams at night."

Virginia's Only Slave.

The state of Virginia once owned a slave, the only one probably the commonwealth ever did own. He was known as Ben the Bell Ringer of the University of Virginia. The university only had $200 left over when it was endowed, and it was proposed to buy a negro with this amount and keep him as a bell ringer. They bought Ben, and in his time he became a great character at the university. He knew everybody and was very useful to everybody. Ben used to get very drunk on the liberal and constant fees he received from students. He died in the Albemarle poorhouse at an advanced age.

EAST END

SMALL FIRE IN EAST END

George Judy's Residence in Oakland Slightly Damaged, a Lounge Taking Fire.

The fire department was called out in the East End yesterday afternoon to the residence of George Judy, in Oakland, on Holiday street. The department was called by telephone by some carpenters who saw smoke coming out of the windows of Mr. Judy's residence. It was found that a lounge had caught fire from a gas stove and a large hole was burned in the floor.

Aside from that but little other damage was done. The department had but little trouble in extinguishing the blaze. The loss will not exceed $25.

Good Meetings.

The service last night at the Second U. P. church proved to be very interesting. Rev. William Duncan preached a good sermon on "Jesus Passing." Tonight's service will be of more than ordinary interest and a large congregation is expected. The subject will be "That Young Man" and what we Owe Him." A good musical program is promised and the theme for the evening being one of great interest to church people generally, it is expected that the church will be crowded.

Growing in Interest.

The meetings at the Presbyterian church at Smith's Ferry are growing in interest. The quartet of the Second Presbyterian church of the East End attended last night and gave some special music. Rev. Mr. Crowe preached an able sermon and expects to continue the meetings at least another week. The meetings at the Second Presbyterian church will be commenced the last of this month or about the first of February.

Milk Wagon Overturned.

The driver of the milk wagon belonging to Kenneth Davidson had an exciting experience yesterday between the East End and Smith's Ferry. While coming down the hill at Neville institute, the wagon overturned, throwing the horses to the ground and breaking the neck of one of them. The driver was thrown out and all the contents of the wagon. Luckily the driver was not injured.

Made a Fraternal Visit.

Several members of the P. H. C. from the East End attended the meeting of Stratton circle in the city last night. They report one of the best meetings they have ever attended. There was a good literary program and music, after which a luncheon was served. The supper was one of the best ever given by any lodge in the city.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William Ralph left this morning for a short business visit in Steubenville.

A small child of John Crawford, of the Klondike, is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. J. F. Caldwell, of Railroad street, left this morning for a short visit with realtives at Youngstown.

James W. Jamison has written his family in the East End, from Culpeper, Va., that his father is in a very critical condition and is not expected to live.

A very enjoyable party was given last night at the home of Archie Putnam, on Maple street. Eight couples from Ohioville were present and a large number of young people from the East End. An oyster supper was served and the evening was spent very pleasantly with music and games.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

B. C. Ansley is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in East Liverpool or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new Specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident is he that this remarkable medicine will effect a cure, quickly and lasting, that he offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia, and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well, and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling.

Take advantage of B. C. Ansley's challenge and secure a bottle of Dr. Howard's specific at half price, with his personal guarantee to refund your money if it does not help you.

EVENING COIFFURE.

The Low Coil Finds Comparatively Few Wearers.

There is immense variety in the coiffure, but despite the lowering of the collar the low type of hairdressing has comparatively few followers. It is seen mostly in the evening. The tucked in pompadour arrangement with a cue at the back has been too extensively patronized to be much in favor with the smart woman, and it is certainly a fashion which lacks distinction when not completed by a handsome picture hat.

There is very little novelty in decorations for the hair, and the little wreaths of small flowers or foliage are still popular. The geisha arrangement of flowers is rather heavy. A cluster of rosebuds or violets with two or three wires headed by well cut stones which quiver with every movement has many admirers, and the wisp of tulle still has its adherents.

The coronet combs worn in front of the coil suggest the modified tiara, and the newest side and the back combs are thickly incrusted with gems.

A smart evening cloak is shown in the cut. It is made of pearl gray bengaline silk and maltese lace, with a lining of accordion plaited chiffon and lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

OUT OF DOOR GARMENTS.

Smart Carriage Wraps—Fur Lined Coats.

The fur day and evening wraps are anything if not classic, and the effect of Greek and Roman draperies is aimed at in the manipulations of velvets and furs.

Some very lovely carriage wraps are made in cloth, but cloth is no longer represented by hard and serviceable fabrics. It has a beautiful and supple finish, which renders it most becoming as well as warm and cozy. In these wraps the pale pastel shades are much in evidence.

One wrap recently seen was of pale cream cloth lined with emerald green satin. It had a big collar of green

panne, decorated with black and white bobs, and showed inner frills of lace and accordion plaited green chiffon. It was cut in the form of a coat of three-quarter length, stitched and strapped.

Some of the cloths, which have long hairy surfaces somewhat like zibeline, are smart for wraps.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL E. LIVERPOOL, O.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1903.

TWELVE PAGES.

There is to be another convention of the National Good Roads association next spring. It will convene in St. Louis on April 27. Fifty thousand invitations have been sent out and the result will doubtless be a large gathering of friends of road reform from every part of the country. The road movement is making progress. The work of the agricultural department in promoting it; the effect of the notice of the postoffice department that rural free delivery will be maintained nowhere except where roads are passably good; the agitation of the question by organizations formed for that purpose; discussions at farmers' meetings, by the press and in state legislatures, are all awakening the people and will bear much good fruit in time. Millions of dollars are now being expended annually, where only hundreds of thousands were expended before in the building of roads. The investment is found to pay, wherever scientific and common sense methods are substituted for the wasteful and careless systems hitherto employed. The Youngstown Telegram, in commenting upon the condition of the roads in Mahoning county—which certainly cannot be worse than in Columbiana county—proposes that, instead of scraping dirt into the roads for the next rain to wash out, there be a concentration of effort, and that each township construct at least one mile of macadamized road each year. The suggestion is worthy of heed, and the money thus expended would be paid back many times over in a few years in enhanced value of farm lands and in the saving of time, labor, horseflesh and wear and tear of vehicles, to say nothing of the advantages of abolishing the farmer's isolation and adding to his comfort and conveniences.

With an experience of eighteen years in congress, the most of the time a member of the ways and means committee, and long legal training, Hopkins, the new senator from Illinois, enters the senate with an equipment that should insure great usefulness. Illinois is to be congratulated on having dropped "Billy" Mason.

A movement is reported in Ohio and Kentucky to make Judge Harmon the Democratic candidate for President in 1904. This is the third of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet officers to be mentioned for the honor. Lightning seems to play freely in the immediate vicinity of the disowned but indispensable Grover.

The use of grog to keep people from falling down is such a success in East Liverpool that the wonder is it has not been tried sooner. For the benefit of strangers, however, it should be explained that the grog used comes from the potteries and not from the saloons.

The lieutenant governor of South Carolina is in jail. He ought to have been put there long ago, instead of being put in office. A state where such men as the Tillmans can gain office or honor shows a disgraceful disregard of its own reputation.

A proposition will go before council at its next meeting, which, if accepted, will result in immediate steps being taken to provide an adequate water supply for the East End. There are few problems of greater moment at present confronting the city, and action should be prompt.

The free coal bill has been passed by congress and signed by the president. Perhaps the coal trust will now be ready to give notice that it has coal to sell rather than to keep.

A Chicago club is about to add fuel to the flame caused by the gambling mania by offering a ton of coal as a prize in a progressive euchre contest.

The coal trust is likely to learn that it is no light matter to arouse the wrath of 80,000,000 of people.

Thomas a Becket.

In 1538, when Henry VIII. rooted up Thomas a Becket's grave and erased his name from the scroll of saints, he also ordered that all pictures, stained glass windows and frescoes bearing upon the life of this saint should be destroyed. In some churches where St. Thomas was held in special honor the law was evaded by superimposing another picture over the forbidden one. On the north wall of the church at South Newington, near Banbury, England, there is a crudely executed fresco of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. From the effects of age and damp this fresco is gradually disappearing, and now through the colossal donkey on which our Lord is represented riding can be seen the figure of the murdered archbishop prone on the chancel steps. Gradually, possibly, the whole underlying fresco of the murder of St. Thomas at Canterbury will come into view, and it is evidently of far higher artistic merit than the hastily executed covering one.

Not of Our Killing.

When Senator Gallinger was practicing medicine in his New Hampshire home, he had a coachman who was a "character" worthy of the attention of any writer of fiction. On one occasion Dr. Gallinger was called professionally at a house next to a residence on which was displayed black crape as a sign of death. A passerby, noticing the crape and not knowing who had died there, supposed Dr. Gallinger was in the house and that his coachman could give the desired information. The coachman seemed to take the inquiry as a personal affront and bristled up in martial style.

"I don't know," he retorted promptly. "It's not of our killin'—it's not of our killin'."

Then he pulled his horse up so as to avoid any further suspicion that he was waiting for the doctor to come out of the house with the badge of mourning.—Washington Star.

Trollope Disagreed.

Although Anthony Trollope never smoked, he liked being with those who did. It soothed his nerves, he said, and sent him to sleep. On one occasion, when he had just returned to London from South Africa, he was talking at the Cosmopolitan club to Lord Carnavon, Lord Derby, Froude, the historian, Lord Wolseley and one or two others equally famous on the future of that country. In the midst of the discussion Trollope fell asleep, and after a quarter of an hour's doze he awoke, shaking himself together like the faithful, growling Newfoundland dog he so much resembled. Dissentient even in his unconsciousness, he spluttered forth: "I utterly disagree with every one of you. What is it you said?"

Rain and Plants.

Many persons must have noticed that the most diligent sprinkling of lawns and flower beds fails to impart to the grass and plants a vital stimulus equal to that which comes from a good shower of rain. A correspondent reminds us of the reason for the difference. It is because rain, falling from a great height through the air, brings with it a considerable quantity of carbonic acid, of nitrogenous particles and of other elements nutritious to plants which it has washed out of the atmosphere. So a sprinkler used from the top of a tall building might be slightly more effective than when employed at the surface of the ground.

WELLSVILLE

THE COAL FAMINE BECOMING SERIOUS

ONE WELLSVILLE FAMILY CHOPS UP FURNITURE FOR FUEL.

Dealers Cannot Get One Fourth Enough Fuel to Supply the Demand.

The coal famine in Wellsville is fast reaching an alarming state and unless coal is to be had soon, great suffering among many Wellsville families will result, particularly among those whose homes are not connected up for gas.

Many families are entirely out of a supply and either depend upon the gas, or use what kindling wood they are able to get together about their yards.

One poor family in the West End, entirely out of coal, have been chopping up old furniture and using it for fuel. Another family in the same part of the city are tearing down a new board fence piece by piece for fuel. Neither family have gas.

All of the local dealers seem unable to obtain a supply although their orders have been placed early. They have been promised an early shipment, but have been unable to get enough to supply one fourth of the demands.

Although the weather at the present time is not very cold, still were the gas supply to give out, much more suffering would follow and desperate means would be resorted to. Many a citizen who is out of coal has stated that were the gas supply to give out he would even go so far as to jump on the freight trains passing through the city and throw off a supply of coal which he would then carry to his home.

Many families have already resorted to gathering coal from the railroad as it has fallen from passing freight trains.

TRADES COUNCIL

Will Hold a Special Meeting January 29 When E. W. Hill Will Speak.

At the regular meeting the Trades and Labor Council held last evening a communication was received from City Clerk McQueen acknowledging receipt of the resolution on sidewalks passed by Trades and Labor Council at their last meeting.

It was decided to hold an open meeting of the council on the evening of January 29, at which time E. W. Hill of East Liverpool, has consented to address the council on the subject, "Value Received."

J. C. Reading and A. S. Campbell, two delegates from the Retail Clerks' union, were received last evening by Trades Council. A committee was appointed to confer with Postmaster T. R. Snowden to ascertain whether the city can secure free delivery or not. The committee is composed of Joseph Ault, S. E. Smith and C. C. Evans.

SPEEDWAY MUCH IN USE

Fast Horses And Their Owners Were Out In Force On Fifth Street.

Fifth street was the scene again last evening of the usual sport and merriment attendant to sleigh riding. A dozen or more owners of fast horses and elegant new cutters sped along the thoroughfare and their fun was enjoyed very much by a large number of spectators.

The street was not so thickly covered with snow on previous occasions but a thickness of ice made quite compact by much driving rendered the speedway in perfect condition.

Death of An Ex-Slave.

Alliance, January 16.—Cuthbert Fairfield, aged 70 years, an ex-slave owned at the outbreak of the civil war by the governor of Virginia, is dead here. Fairfield escaped to Ohio, handcuffed to another slave, and was assisted to Alliance by the "underground railway." He later served with the Nineteenth Ohio infantry and located here after the war.

Street Commissioner's Bills Ordered Paid—Matter of Bond Issue Discussed.

The regular meeting of the Chester council did not last much longer than a half hour last night. All the newly elected officials were present and all took the oath of office except Mayor-elect Mercer, who had already been sworn in by Solicitor Marshall. The new members are as follows: Councilmen, First ward, J. C. Cunningham; Second ward, E. S. Johnston; Third ward, J. M. R. Hobbs; Fourth ward R. H. Dunn; Fifth ward, Thomas B. Anderson; recorder, J. Howard Maxwell. The councilmen took the oath of office first and later in the evening Mr Maxwell was sworn in, he having reached the council chamber late.

Member Wells and Solicitor Marshall were absent at the meeting. Mr. Johnston reported that the street committee had met with Arch Severs, the street commissioner, and the bills which were deferred at the last meeting had been explained to them in a satisfactory manner. They recommended that council pay the bills. One for $79 was ordered paid and also another for grading done on First and Second streets for $143 was also paid. Mayor Shrader said that he would settle with Mr. Severs and the amount of the bills could be taken from his assessments. A few other bills were ordered paid. Among these were a few bills which it was said should be paid from money arising from the proposed bond sale.

At this juncture Mr. Wetzell said that these bills should not be permitted to run over, as they had already been outstanding a long time and should be settled. Besides that, he continued, there would have to be a new bond issue. To issue new bonds a new ordinance will have to be passed in council authorizing an election. The citizens will then have to vote on the question again, and no matter how it goes the town will be compelled to pay for the street work which has been partly finished. This is a question which will have to be decided by the new council.

Mayor Shrader then appointed an auditing committee to examine the books and records of the town sargeant and recorder. The committee, which consists of Messrs. Hough Johnston and Riley, will meet at the town hall Wednesday evening at 6:30. These reports must be handed in to council and acted upon by that body not later than January 29, the last Thursday in the month. The new officials will assume the duties of their offices on February 1. Their terms are for one year each. Council having but little business to transact adjourned shortly after 8 o'clock.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING KILLED

A narrow escape from being shot is reported from one of the hunting parties out of Chester a couple of days ago. Several parties, including John McBee and E. S. Good, were hunting out on the Fairview road Wednesday when the accident happened. While they were hunting Roy Pittinger drove by in a sleigh. It appears that the hunters were shooting in the direction of the road, and the back of the sleigh was badly shattered with shot.

The report was first circulated that Pittinger had a lady with him and that a picture was tacked on the back of the sleigh. It was reported that McBee asked permission to show them how badly he could spoil the picture. Without waiting for a reply he pulled his shot gun to his shoulder and fired. The load was said to have taken effect in the lady's shoulder. This story was traced down and it was found to be an exaggerated report. Pittinger was alone in the sleigh and while driving past the woods where the party was hunting was surprised to hear shot falling around and also to have the back of the sleigh filled with shot.

Had the aim of the hunter been a trifle higher Mr. Pittinger would have received the full effects of the shot in his back. The accident happened on the Fairview road about a mile from Chester. McBee is a brother of the missing Bud McBee, who is wanted for shooting Arch Bruce, and this probably accounts for the story being so greatly exaggerated.

COUNCIL MEETING

Will Be a Special Session—Sargeant And Solicitor to Be Chosen.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the new Chester council to be held at city hall Monday evening, February 2. The notices were being distributed this morning by Recorder-elect Maxwell. The object of the meeting is to select a town sergeant, a street commissioner and a solicitor. There are a number of avowed candidates for the position of sergeant, among them being the present incumbent. No one has been spoken of for street commissioner aside from Mr. Severs, and it is expected that he will have no difficulty in being given the position for another year.

O. S. Marshall, the present solicitor, has not yet said whether he is a candidate for re-election or not. No one has been spoken of for this place. The call for the meeting requests that all applications for positions to be filled at the meeting of council be handed to the new recorder, Mr. Maxwell, not later than Saturday, January 31.

Dogs to Be Muzzled.

The residents of Fairview are considerably agitated over a mad dog scare. A dog belonging to Samuel Mills began acting strangely yesterday afternoon. It would lie in the road and when a horse or team passed would snap viciously. So far as known no horses or dogs were bitten by the mad animal, but it is still at large. An effort was made to capture the animal last night, but it could not be found. Persons living in that vicinity are greatly alarmed over the failure to capture the dog, and will keep their dogs muzzled for some time in order to prevent any one from being bit.

Enjoyable Affair.

The reception tendered yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Allison, near Chester, to their son, and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Allison, was a very pleasant affair. Only the relatives and family were present and all sat down to a family dinner about 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Mr. Allison has a large circle of relatives at Chester and both he and his bride were given the best wishes of all. The couple will reside in the East End. Mr. Allison is a conductor on the East Liverpool Street Railway company.

Idle for 24 Hours.

The Chester tin mill started up again yesterday after being idle for about 24 hours. The shut down in every department was caused by lack of coal. Every effort was made by the officials to secure a supply of coal large enough for them to keep running. However, they were unable to secure the coal and on Wednesday at noon the mill closed. A good supply of coal was received yesterday morning and work was resumed.

New Church Organization.

The permanent organization of the new Presbyterian church will be effected Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the U. P. church in Chester. The choir of the First Presbyterian church of East Liverpool will be present and furnish the music. Either Rev. N. M. Crowe, of the East End, Rev. Mr. McKee, of Wellsville, will preach the sermon. All persons interested in the movement are requested to be present.

Golden Eagles.

The regular meeting of the Golden Eagles was held last night at their hall. Logan Wells was initiated and several applications were received. The lodge has been very successful in the past few months and has received a large number of new members.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is a business visitor in Wheeling today.

J. D. Allison is seriously ill at his home near Chester with rheumatism.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will give an oyster supper tonight at the parsonage, near Third and Carolina avenue, for the benefit of the church.

E. S. Johnston yesterday sold a lot on Indiana avenue to his brother, W. C. Johnston.

Wilby Govey, near Chester, is still confined to the house on account of serious illness.

G. A. Arner this morning bought a lot between Columbiana and California streets, from E. S. Johnston for $1,000.

A sledload of young people from Chester will attend a dance tonight at Hookstown. They are anticipating an enjoyable evening.

POPULAR INTEREST IN PHYSICAL CULTURE

The growing interest in physical exercise or physical culture, as it is called in polite circles, has led to a demand for physical directors or instructors that cannot be met by the 20 recognized schools in this country devoted exclusively to the training of men and women for the new profession of physical culture directorship.

The demand is so great simply because of the rapidly growing interest in "gym" work. Fully 90,000 men exercise regularly in the 500 gymnasiums of the Y. M. C. A. Nearly 40,000 men and women exercise in 255 German Turner societies, and there are 300 college and "prep" schools all busy developing healthy young men and women.

Harvard university has 2,000 men who work in her gymnasium. The New York Athletic club has 4,000 lockers used by athletes who work in the gymfence, box or swim, or take some kind of athletic exercise regularly.

The various cities of the first class are beginning to add physical culture to the public school courses. Physical culture has so grown in importance and popularity as to amount almost to a craze.

ALL FIXED NOW EXCEPT THE DATE

Lawrence Lutz has returned from Beaver Falls, where he met the manager of Charley Miller, the Pennsylvania lad who has been so anxious to get another go with him. The arrangements were all agreed to with the exception of the date, which is to be decided later. It will be some time in the latter part of this month and before the Nonpareil Athletic club at Beaver Falls. The bout will be for 15 rounds instead of 10, as is usually the case in a contest for a decision.

Lutz can hardly get in the best of condition, as he has scarcely more than a week in which to train. His work for his fight with Harry Lennons left him in fairly good condition, however, and he will not require the usual amount of training. Miller's friends think he is a whole lot better than he was when Lutz won the decision over him and they will probably have some money to back their opinion.

A ROYAL FLUSH

Pittsburg poker players have been interested in a dispute over the makeup of a royal flush. An argument started in a game out Fifth avenue the other night and a good-sized wager was put up on the contention. One man asserted that the royal flush started from the king and ranged downward, being ,therefore, king, queen, jack, ten and nine of a suit. He based this reasoning on the fact that centuries ago, when playing cards came to the front the royal families issued a decree that the ace should not outrank the king, who was the boss of all. The ace, therefore, was only to count from the bottom, or in other words, ace was ever low.

The man who took the other end of the wager insisted that poker was an American game and that custom had made the ace high, as well as low, therefore, a royal flush started with the ace.

The dispute was submitted to a New York paper, which ruled, according to report, that the king was the highest. However, this ruling was challenged and the affair was put before Captain William A. Pierce, of Boston, for final decision.

Captain Pierce rules in favor of the ace first.

OLD BALL PLAYER DEAD

Peter J. Conway, formerly of Pittsburg, And Detroit Has Passed Away.

Peter J. Conway, one of the best-known baseball players of this country, is dead at Chester, Pa., age 35 years. He helped Detroit win the pennant in 1888.

The death of Conway will recall to old patrons of the game the period when the man figured as a member of the Pittsburghs. The local club bough his release from Detroit for a large sum. Conway had displayed wonderful speed when with the Detroits and had ended the season with a long string of victories. To the amazement of the baseball world when Conway reported for duty in Fittsburg in the spring he was unable to get up any speed whatever, but other reasons were intimated. He was given rest by the management, but the member did not improve and the club was compelled to admit that it had been "gold bricked."

Conway might well be called the first genuine gold brick unloaded on the Pittsburg club. Jimmy Donnelly, who was secured in the famous deal with Brodie, was the only "star bunco goods" ever bought by the Pittsburg club.

A GREAT GAME OF BASKET BALL

To Be Played at Alliance Tomorrow Evening By Locals and Mt. Union College.

The first basket ball team of the Y. M. C. A., chaperoned by Physical Director Stephens, will leave tomorrow evening for Alliance, where they will contest with the Mt. Union college team. The locals have practiced hard for the game and are confident of a victory, notwithstanding that the college team is one of the strongest in the state.

The Y. M. C. A. lineup will be as follows: Allison and Bloor, forwards; Rigby and Powell, centers; Chadwick and Watkin, guards.

On the Imperial alleys tonight the four teams of the East Liverpool Bowling league will do battle. These teams have bowled regularly every week for several months and at the present time excitement is at a fever heat.

Each aggregation is confident of victory tonight and Joe Herbert's bunch have been trying to secure bets of enormous proportions on the event. The outcome is being looked forward to with much interest.

A SPEEDY HORSE

Bought Recently By Harrison Rinehart, Has Arrived in the City from Pennsylvania.

Harrison Rinehart is jubilant over the arrival of his fast horse, Joan which he recently purchased at Johnstown, Pa. The animal is a prize and her owner feels justly proud of her. She is a half sister to Dan Patch, and has to her credit a record of 2:14 ¼.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

James J. Corbett has sent $2,500 to Al Smith, New York city, as a forfeit for a match with Jeffries.

Tim Kearns, of Boston, and Art Simms, of Akron, will box six rounds at Milwaukee on January 30.

Tommy Feltz and Kid Goodman, who are old rivals, have been matched again. They are to meet at the Lenox Athletic club, Boston, January 23.

Frank Erne, the ex-lightweight champion, and Matty Matthews have agreed to meet at Pittsburg February 23, and if the pair can agree upon the weight question the match is as good as clinched.

P. J. Donovan, once manager of the Pittsburg base ball team, now leader of the St. Louis club, writes a friend confirming the report that he intends to play base ball again this coming season. He goes with Cleveland.

James Mason learned that Jack Munroe and his manager, Clark Ball, have planned to visit Pittsburg in a few days, and at once wired Munroe an offer to referee the McClelland-Boyle contest in Allegheny next Saturday night.

"Papa," said little Gladys, coming into his study, "there is a poor, hungry looking man at the door, and he wants to see you."

"Tell him to come in, my dear."

A moment later the caller was ushered into the room. He was a lean, cadaverous man, shabbily dressed and had no overcoat. He looked around the richly furnished apartment, then at the pictures on the walls and finally at the occupant of the luxurious easy chair.

At last he spoke.

Why

every man should insure in the New York Life.

Because

the New York life is the only American company issuing Policies that are incontestable and non-forfeitable soon as the first premium is paid and free from all restrictions as to residence, occupation travel, and time, place, or manner of death.

Because

the New York Life is the only large Life Insurance company that makes its annual Report early in January upon the basis of Paid-for business, and publishes a full and complete statement of how and where the Policy-holder's money is invected.

SUNDAY LECTURE

By Rev. Dr. Pratt Will Contain Wholesome And Valuable Advice to Young Men.

"The Size of a Man" is the subject Rev. Dr. Pratt has chosen for his lecture at the opera house next Sunday afternoon, it being the third of the series under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Pratt objects to a man leading a third-rate life. He objects to him seeking five-cent literature, cheap cigars and bad whisky when he wants a little pleasure. He will emphasize these objections in his lecture and try to create an ambition for better things.

These lectures have become immensely popular with the young men and they are well attended. A cordial invitation is extended to all. At this meeting the questions received during the week will be answered by the lecturer.

A Dog Story.

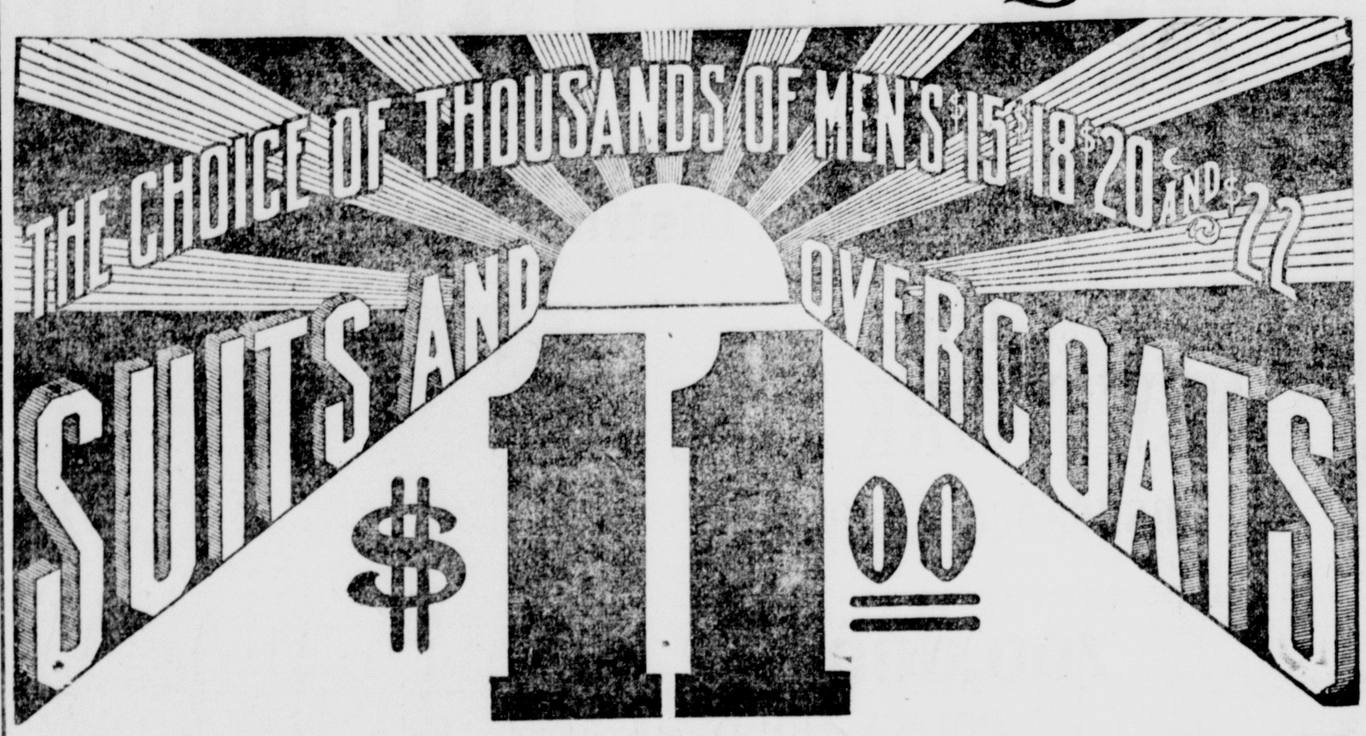

An elderly clergyman living some few miles from a market town and somewhat absentminded withal was in the habit of driving there weekly, where he put up his horse at a particular inn, his dog always in attendance. One day when returning with a friend he was much annoyed to discover that the dog was missing and insisted on driving back to find him. The inn was reached, and there, sure enough, was the dog, and not only the dog, but the parson's horse as well. The hostler had put another horse into the vehicle, but the dog, recognizing the mistake, elected to stay with his animal friend rather than return with his master.—"Letter of a Dog Lover."

and the fact that Mercer usually carried a large sum of money on his person are advanced as the motive for the murder. It will be remembered that about a month ago the clerk of the Langham hotel was handed an order for an envelope that has been deposited in the hotel safe by Mercer. The bearer of the note was an imposter. The clerk, suspecting nothing wrong, handed the bearer an envelope. It proved to be the wrong one, containing instead of the money, nothing but the railroad tickets of the players.

Nothing daunted, the swindlers prepared another note but this time the clerk grew suspicious and refused to hand over the valuable envelope. It was stated at the time that both the letters were clever imitations of Mercer's handwriting. This incident has led his friends to suspect that all three of the letters found among his effects are forgeries and that they were written to divert suspicion.

There are many other incidents of a like nature that cannot be reconciled to the well known traits of the dead man. From the meagre dispatches from San Francisco it is hard to determine just what is in the theory. His friends are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the body, which is accompanied by men who are in a position to know all the details and then the whole sad story can be learned.

A BAD EFFECT UPON THE WARE

Trenton Manufacturers Do Not Like Soft Coal and Find It Expensive.

SCARCE AT ANY PRICE

Many Men Idle And Plants Threatened With Suspension—Governor Wants More Stringent Child Labor Laws The Elite Pottery Is Enlarging.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., January 16.—The deteriorating effect soft coal is having upon the production of pottery in this city is causing the manufacturers no little alarm. The condition has reached such a point that great quantities of ware fail to stand the test and is broken and thrown in the dump heap The firing of the kilns with bituminous coal has been made necessary because of inability to get anthracite.

Most of the potteries have had to practically rebuild their kilns in order to burn soft coal, the staple fuel since the inauguration of the coal strike last May. This coal gives a very uneven heat and at times portions of biscuit kilns are drawn where the ware has not been thoroughly burned.

Trenton's pottery industry is passing through the worst phase of the coal situation and several plants are threatened with a suspension of operations. Orders are taken with no guarantee for delivery and the potteries have decided to enter into no agreements with jobbers until they are assured of a better coal supply The little coal that can be obtained is used sparingly, to get out special orders. Many men are idle and the manufacturers are unable to induce the railroad companies to alleviate the distress. The embargo which the Pennsylvania Railroad company has placed upon eastern shipments of bituminous coal, save only to gas companies, has thrown the potters upon the mercy of the wholesale jobbers who have taken advantage of the order and raised the price to $10 a ton

"Such exorbitant prices," said Charles A. May, president of the Maddock Pottery company, yesterday "make it impossible to produce ware at a profit. We are playing a losing game and I don't propose to accept any more contract orders until the supply of coal becomes more plentiful. We appear to get no satisfaction from the railroad companies, who think we should rest content with a couple of cars a week."

The big plant of Thomas Maddock & Sons has only about 10 cars of coal and the chances for obtaining more are very slim. A similar condition exists at the plants controlled by the Trenton Potteries company. The mammoth wire plant of the John A Roebling Son's Co., employing upwards of 3,000 men, is threatened with a suspension of operations.

Governor Murphy, in his annual message to the legislature, advocates more stringent laws for the prevention of child labor.

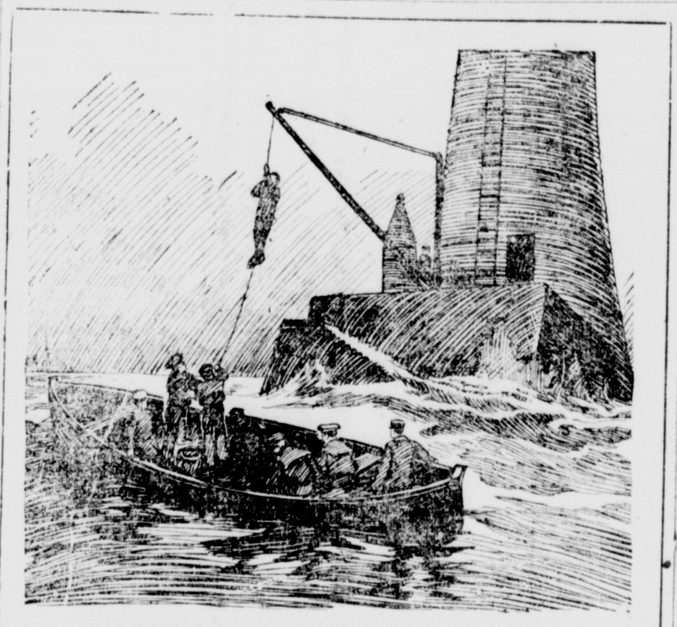

"Children should be protected from the heartlessness of parents," says the governor. "The present legal age for the employment of girls is 14 and of boys 12 years. I recommend that the legal age for the employment of boys be increased to 14. That is young enough, and is the age prescribed by Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and eight other states. Children cannot be expected to go to school after the practical work of life is begun, and their mental, moral and physical welfare demands that the change recommended be made."

In accord with Governor Murphy's recommendation, the New Jersey State Federation of Labor has completed a bill which will be introduced in the legislature at an early date.

Now that the jiggermen and dishmakers are again within the jurisdiction of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, Vice President Hutchins is devoting his attention to organizing a local of general ware pressers. This was one of the original plans of the national executive board, but was retarded by the action of the jiggermen. In point of numbers the general ware pressers should form one of the largest locals in the city.

The jiggermen and dishmakers held their first business meeting since becoming a part of the Brotherhood last Tuesday night and admitted several new members.

In spite of the distressed condition of the coal supply the Elite Pottery company, the youngest pottery in the local field, is still adding to its plant. The shop began operations a few months ago with two kilns. Another was added about two months later and yesterday a contract was awarded for the erection of a fourth.

LIGHTHOUSE LIFE IN THE WINTER TIME.

Life in a lighthouse is not particularly exciting or pleasant in the summer, but in winter the loneliness is rendered even more irksome by fierce storms and bitter cold. There are 1,500 lighthouses and beacons under the control of the United States lighthouse establishment and many of them are in very dangerous places—dangerous alike for the mariner and the keeper of the light. On stormy winter days the only means of communication between boats and lighthouses is a crane such as is shown in the picture above.

Perry S. Arnold Admits That He Placed Chain on Ft. Wayne in Front of the Express.

Alliance, January 16.—Perry S. Arnold, of this city, has made a confession to Pennsylvania railroad detectives that he was the party who placed the chain on the track which was discovered just in time to prevent the wrecking of the Twentieth Century limited one night about a week ago. He was at once bound over to court without bond, and as the crime took place in Mahoning county he was taken to jail at Youngstown. The maximum penalty for this act is imprisonment for 10 years or a fine of $2,500.

After several hours in the sweat box, and the introduction of two witnesses who saw Arnold carrying the chain half an hour before it was discovered, he admitted that he placed the chain on the track, and afterward gave the alarm, for the sole purpose of eliciting sympathy from the railroad company, and thus securing his reinstatement as a fireman on the road, from which position he had recently been discharged for cause.

He claimed he intended to remove the chain and thus secure commendation for saving the train.

Wanted to Gain Favor.

Alliance, O., Jan. 16.—Terrell S. Arnold was arrested yesterday and has confessed that he fastened a heavy chain around a rail on the Fort Wayne railroad track a week ago. His motive, he said, was to "discover" the obstruction in time to prevent a wreck, and thus gain favor with the railroad people and secure his position, that of fireman, from which he was discharged recently

Fell Down Shaft.

Shenandoah, Pa., Jan. 16.—Michael Flaherty, employed as a laborer at Indian Ridge colliery at this place met a shocking death Wednesday night by falling down the shaft, a distance of 310 feet. His body was crushed into an unrecognizable mass. He was 27 years old and unmarried.

Woman Asphyxiated.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Dorothea Phine, aged 80 years, was asphyxiated by illuminating gas in her home in this city yesterday, and her son, William, aged 40 years, was overcome and is in a critical condition in a hospital.

A GRAND DAUGHTER OF GEN. GOMEZ

YOUNG LADY FROM CUBA A VISITOR IN THIS COUNTY.

Orphaned During the War That Gave Her Country Freedom—Member of Junta.

Salem, Jan. 16.—Miss Cuba Arrangurenburbenharodieadtyveiez, a remarkably intelligent and well-bred young Cuban girl, was in Salem for a short time yesterday. The young lady is a grand daughter of General Maximo Gomez, the famous Cuban general whose exploits during the late war between the Cubans and Spaniards brought him into international prominence. Miss Gomez, as her friends call her for short, was accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Charles Bour, nee Miss Jeannette Wolfgang, of Leetonia whose guest she has been for the past two weeks. The two were on their way to Pittsburg to spend several weeks with friends.

Miss Gomez's home is in Havana, Cuba, but she has traveled over the world considerably and spends but little of her time there. She has visited most of the cities of importance in the United States, and spent some time in Mexico, where she was educated and has relatives. She has visited Europe on several occasions. On the whole, she is now pretty thoroughly Americanized, and it is not easy to distinguish her Spanish origin or her foreign nativity.

The prominence of her family in Cuba has tended to place her in public notice also, and she has served as a member of the Cuban commission to the Pan-American exposition, and expects to visit the big St. Louis fair in the same capacity. During the turbulous war times in Cuba, soon after her education had been completed in this country, she was a member of the famous Cuban Junta in New York city. It was while a member of this that she met Mrs Bour, who was interested in a Cuban relief association which gave assistance to the Cubans at that time Her father and mother were killed during the war. Her brothers were members of the patriot army.

Miss Gomez is a good conversationalist, and appears to be well up on the affairs of the Cuban government. She expects to go to Havana soon, and is endeavoring to get Mrs. Bour to make the trip with her.

Rikk Declared Intoxicating.

"Rikk" is declared to be an intoxicating beverage and its sale is prohibited in Allegheny county by the Brookes license law, so declares a jury in criminal court. The decision of the jury is a most important one, in that the defendant in the case was not the only person that has been selling the stuff in the vicinity of Campbell Station. The prosecution was to the directions of the judges of the criminal court.

Big Mines at Bridgeport.

Just as soon as the two big modern tipples can be built and the mines opened, Bridgeport is going to have one of the largest coal plants in this section of the country. The Moore's Run Coal company, capitalized at $100,000, under the laws of West Virginia, is the name of the corporation which will operate the plant.

SWORN ENEMIES MET

Lieutenant Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, Fatally Shoots Editor.

CHALLENGE TO DUEL IGNORED.

Tillman Was Arrested and Is Confined in the County Jail Pending the Outcome of Gonzales' Injuries—Affair Caused Great Excitement.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 16.—In the very shadow of the South Carolina state house Lieutenant Governor James H. Tillman yesterday afternoon shot and probably mortally wounded Narcisso Gener Gonzales, founder and editor of the Columbia State, a newspaper, which since its inception has bitterly opposed the so-called Tillman faction in South Carolina politics. The two men have been sworn enemies for some years, and Tillman's animosity was accentuated by Gonzales' pronounced editorial opposition to him as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor during last fall's primary. In that campaign Gonzales made editorial reference to Tillman as a "liar, scoundrel and debauchee." A challenge to a duel followed, but Gonzales ignored it.

Gonzales Sent Message.

It is rumored that the immediate cause of the attack was a message sent Wednesday by Gonzales to Tillman. Wednesday night, at the Columbia hotel, Lieutenant Governor Tillman said to a group of his friends: "Gonzales has sent we word that when we meet again we shall settle our difficulties with pistols."

Gonzales' friends deny that he sent a message of any character to Tillman. Statements of the eye-witnesses to the tragedy are somewhat conflicting, and it cannot be stated positively whether or not any words passed between the men before the shot was fired.

Condition Critical.

The condition of the wounded man late last night was regarded by the surgeons as very critical. Tillman was arrested and is confined in the county jail, pending the outcome of Gonzales' injuries.

The affair caused great excitement in the city, which is filled with politicians, who are here to participate in the inauguration of the new state government. Lieutenant Governor Tillman's term will expire within a few days. Some expressions of a desire for summary vengeance were heard on the streets after the shooting, but nothing of a serious character occurred.

At 3 a. m. Mr. Gonzales was still resting quietly. His pulse was 114; respiration 30, and temperature 99 4-5.

NATIONAL LIVE STOCK BODY.

President Roosevelt's Suggestion to Settle Range Problem Endorsed by Rising Vote.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—The National Live Stock association, at its annual convention here yesterday, by a rising vote, adopted a resolution endorsing President Roosevelt's suggestion that congress appoint a commission of experts to settle the range problem, which for years has been a bone of contention between cattle men and sheep men

A resolution was adopted favoring an amendment of the interstate commerce law in such a way as to grant to the interstate commerce commission power to adjust freight rates after they have been found to be unequal and unjust and power to put into full force and effect its rulings.

An important resolution adopted asks congress to give the secretary of agriculture power to order the disinfection of imported skins and hides at the different ports of entry, and also to designate the ports at which hides may be brought into the country.

Other resolutions favor a 15-cent duty on pelts, pickled hides and skins, which are dutiable because they are partly manufactured, and endorse the proposed live stock exhibition at the St. Louis world's fair.

Before adjournment for the day was taken a new executive committee was named.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Session Listless and Dealings Small. Time Money Rates Firm—Bonds Dull and Irregular.

New York, Jan. 16.—There was very little character in yesterday's stock market, as is sufficiently indicated by the volume of business, which fell to about the half million share mark. The continued liquidation in Reading created a bad impression upon speculative sentiment, and this impression was not dissipated by the marking up yesterday of Ontario and Western in the anthracite group and the advance in Chesapeake and Ohio and Hocking Valley in the soft coalers.

There was no disquieting element in the money situation unless it might be the indication that the Bank of England is disposed to build up its reserves and maintain the money rate. New York banks continued to gain cash, but the gains from the subtreasury are due to heavy payments on government contracts and for pensions, which are made in bulk in New York, but which are now about completed. Time money rates were reported rather firmer. None of the upword movements were well maintained and the closing was dull and easy at about the low level of the day.

Bonds were dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,435,000.

United States 2s advanced ¼ and the new 4s, coupon, 1 per cent on the last call.

OHIO AGRICULTURALISTS MEET.

Resolutions Protesting Against "Manifest Slight" Adopted.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—The Ohio agricultural convention last night adopted a resolution protesting against "the manifest slight" to the agricultural interests of the country shown by two special bills now pending in congress, one of which appropriates $7,000,000 for a building for the department of justice and the other $1,500,000 for a new home for the department of agriculture. The resolutions further declare:

"That while we do not object to a generous appropriation for the department of justice, we do insist that agriculutre shall be generously endorsed."

Samuel Taylor, of Franklin county, and R. O. Hinsdale, of Medina, were elected members of the state board of agriculture. The board organized by electing Thadeus E. Cromley, of Pickaway county, president, and T. L. Calvert, of Clark, treasurer.

Anthracite Strike Hearing.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Most of the testimony presented to the anthracite coal strike commission yesterday was of a corroborative nature, the Erie company, which has not yet concluded its case, producing numerous witnesses to prove that the miners union is responsible for the alleged restriction of the hard coal production. The Erie company controls the Hillside Coal and Iron company and the Pennsylvania Coal company. During the examination of Edward Button, a foreman employed by the latter company, the fact was adduced that the practice of restricting the number of cars to be loaded daily by one man had been in operation as far back as 1895, long before the United Mine Workers of America entered the anthracite region. The union's responsibility rests with the enforcement of this rule and not with its inception.

Ohio Miners Blame Railroads.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—The Ohio miners in convention blame the coal carrying railroads for the shortage of coal in this state. Miners say they are ready to work at all times, but cannot get the cars for loading, and consequently are compelled to lay off two and three days a week. A resolution, presented by a Corning delegate, in favor of a general Saturday holiday, was tabled on account of the shortage of coal. President Harkins states that the Ohio miners are not ready to take up the question of government ownership of mines, but predicts that this will be a prominent issue in the near future.

Dealer Not Liable for Taxes.

Marietta, O., Jan. 16.—The circuit court yesterday decided that when a liquor dealer in Marietta sold goods to be delivered by express C. O. D. in another county, the dealer was not liable for taxes for sales in such county, as the sale was made in Marietta. The case was a suit by Athens county to collect taxes from a Marietta liquor dealer for goods sent into Athens county.

Invading Standard Oil Field.

Findlay, O., Jan. 16.—The National Refining company, of Cleveland, is laying an eight-mile pipe line from their refinery in this city to the heart of Marion township oil fields which have heretofore been operated by the Standard Oil company. This step of the National people is considered to be the opening gun of war between the two companies.

Killed as He Stepped Into Saloon.

Springfield, O., Jan. 16.—George Farrell, 26 years old, was killed yesterday by William Harris, chef of the Palace hotel, at noon, as he stepped into a saloon in the west end of the city. Harris says that he intended to kill Farrell because of the latter's relations with his wife.

Two Dead, Two Fatally Injured.

Shenandoah, Pa., Jan. 16.—An explosion of gas occurred at Packer No. 2 colliery yesterday, by which two men were instantly killed and two others so badly injured that their lives are despaired of The dead are: Stiney Walakicz and William Koniaki. Both men were married and leave families. There were several other men in the mine at the time of the accident, but they escaped injury.

Tom L Johnson Not a Candidate.

New York, Jan. 16.—Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, who is in this city, last night denied that he is a candidate for governor of Ohio, as reported to have been announced yesterday by Chairman William J Frey, of the Ohio Democratic state committee. Mayor Johnson said: "I am not a candidate for the nomination, and if Mr. Frey has made any such announcement he has done so without my authorization or approval."

Rehearing Granted.

Harrisburg, Jan. 16.—The board of pardons decided to give Mrs. Kate Edwards, of Berks county, under sentence of death for murder, a rehearing. The new board under Governor Pennypacker will next hear the case.

Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period—how to avoid pain and suffering and remove the cause by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To Young Women:—I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—Miss Agnes Miller, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of a woman's health. Anything unusual at that time should have prompt and proper attention. Fifty thousand letters from women prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regulates menstruation and makes those periods painless.

"A friend advised me to try Mrs. Pinkham's medicine. I did so and am now free from all pain during my periods."—Jessie C. Lindbeck, 1201 6th Street, Rockford, Ill.

Julia Marlowe IN "The Cavalier"

ANOTHER dramatized novel, "The Cavalier"—heaven defend us! I have never read the book, but I have seen the play, and with no less a person than Julia Marlowe in the star role. George W. Cable wrote "The Cavalier," and Paul Kester and George Middleton made a play of it. As to the merits of the novel I therefore cannot speak, but the play is interesting even if the gentlemen did borrow from Ouida, Gillette and Harriet Beecher Stowe. "Secret Service," Cigarette and Topsy are all there. There are some bits too manifestly machine made and theatric for a woman of the caliber of Julia Marlowe, and these really cheapen the grade of the play—for instance, the death scene of Captain Jewett. The prayer said by Charlotte Durand (Miss Marlowe) at his side, followed by her singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," was effective, but cheap. Then unseen soldiers joining in near the last and the opening of the scene disclosing the carload of Union prisoners who sang again the loved words to their dying captain—this strongly suggested the old animated song sheet idea. Pretty, but so out of place in a Julia Marlowe production!

FOUR POSES OF JULIA MARLOWE IN STREET ATTIRE.

The play is of the south near the close of the war, and before the curtain falls the struggle is over. It is, by the way, the only war story I have ever seen where the union of loving hearts at the finish does not closer bind north and south. Here the happy couple are both southerners. The northerner who figures in the love interest is Captain Jewett (E. L. Davenport), who, though enamored of Charlotte Durand, never tells her, and he is killed in the third act.

Miss Marlowe Is the Play.

Julia Marlowe as Charlotte Durand is the play. She is married in the first act to Captain Francis Oliver, a Confederate soldier, and immediately after the ceremony discovers that he is a traitor and spy. A fierce struggle first to make him do right before she fully grasps the truth that he is a villain ends in a battle with herself as to her duty, and when she resolves that she cannot deliver her husband of a few moments to drumhead court martial and death she sends him away never to return to her, throws herself into the cause he has dishonored and saves everything, discovers everything, helps everybody. When most at peace with herself, she is shocked by the reappearance of her husband, Captain Oliver (Frank Worthing), who as a wounded prisoner has been exchanged. Now she rightly suspects he is on some new mischief bent and tears the bandage from his arm to prove her worst fears true. The villain is in his old paths, and as she cannot betray him she determines not to let him move without her. Her wifely tears and prayers do not deceive him, and he succeeds in getting away to "guard" the ambulances containing treasure for paying soldiers and other southern expenses. This she knows means betrayal to the north, and she in part fails in her efforts to stop it.

Play Is Interesting.

The play has some interest, some very conventional spots, some brightness and many theatric situations. It is rather draggy at times, and the second act is incontinently long

Julia Marlowe is a great actress in certain roles and as Juliet has no superior. In the lighter parts of Charlotte Durand she was simply a revelation, for she struck that difficult note between repression and overacting. In her scorn she was grand and withering, and her face was a study as she showed her contempt and loathing for her returned husband. In the third act there is a dance given for the Union officers stationed in the Gilmer residence to guard the wounded master of the southern home, and in this Charlotte is compelled as a blind to take part. She is watching for signals from the Louisiana shore and is held as a sort of prisoner until morning in her own home, her blackguard husband being now there in the Federal uniform. He is madly in love with his wife of a few moments, and it is six months since he was sent off. He is jealous of her interest in Lieutenant Ferry and knows that some signal of danger is arranged between them if she cannot get beyond the lines tonight. He watches from a window above unknown to her, and she has, just before the dance began, sent a red rose to Lieutenant Ferry to tell of her detention. Every moment she watches, smiles driven away by dread, followed by weary lines of anxiety, and finally the house is entered, and every man present covered by two to one. Unseen, Oliver advances until Charlotte discovers him and covers Ferry's body with her own, which receives the assassin's ball. Oliver escapes, dies later in a Union hospital, and she recovers to win the love of Ferry.

The work of Miss Marlowe in this dance was a study. Frank Worthing is seen in the best work of his career as Captain Oliver. The women of the cast were very poor and the men only fairly good except those mentioned above, who sustained their roles creditably. I should like to see Julia Marlowe in some stronger role requiring more of her wonderful ability. "Queen Fiametta" may have overtaxed her, but she will never suffer from the strain of "The Cavalier," which, while it is all Charlotte Durand (Miss Marlowe's role), does not unduly call upon her powers.

Alice Nielsen's Latest.

This queer old earth, which for some months has been lying motionless upon its theatrical axis, may again begin to whiz around at the rate of something less than 1,000 miles an hour, for a weighty question, a question the deep consideration of which has threatened to stagnate business everywhere, has at last been settled—Alice Nielsen did not declare that she would never more appear in comic opera. In addition to its effect upon the affairs of nations, think how Melba, Patti, Sembrich, Calve, Albani and the rest of the song birds will receive this announcement! But let them not exhibit too much elation, for Miss Nielsen, while she has said that she did not say that she would never again appear in comic opera, did not say that she had said that she had abandoned grand opera or her designs thereupon. (Puzzle.)

Seriously, when some overzealous friend announced that Miss Nielsen had done with comic opera for good and all her admirers were genuinely grieved, for they felt that she was throwing away a magnificent opportunity to make herself pre-eminent in a commendable and enormously profitable line and at the same time was about to embark in a field in which her work at the best could only be hoped to be commonplace, from the latter day grand opera standpoint.

Miss Nielsen is a chic creature, with a really fine voice for comic opera, but that does not mean that she would shine beside Eames and Melba and Sembrich. That she has determined that comic opera is her forte, if she has so decided, is a good thing alike for her and for the American theater going public.

Wilson is one of the fairest and most popular speed purveyors in the cycle racing arena, and he has been offered a large sum of money to go abroad to ride in Paris, where is manifested a lively interest in affairs of the wheel. CINCINNATI OPERA.

The Mascagni Grand Opera company will appear in the Cincinnati Music hall Jan. 7 and 8, in the evening and a matinee performance on the latter date. The operas to be given are "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Zanetto," double bill, "Iris," Mascagni's masterpiece, Japanese in character, and "Ratcliff," of Scotch delineation, one of Mascagni's best compositions.

Mascagni will conduct all the performances in person. The company will consist of 150 people, seventy of whom are in the orchestra and the remainder in the chorus. The soloists and orchestra will all be from Italy and of Mascagni's selection. The chorus is largely composed of New York music students.

Ice Sports

BY FREDERICK R. TOOMBS.

THE national skating championships will be very interesting this year. They will probably be held at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., about the middle of January, and besides a majority of the contestants of last year there will be on hand a half score of new performers anxious to follow in the skate tracks of the unsurpassed Donoghues, George Phillips, Sam Montgomery and other national champions of years past.

Among the men who are to compete are M. Wood of the Verona (N. J.) Skating club, who last season captured the one and three mile championships from an unusually large and speedy field of Americans and Canadians; R. Sager and W. W. Swan of the New York Athletic club, A. E. Pilkie of Montreal, who finished second in last year's half mile championship; G. Belefeuille of Rat Portage, who finished third in the half mile and one mile events; W. Coldwell of the Montreal A. A. A., Henry Taylor of Buffalo, J. E. Johnson of Newburg, N. Y.; F. J. Robson of the Toronto Y. M. C. A., Z. St. Marc of Montreal, etc.

A prominent absentee from the coming races will be Peter Sinnirud of the Verona (N. J.) Skating club, who won the half, five and ten mile championship races last January at Verona lake, near Montclair, N. J., and finished second in the three mile event. Sinnirud is better known as the "Terrible Swede." He says he has had enough amateur honors and so has decided to enter the races for the professional championships of the United States and Canada, to be held at Montreal Feb. 7.

Sinnirud should have no difficulty in winning a large slice of Canadian prize money. He clearly outclasses any other skater in the amateur ranks in either this country or the Dominion, and while the professional contests are faster than the amateur, the Swede will not find the difference too great for him to overcome.

Samuel Monigomery of the National Skating association, who will manage the coming amateur races, is of the opinion that the number of entries will exceed last year's record.

Ice Yachting.

Is there any man alive who believes he has never been really excited?

Is there any man who has never experienced a genuine thrill?

Is there any man who cannot scare up an appetite?

Is there any man who considers locomotives and automobiles the fastest machines built?

If a person exists to whom the foregoing queries apply, he should immediately take a sail on an ice yacht. Here is a sport as spectacular as the chariot races in the days of ancient Rome, as dangerous as ballooning, as fascinating to its followers as the turn of the roulette wheel to the habitual gambler and as exhilarating as only an active, outdoor winter pastime can be.

Small wonder is it, then, that at the present time we find hundreds of iceboat owners enjoying the rare sport at their command, and the famous speeding stretches in different parts of the country are daily the scenes of races and cruises in which the graceful trirunnered craft skim the glistening surface at a rate of speed that would soon leave in the rear a mile a minute express train.

Wisconsin an Ice Yacht Center.

Although the eastern clubs seem to hold the balance of power in ice yachting affairs, westerners are pushing rapidly to the fore, and the lakes and rivers in the west and middle west afford unsurpassed facilities for the enjoyment of the sport. Wisconsin is one of the leading ice sport states, and on at least three lakes—Peewaukee, Monona and Oconomowoc—there are now in progress officially scheduled races. At Madison regattas are held every Saturday during the frozen season. There are a dozen or more ice yacht clubs in Wisconsin, and their development has brought into considerable prominence the building of the speedy craft. In Milwaukee there are several iceboat designers and contractors who are doing a large business.

In the east the interest centers in New York and New Jersey. Empire State enthusiasts flock to the Hudson river and Orange lake, near Newburg. In Jersey their haven is the shallow Shrewsbury river, where was made the present world's mile record and where Joe Donoghue won some of his most notable skating victories. There is great rivalry between the New York and the Jersey yachtsmen, and every year their best boats are matched for the championship, which is now held by the Gothamites.

The Hockey Season.

Now that the hockey season is down upon us and thousands of strong limbed, ruddy cheeked young athletes are chasing the elusive puck it becomes of interest to consider, even if briefly, the nature of this game transplanted from Canada eight or nine years ago.

Each player in the official game of hockey, as played by the various leagues throughout the United States, is equipped with a stick curved at the end so that about six inches of the implement rests on the ice. Seven men constitute a team, and they are named as follows:

The Goalkeeper.

The goalkeeper defends the goal, which consists of two poles placed upright in the ice about six feet apart and five feet high. This player stands between the posts and, of course, uses every fair effort within his power and stick, hands and body to keep the puck (a small solid rubber disk) from being forced through the goal. Naturally the goalkeeper must be a man of great quickness in the use of eyes, hands and body. Also he must be absolutely fearless, for the puck is sent from every conceivable angle with terrific force, and oftentimes the opposing forwards will combine and endeavor to rush the keeper off his feet. In a case of this kind the best thing for the man on guard to do is to brace himself strongly and meet the attack boldly, for the scrimmage that usually follows makes a football game look like the proverbial three dimes.

The man playing at point may be compared to the fullback on a football team when the latter is on the defensive. He is a secondary defense to the goal. His duty is to secure the puck from opposing forwards and send it back into their own territory. In doing this he tries to lift it high in the air and drive it back over the heads of his opponents. Although the puck lies flat on the ice under ordinary circumstances, it can by a dextrous turn of the wrist be sent flying through the air with great velocity. This maneuver is called "lifting," and every player should be able to accomplish it.

The Cover Point.

As his name suggests, the cover point's work is to cover or protect the point. He must break up formations of opposing forwards whenever possible. By doing this he gives the point an opportunity to wrest the puck from the attackers. The three foregoing positions I have described form the defensive division, and the players involved must never under any circumstances leave the goal unguarded.

The remaining four members of a team make up the offensive division. On them rests the duty of scoring goals, as is the case with the forwards in a basket ball team. To be sure, the forwards endeavor to keep down their opponents' score, but their chief duty is to make points. On their ability in this particular branch of the game rests the success of the team.

When the rink is of regulation size, four men are played on the forward line, but when the playing surface is small one of the quartet is sent back to act in conjunction with both forwards and backs, as the occasions present themselves. He is called a rover.

Duties of the Rover.

The puck is frequently shot behind the goal posts, and then it becomes the duty of the center forward to go after it and drive it to the rover, who has placed himself in front of the goal ready to send the puck between the posts on receiving it. Thus it is evident that the rover must always be ready to back up the whole forward line and take instant advantage of mistakes on either side.

The three forwards work together as much as possible. Combination plays are their forte, and on them rests the responsibility for the development of team work. Their principal aim is to get through the opposing line and shoot goals. Inasmuch as they are on the jump from start to finish, it can readily be realized that their work is of a most trying nature. They must be fast, strong skaters and quick dodgers while carrying the puck.

So far as the rules are concerned, there is one on which all the others may be said to hinge. This is the offside regulation. It provides that every player must be on his side of the puck at all times—that is, he must have the puck between him and the goal he is attacking. The rule also states that each player must be "onside" when the puck is passed to him, as in old time shinney. When a player is offside, he must skate back until he gets back of the puck, or in other words, between the puck and the goal he is defending. He must do this quickly, for his team may be penalized by the referee if he "loafs offside."

Opportunities for fouling are frequent in hockey, and men should try to play a fair, clean game. Roughness should not be tolerated.

CHICAGO YACHT PLANS.

Chicago yachtsmen are preparing to go after two of the most famous trophies—barring the America's cup—on the continent next summer. First and nearest to the hearts of western amateurs comes the Canada's cup. The trial races at Rochester early in the season will, it is announced, be thrown open to outside clubs, and Chicago, which has been intimately associated with the Canada's cup throughout the history of that trophy, is planning to send a yacht to the Rochester contests which will be chosen challenger and race against the defending yacht at Toronto in August. The Seawanhaka cup is the second trophy figured on, and, unless plans go amiss, Chicago yachting experts will have their boats in the trial races at Manchester, Mass.

Fleet Captain G. H. Atkin of the Chicago Yacht club, owner and skipper of the Minota and one of the best known and most enthusiastic amateur sailors in that city, is the leading spirit in the plan to bring the Canada's cup to the United States. Fleet Captain Atkin's yacht did very good work a year ago in the trial races for the selection of a defender for the Canada's cup, and his energy has done much toward putting the Chicago Yacht club into the place it holds today.

Mr. Atkin proposes to form a syndicate which shall build a challenger for the cup. It is believed that no great difficulty will be found in raising funds sufficient for the purpose among the boat owners.

The type of boat which will contest for the Canada's cup will be of the forty foot class under the new restricted rules. This is taken to mean forty feet on the water line and sixty feet more or less over all. This will make the boats approach the size of the Vanenna.

FOR SWIMMERS' CRAMP.

If swimmers could be trained to keep cool under all circumstances, there would be comparatively little drowning among bathers and summer pleasure seekers. Cramp is usually assigned as the cause when some good swimmer drowns. But cramp ought in reality to be nothing serious. Usually it affects only an arm or a leg, or maybe only a hand or foot. Any moderately good swimmer can keep afloat with one arm, or even without the use of that, yet good swimmers are drowning every year as a result of cramp. If such fatalities were analyzed, they would be more properly classed as drownings from fright and loss of nerve. When a swimmer feels a leg or arm begin to cramp, he is frightened in most cases entirely out of his wits. He loses his head, begins to splash and paw and struggle and then goes down. What the swimmer should remember is that he can keep afloat with very little effort if he will turn on his back and keep his chest inflated. It is the simple matter of floating which every swimmer knows and finds very easy. If the swimmer will keep cool and float, the cramping limb will frequently relax after a little, and he will find himself as well as ever.

CHAMPION GEORGE BOTHNER EXECUTING A HAMMER LOCK.

George Bothner, the world's champion lightweight wrestler, is without question the most skillful mat performer in the arena today. Foreign and American experts alike have fallen a prey to his prowess, and fear of him has spread to such an extent that men in his own class refuse to challenge him. Consequently Bothner has been compelled to go outside of the lightweigat division for engagements, meeting prominent heavyweights in handicap matches. In recent contests of this nature he defeated John Piening, the Brooklyn "Butcher Boy," and Tom Jenkins of Cleveland, the heavyweight champion, both having guaranteed to throw the slippery lightweight four times in an hour.

Bothner's specialty is defensive work. He can free himself from almost any kind of a hold, and his "head spins" are worth going miles to see. Bothner's exploits have given him high rank as an instructor, and his classes in the New York gymnasium of the Bothner-Elmer Health Culture school are always well attended.

V.—A Burst of Bloom.

WHEN Spring has painted the land in her tender, verdant colors and hung the trees with a green fringe, our delight in the whole and our growing accustomedness to the young season cause some of us to think less of the wild flowers because we have so many other beautiful things close at hand.

The most lovely of them all is the wild azalea, or false honeysuckle, of the eastern parts of our country, north and south. It is shrubby and from three to six feet in height. Its flower is not unlike that of the hothouse azalea—that is, it does not open widely from the very beginning of the petals, but holds them in a funnel form for some distance before opening wide and flat. Like the dweller in the hothouse, its pistil and its stamen protrude. It seems strange that this should have been called the Whitsunday flower by the early Dutch of New Amsterdam, for it is in bloom shortly after Easter. Moreover, its hue being a rich pink, or at least pink and whitish, it would hardly seem suitable for the whiteness of Whitsunday. There are, too, the flame colored azaleas of the Alleghany mountains. These flowers have only a slight fragrance, but a bunch of them in a wood is a glad sight.

Beauty and fragrance are combined in our familiar arbutus and the May flower of the Puritans. Widely spread as it is through north and south, it would seem to be an easy thing to find its pink faces peering from the matted brown green leaves, but it has been so ruthlessly torn up by those desiring it for sale in the city streets or for personal adornment that unless one is initiated into the secrets of its haunts search for it means a long and often fruitless tramp. It only grows wild, for it will not bear transplanting.

The adder's tongue, or dog tooth violet, may also make legitimate pretensions to beauty with its graceful drooping flower bells and its handsome purple spotted leaves. Whence the name dog tooth is derived, or, worse, that uncalled for misnomer, violet, when it is in form and manner of the lily family, is an enigma.

The Canterbury bell is straight as to stem, hairy and branched. Its rather large flowers massed along the ends are of a beautiful bright light blue tinged with pink, while those at the very top are sometimes entirely of a lavender pink. They are often double, but when single are of an oblong bell shape and belong to the same family as the bluebells. They are, however, three times as tall and much larger and coarser in every way.

Canterbury bells naturally suggest miterwort because of the association of ideas in the first parts of the names and not because of any resemblance in the flowers. The miterwort, or bishop's cap, and its relative, the foam flower, or false miterwort, both bloom in May, and both have racemes—feathery white, tipping stems about a foot high. The bishop's cap has its flowers more scattered along its stem, and the petals are deeply fringed. Its name was given it because its seed case is supposed to resemble the form of a bishop's headgear.

Another relative has bloomed a little earlier—the saxifrage. The name, from the Latin, means, "I break rock." It is always found in rocky woods or pastures, sometimes growing so close against the stones that one would not dream that there could be sustenance there for anything but fungus. Early in the spring a soft ball of gray green appears above the grayish green leaves which lie flat against the ground. The ball moves upward and resolves itself into white flowers, arranged in rather a loose cluster, branching, but rather flat than otherwise, supported on a pale green hairy stem.

Another white flower is the sweet cicely. It loves the deep woods and very shady corners. When we are out seeking for the first hepaticas, the woods are full of its young, fernlike leaves, but they grow to be quite large, though never losing their ferniness until summer. Long stems shoot up above them to the height of two or three feet and bear the most filmy, flat clusters of small flowers. They breathe the very spirit of the rioting young season. What a change to meet them late in August! The leaves have grown coarser and have broken into a dirty brownish green. Those delicate flowers, alas, have turned to stickers, ready to catch our clothing as we pass! The root, however, is fragrant and is said to be edible.

The bellwort, a little over a foot high, has a shiny, slender stem, along which the round bottomed, pointed topped leaves are strung at intervals as if the stem had been thrust through them at some time and some one had put them there, as a child strings its beads. Beside some of them start small branches, ending in drooping, lily-like, straw colored bells of flowers which are sweet scented.

The groundsel resembles the yellow wild aster. It is like a small yellow daisy, and as it is apt to be the only one resembling that form so early in the year it is easy to recognize. Its leaves are lyrate—that is, they look as if they had started out to be leaves near the main stem and had then apologized to the stem and shrunk back. After having done that several times it seems to have remembered that it had meant to be a real leaf and swelled itself out beautifully. It is also known as the seneco—from senex, "old man"—because of the white hairs on its pappus. It takes care of its seeds, as the dandelion does.

Running across the pastures is the five finger, or cinquefoil. On seeing great quantities of it one is apt to mistake it for wild strawberries, for the leaves are much like those of the strawberry vine, and they also spread by runners. The cinquefoil has five leaves and three, four or five fingers. The strawberry has always three leaves, finely toothed. The flowers of the cinquefoil are like diminutive roses and are bright yellow. Cinquefoil is the French for five fingers.

There are two plants which do not seem to have any striking colors about them save the green—the blue cohosh and the meadow rue. The early meadow rue has whitish green flowers sometimes with a hint of cinnamon brown, which seem to be tiny bits or divisions fastened together like the half of a ball. Its great beauty lies in its delicate thin leaves, which are so much like those of the maidenhair fern that one has to look the second time to be sure which it is.

The blue cohosh also is made a little after the same fashion, only you would never think of the maidenhair in connection with it. There is only one leaf on the otherwise naked flower bearing stem, and, as it is much divided and without any common stemlet at the base, it seems like three leaves instead of one. There is another larger leaf or collection of leaflets at the base of this stem. The flowers are small and insignificant. The six sepals are longer than the dull bluish petals within. The plant, though slender and delicate, like the wood anemones, reaches the height of from one to two feet. These all bloom in May.

June brings a new host, but there is one which first looks on the world about the last of May and stays to enjoy June—the blue eyed grass or eyebright. In a meadow or orchard or anywhere among the grass is the eyebright. It is a little paler and stiffer than ordinary grass, and the blades fit into each other in a way grass does not, yet one would hardly suspect it of bearing lily-like flowers. Late in the afternoon in the season of its prime you will see no sign of it until upon close inspection the pale blue buds are perceived. They cannot be seen in the morning, but at high noon, at the warm invitation of the sun, they open wide their bright faces, showing how well they are named, for, small, blue and yellow centered, they seem like fairies' eyes come to make fuller the loveliness of June. The flowers seem to come right out of the ends of the blades on the thinnest little threads of stems. It is really a surprise to meet them, though they are very abundant.

The majority of the flowers which begin to bloom in June last for many weeks through the heart of the summer, for, the weather being more equable, competition is more fierce and the need for a longer life greater.

UNCLE BEN WAS AHEAD

"I was in a small village in the interior of the state," said a Chicago man, "and one night at the postoffice I heard a man making certain historical statements that I knew to be incorrect. I felt it my duty to tell him so, and he resented it, and the crowd was with him. A day or two later I got hold of a history and attempted to show wherein the man was wrong, but the villager I was talking with replied:

"'Yes, history agrees with you, but I can't. I've got to stick by Uncle Ben.'

"'But is Uncle Ben better authority than history?'

"'Well, he killed five rattlesnakes while he was mowing this summer, and I've never heard that history has even killed one.'" M. QUAD.

Queer Effect of Generosity.

Miles M. O'Brien, ex president of the board of education, dropped into the offices of the Guardian Trust company the other day to have a chat with Bird S. Coler.

In the course of the conversation he related one of his experiences while visiting a west side grammar school. He asked a number of questions of the various pupils to test their knowledge of the branches taught. Of one of the small boys in the arithmetic class he asked:

"If your father should give your mother $3 today and $6 tomorrow and $4.50 the next day, what would be the result?"

The boy who was at the bottom of the class replied, "She would have a fit."—New York Times.

A Black Eye.

Provided there is no abrasion or cut of the cuticle, a black eye can be removed in one night by an application of an ointment of black hellebore. Rub some black hellebore powder up with some lard and apply, leaving it on all night. In the morning the discoloration has all gone and the swelling also, only leaving a slight wrinkle, which soon disappears by cold water applications.

Rung Her In.

"And when you marry," she softly said, "I hope you'll remember to invite me to the ceremony."

He looked thoughtful. "It will be awfully crowded no doubt," he said, "but I think I can ring you in somehow."

And a moment or two later she declared the ring was an astonishingly good fit.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FADS AND FASHIONS.

The Craze For Ornamentation—Evening Jewelry.

The craze for ornamentation of every description is getting daily more marked. A fancy for beautiful designs in precious stones is a very praiseworthy one, but if you would be well dressed avoid tawdry rubbish of every description.

Necklaces of jet are a fad with black gowns, and dog collars and pearls are considered very chic.

Solid ropes of pearls twisted together are used as girdles for priceless lace gowns by the favored few who can spend all they desire on dress.

bly smart and very becoming to a fresh young skin, though this fur should never be worn by a pale or fagged out woman.

Many hats still have most of their trimming on the underside of the brim, but milliners promise a complete change and predict the fall of the single drooping feather. In millinery decorations as well as in every other department of dress oddity is the key note.

The illustration shows a fancy effect in squirrel fur. These coats are at present all the rage.

WHAT IS WORN.

All While Not Always Suitable Cheap Millinery.

The prices of good millinery are greatly reduced, and it is just the time to invest in an extra winter hat.

Fur toques are much more elaborate than of yore, the only simple shape being known as the "shah," in ermine, astrakhan, moleskin and mink, with its big brush in black and white. This is not a shape that suits every one.

White still continues to be very popular, but for out of door wear it is very trying, for the sunlight on white cloth is not apt to prove flattering to any but dazzling complexions.

At smart "at homes" and receptions, however, there is nothing so dainty as a white gown, provided it is toned down with mink or sable, and is in keeping with its surroundings. A smart gown recently seen at such a function was composed entirely of cream colored crochet lace over crepe de chine in a deep shade of ivory. The bodice seemed to be an inner blouse of accordion crepe de chine with a loose hanging bolero of the lace ornament with a wide waistband of cream panne. The only color introduced was a large bunch of parma violets.

The picture shows a smart costume which can be made up in any shade of cloth. The hat is especially good and the plaited skirt worthy of notice.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

Mr. Tillman Again Charges Attorney General With Inactivity Against Trusts.

ARMY APPROPRIATIONS PASSED

House Then Began Considering the Department of Commerce Bill—The Cuban Reciprocity Measure Reported With Two Amendments.

Washington, Jan. 16.—In the senate yesterday Senator Tillman continued his arraignment of trusts and monopolies, and again charged the attorney general was responsible primarily for lack of action against trusts.

The statehood bill was under discussion for a short time, Mr. Foraker urging the right of Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico to be admitted into the Union.

Mr. McLaurin (Miss.) called attention to charges that the people of Indianola, Miss., had been guilty of threats and intimidation against the postmaster, and declared them to be untrue, remarking that his object in bringing the matter to the attention of the senate was in order that his denial might go into the Congressional Record as an answer to those who made the charge.

Mr. Fairbanks gave notice that he would call up the immigration bill on Monday.

At 4.50 p. m. the senate went into executive session and soon afterward adjourned until Monday.

In the House.

The house yesterday passed the army appropriation bill and began consideration of the department of commerce bill, under a special rule making it a continuing order until disposed of. The opposition to the measure came entirely from the Democratic side and was based chiefly on the ground that the transfer of the bureau of labor to the new department would subordinate that bureau to a department which would represent capitalistic interests. The friends of the bill denied the assumption that the head of the new department would be hostile to labor. They maintained that the bill would increase the dignity of the bureau of labor by giving the head of the department a seat in the cabinet. Those who participated in the debate were Messrs. Mann (Ill.), Corliss (Mich.), Adamson (Ga.), Scott (Kan.) and Hepburn (Ia.), in favor of the measure, and Messrs. Richardson (Ala.), Haines (Tenn.), Davis (Fla.), Clayton (Ala.), Shackleford (Mo.), Cochran (Mo.) and Wooten (Texas), against it.

At 5:10 p. m. the house adjourned.

Cuban Reciprocity.

The senate committee on foreign relations yesterday agreed to report the Cuban reciprocity treaty to the senate with no amendments. The first of these is the guarantee against a further reduction of the sugar tariff, which was adopted Wednesday, and the other makes a reduction of 40 per cent in the reduction of the duty on American cattle exported to Cuba, instead of 20 per cent, as provided in the treaty as it was originally transmitted to the senate. Senators Bacon and Bailey cast their votes against the resolution for a favorable report, but all the other votes were in the affirmative.

Later in the day, in the executive session of the senate, Senator Cullom reported the treaty as amended by the foreign relations committee, and gave notice that he would call it up Monday next and would endeavor to secure action upon it at the earliest possible day. This notice was in accordance with a general understanding among Republican senators. It is expected that there will be considerable debate on the treaty and that some time will elapse before it can be acted upon.

Anti-Trust Bill.

The following statement was given out by the sub-house judiciary committee, which is charged with the preparation of an anti-trust bill:

"We have had a conference with the attorney general and have been informally considering among other things his suggestions, as well as discussing the general form of the legislation. No definite action has been taken by the sub-committee and we shall not be prepared to report to the full committee before the early part of next week."

The positive statement was made that there has been no hitch to occasion the delay. "It is simply a question now of perfecting the bill," said one member of the sub-committee.

Can't Fill Orders.

New York, Jan. 16.—A coal famine confronts the officials of the Brooklyn navy yard. An inventory taken yesterday disclosed the fact that there is only enough coal on hand to last five days. Contractors it is said, confess their inability to fill orders, notwithstanding that they can be penalized by the government for failure to live up to their contracts.

General Booth at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Jan. 16.—General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, arrived here late yesterday afternoon from St. Louis. He addressed a big meeting at Music hall last night, which was presided over by Lieutenant Governor Harry Gordon. General Booth will leave for Cleveland tonight.

A BREATHING SPELL.

If the consumptive could only keep from getting worse it would be some encouragement.

Scott's Emulsion at least gives tired nature a breathing spell. The nourishment and strength obtained from Scott's Emulsion are a great relief to the exhausted system.

This treatment alone often enables the consumptive to gather force enough to throw off the disease altogether.

Scott's Emulsion brings strength to the lungs and flesh to the body.

Desert Lizards.

There is no place like the desert for lizards. As a man rides through the white sands or over the black malapai mountains in Arizona or southeastern California and sees the flash and scurry of these brilliant and graceful creatures the suggestion of death and solitude is broken, and, beholding so much life, he is brought to wonder if the country is really a desert or only a land to which a man is not adapted, for here are animals which never drink, yet frisk about through thorns and cactus and fatten on the bitter plants. Many a desert prospector had lain down with his burros to die and seen on the rocks about him the black heads of the chuckwalla lizards outlined against the brazen sky. The chuckwallas were happy and corpulent with good eating. It was their country. For thousands of generations their ancestors had never thirsted for water, and plants which the starving burros passed by furnished both food and drink for the scaly natives on the rocks. Next to the slow moving and deadly Gila monster the chuckwalla is the largest lizard of the desert, being from a foot to a foot and a half in length.—Country Life In America.

How Snakes Fascinate.

The cobra of the Cape fascinates birds by coiling itself on a branch, erecting its head and swinging to and fro. Sundowner states that the snake will go on "fascinating" and keeping the bird twittering and unable to leave the tree in which it is "for hours" and that if the bird is driven away it comes back. This may be a "yarn," but from the curious fascination which nonterrifying objects, such as "lark glitters," have for some birds and their apparent inability to resist hovering around the lure the far greater mesmerizing power of the serpent may be conjectured. Movement, more or less regular, is always part of the means of fascination employed by snakes. Their fondness for music of any kind is not extended to the sound of the human voice singing, which snakes clearly do not appreciate at all. They only care for "instrumental music," which includes the concertina, tomtom and Jew's harp. But from experiments made in this country it was evident that they like the bagpipes best.—Spectator.

It Got Tragic, However.

"That report of my death is the most amusing thing on record!" exclaimed Mr. Jinks. "I've just read my own obituary in this newspaper."

"Indeed!" said his wife. "And where does it say you went to?"

And then Mr. Jinks coughed and kicked the cat and told the cook to put some more coal on the fire.—Atlanta Constitution.

SENATOR DOLLIVER ON TRUSTS.

Says Within 20 Years Every Trust Magnate of Today Will be Dead or in Sanitariums.

New York, Jan. 16.—United States Senator J. P. Dolliver, of Iowa, was one of the speakers at a dinner given last night under the auspices of the Nineteenth Assembly District Republican club. Among other guests of the club were General Joseph Wheeler, of Alabama; former Governor Frank S. Black, Congressman James E. Watson, of Indiana; State Senator T. A. Ellsworth, Collector of the Port N. N. Stranahan and Surveyor of the Port J. S. Clarkson.

Senator Dolliver, in a speech which dealt principally with economic conditions in the United States, said there was no need for apprehension for the future or for any distrust of the trusts. The poor, and the children of the poor, he said, have more chance today than ever they had before.

"Within 20 years," he said, "every trust magnate of today will be dead or in a sanitarium for nervous diseases, and the world will be looking out for trained men to do the world's work."

The senator said men should cover their discomforts and annoyances with their patriotism. "In congress," said Mr. Dolliver, "I got to love that old Confederate," referring to General Joseph Wheeler, who sat beside him, "and when he was about to go to Cuba I warned him that he was too old and that he would never return. "'My boy,' he said, 'I have prayed for 10 years for an opportunity to die in the uniform of the United States.'"

That was an example, Senator Dolliver said, of the principle of discarding old feelings of personal bitterness for patriotism.

Commodore Scheder Fires a Shell at La Vigia, Which Explodes Without Damage.

Puerto Cabello, Jan. 16.—The German cruiser Vineta, at sunset Wednesday night, fired a shell at La Vigia, the fort crowning the hills behind this port. The shell, which was fired because men were believed to be in the fort, exploded without causing damage.

The people of Puerto Cabello were at a loss Wednesday night to understand the action of the German cruiser. Early yesterday morning, however, Commodore Scheder sent the following communication to the Venezuelan authorities through William H. Volkmar, acting American consul here:

"Referring to my letter of the 9th instant, I have to inform you that I fired a shell yesterday at Fort La Vigia, because, against my explicit prohibition, the presence has been observed there of unauthorized persons. Judging from reports, those persons were soldiers."

The statement of the German commodore that there were unauthorized persons in the fort is denied by the authorities here.

Her father, Casper Guss, of Tiffin, gets $100 a month during his life and the New York Humane society $50 a month for the care of her pets.

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE.

Question of Reciprocity Was Extensively Handled and Many Recommendations Were Made.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The thirty-third annual convention of the National Board of Trade came to an end yesterday. The question of reciprocity was probably the most important topic considered.

The board adopted resolutions urging legislation on the part of the national congress regarding reciprocal trade relations along the lines laid down by the late President McKinley in his last address at Buffalo, and by President Roosevelt in his recent message to congress, including the reaffirmation of the treaty with France and the other treaties negotiated under the administration of President McKinley, now pending in the senate, and further urges the negotiation of treaties on the same lines with Germany and other countries.

The board urges the immediate reaffirmation of the treaty with Cuba by the senate of the United States.

The Hay-Bond treaty of reciprocity with Newfoundland, the board thinks, would be of large benefit to the business interests of the country as a whole, and urges that the treaty be reaffirmed by the senate of the United States.

The board also petitions the president and the congress of the United States and the American members of the Anglo-American joint high commission to do all that lies in their respective powers to secure a trade treaty between Canada and the United States upon broad business principles of reciprocal concessions, and as a step in this direction favors the measure now before the United States senate authorizing the president to remove the duties upon Canadian coal in return for similar action by the Dominion of Canada with regard to coal from the United States.

A minority report was submitted signed by John Hopwell, Henry W. Peabody and J. T. McHugh.

The report of the committee on immigration laws was adopted. It urged on congress the importance of prompt and favorable action to prohibit undesirable immigration by means of such educational tests as might seem best adapted to that end, and also favored a more stringent naturalization law.

The committee on postal affairs submitted a report urging on congress the prompt adoption of a universal 1-cent domestic letter postage. The report was adopted unanimously.

The convention also adopted a resolution requesting the official southern and western classification committees to provide for and place in use a uniform bill of lading, wherein is clearly stated the rights, duties and liabilities of all parties affected by the shipment.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The president signed the bill suspending the duty on coal yesterday.

The president yesterday nominated Colonel Edward M. Hayes, Thirteenth cavalry, to be brigadier general.

The agricultural appropriation bill has been prepared by the house committee on agriculture. It carries approximately $6,600,000, about $80,000 more than the current appropriation.

The house committee on District of Columbia yesterday authorized a favorable report on the bill authorizing the District of Columbia to borrow $10,000,000 from the United States treasury for a period of 20 years at 2 per cent.

Representative Joy yesterday afternoon introduced a concurring resolution directing the house committee on naval affairs to prepare a bill providing for the construction of 25 additional battleships at a cost not to exceed $5,000,000 each.

Before the senate committee on the District of Columbia President MacFarland, of the board of District commissioners, testified yesterday that on account of the increase in the price of coal the District authorities would be compelled to ask to have the appropriation for fuel for schools doubled. He said that the District was now paying $9 a ton for bituminous coal.

The postoffice department has found it impracticable to forward the Indianola mail to Heathman, instead of to Greenville. The Indianola citizens will therefore have to continue to send to Greenville for their mail. Reiteration of Postmaster General Payne's statement that the office at Indianola would not be reopened until assurances of safety are given was made yesterday.

H. H. Hanna, of Indiana, chairman of the monetary commission, and Postmaster General Payne yesterday conferred with President Roosevelt regarding currency legislation in congress. The Fowler bill, introduced Dec. 17, was talked over. It has the approval of the postmaster general Secretary Shaw and Mr. Hanna. The president expressed himself in favor of legislation along the lines of that measure.

A Trial Bottle Absolutely Free to Every Lady Next Saturday and Monday—Call on Your Druggist for it.

MRS. CHAS. N. WEST, Chicago.

The experience of the women who have used Zoa Phora is no less interesting than remarkable. It tells of pain and suffering from carelessness and neglect, folly and indiscretion. It tells of turning to the one true "woman's friend" when all doctors and all other remedies have utterly failed to even bring relief from pain, much less cure the disease. It is good for the young girl just budding into womanhood. It is a staunch supporter of the woman approaching the frightful hours of labor pain. It never fails to bring relief to weak organs, displaced organs or female troubles of any nature. Suppressed periods, change of life, inflammation or leucorrhea, kidney, liver or bladder troubles, corrects falling or displacements and builds up the system. In the hundreds of cases where it has been used as a last resort, it has never failed and the grateful women rise up from their beds of pain and call it blessed. Here is a letter that will illustrate what a place the remedy has in the hearts of women who know it:

Mrs. Chas. N. West, 19 Abbott Court, Chicago, under date of Feb. 6, 1902, wrote as follows: "For years I suffered from weakness, often accompanied by inflammation. Every month I was obliged to give up my work and go to bed, and my suffering was intensely painful.

"Through kind advice I used Zoa Phora and this month the pain has almost entirely disappeared and I am cured of the weakness. I know this wonderful improvement is wholly the result of taking Zoa Phora. I feel like a woman of 25 years instead of 40. I give my consent to use my testimonial with the greatest pleasure. I think we women should feel deeply grateful to think we can find such sure relief and cure at so small an expense by using Zoa Phora and thus avoiding doctor bills every month, when these ailments come on."

The following named druggists of this city will distribute free trial bottles and a copy of "Dr. Pengelly's Advice to Women" to all who apply on the above days. Unfortunately there are thousands of women who never heard of Zoa Phora. They do not know that this remarkable remedy is a sure cure for the sickness, pain, soreness and trials of womanhood, and to have them know how to obtain a cure and to be certain about this wonderful medicine is the object of this great free distribution.

Do not fail to call on the days and at any of the drug stores mentioned below for a free trial bottle of the remedy that will cure you and make you a happy woman.

In case you live out of the city or for other reasons cannot possibly call, send your name and address to the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., and they will mail you free a trial bottle. Don't neglect this opportunity that may save your life. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.
